Keeps Up Jabbing Goldwater, Nixon

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater in California's Republican presidential primary seems to have pleased at least one Democrat —President Johnson.

The chief executive hasn't reacted directly to Goldwater's narrow win over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. However, a couple of straws in the wind, as it were, seemed to point up the response in the administration camp.

1. Johnson aides, who normally mirror the President's attitudes, declined today to reject suggestions that Goldwater's triumph was pleasing to them. Quite the contrary, they beamed.

2. The President himself took another indirect swipe at Goldwater—something he obviously delights in doing—in a speech Wednesday at New London, Conn. Many observers saw this as further evidence that Johnson would relish an autumn encounter with the Arizona senator.

Recognized by Kennedy

Before he was assassinated, President John F. Kennedy left little doubt that he wanted Goldwater as his 1964 opponent. He obviously felt he could fare best campaigning against someone who could be counted on to offer voters a sharp alternative to Kennedy policies.

Johnson lieutenants, in private conversations, seemed to leave little or no doubt that the new President, too, would delight in campaigning against Goldwater.

And perhaps the most convincing evidence of this can be found in Johnson's own public remarks.

During the past six months, Johnson has said little or nothing that has been critical, even directly, of such potential Republican opponents as Rockefeller, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Henry Cabot Lodge or Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In fact, the President has heaped praise on Lodge, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon.

Hits Nixon, Goldwater

Two Republicans have been placed by Johnson in a somewhat different category. They are Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president, and Goldwater.

In itself, this suggests that Johnson considers Goldwater and Nixon the most promising targets.

In New London Wednesday, Johnson said the United States must have varied strength to meet varied dangers.

Gives His Theory

"The response must suit the threat. Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons, display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race."

Goldwater had recently discussed the possible use of low-yield nuclear weapons to strip the leaves from jungle trees in Viet Nam so Communist guerrillas coild be exposed from the air.

And Johnson's statement was reminiscent of those he has made on half a dozen public occasions when he has jibed at Goldwater's suggestion that the United States should have sent Marines to Cuba when water for the Guantanamo Naval Base was cut off.

Keeps Jabbing

On several occasions, the President has suggested that Goldwater's proposed response to the water cutoff was most unsuitable to the threat. Johnson has said he found it much wiser to send one admiral to shut the water off by cutting the pipeline than to send in Marines to turn the water on.

A month ago, in Knoxville, Tenn., Johnson jabbed Goldwater on a different front. Talking about 1936 opponents of the Social Security program, the President said, "If those men had had their way, the 'or sale' sign would be on TVA this very hour."

Goldwater had once suggested a "for sale" sign for the Tennesssee Valley Authority.

In that same Knoxville

Must Start Sidewalk Job On Delaware Ave. Aug. 1

Residents in the area of the John F. Kennedy School now being built in the Fifth Ward, are concerned with a sidewalk problem, an alderman emphasized at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting, but Mayor John J. Swenk indicated today that it will be solved.

Alderman Anthony J. Alecca (R) Fifth Ward, complained of lack of definite information concerning requested repair of sidewalks along lower Delaware Avenue.

The Board of Public Works voted recently to notify the 100-Acres Corp., of New York, owner of most of the property involved to install sidewalks. The property, it was noted, extends from 280 to 420 Delaware Avenue. The letter of notice was sent in care of Robert E. Fabor & Co., 370 Seventh Avenue, New York. The BPW also voted to notify Knaust Brothers area mushroom producers, owners of several hundred feet, to install sidewalks.

Aug. 1 was fixed as the deadline for installation by property owners, Mayor Schwenk noted, and if no action is taken by that time, the city is empowered to install the sidewalks and assess the property owners.

Alecca said he understood that City Engineer Thomas J. Wickman had received notice concerning the sidewalk problem, but he, Alecca, had not been informed as to its content.

Wickman told a reporter that he had received no written notice, but indirectly the city had been "put on notice" to the effect that the New York corporation was agreeable to having the city install the sidewalks on an assessment basis.

Alderman Alecca, noting that the school was due to open in the fall, said he had tried several times "to get some repair work done on a very dangerous sidewalk on Delaware Avenue from Abruyn Street to Gross Street where children will have

See Power Reshuffle On Coast

Dictates Changes In Both Parties

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A reshuffle in the power structure of California's volatile politics shapes up in the aftermath of Tuesday's primary election.

Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, close as it was, put conservative Republicans in position to complete their takeover of the state GOP.

Faces Challenge

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Democratic elements who backed State Controller Alan Cranston in the U.S. Senate race faced a challenge by the successful forces behind the winner of the Democratic nomination, Pierre Salinger.

The post - election motto in both parties was "united front." Prospects for achieving it, however, were uncertain.

Goldwater upset not only the pollsters but California's middle-of-the road voting pattern in defeating Rockefeller, who styled himself a moderate and the Arizona senator an extremist.

Goldwater won by 59,433 on the basis of unofficial returns from all but two of the 32,861 precincts. He carried only 14 of 58 counties—but nine that went to him were in the big population area of Southern California.

The Associated Press totals: Goldwater 1,091,291; Rockefeller 1,031,858.

Best in Los Angeles

Goldwater made his most effective showing in Los Angeles County, where he outpolled Rockefeller by enough—158,150—to offset the governor's Northern California strength. A margin of nearly 50,000 in Orange County also contributed importantly.

Early moves are expected by Goldwater supporters to solidify what they can cite as an election mandate for the conservative cause.

There's little doubt that the Republican State Central Committee, only major party organization still not controlled by the Goldwater camp, will name a Goldwater backer as state chairman Aug. 1. He is Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of La Jolla, now vice chairman.

In addition, under state law, the 86-member Goldwater deleal Convention will select California's two GOP national committeemen for the next four years. They'll replace Joseph Martin Jr., of San Francisco, who supported Rockefeller, and Patricia Hitt of Orange, who was neutral in the presidential primary.

On the Democratic side, party chiefs acted quickly to mend the fences knocked down in the blistering Senate contest between Salinger and Cranston.

Pledging to support Salinger, Gov. Brown said Wednesday, "We expect to present a united front in November from the top to the bottom of the ticket."

No Action Tonight By Board

Nurse Program Is Discussed, Buses

Approximately 30 persons attended a public meeting Wednesday night at the George Washington School to discuss and hear details of the proposed $7,334,254 Kingston School District (Consolidated) budget for 1964-65.

The proposed budget shows an increase of $540,804 over the 1963-64 budget of $6,793,450.

During the session presided over by Arthur Withall, vice president of the Board of Education and chairman of the finance committee, requests were made for continuance of the practical nurse program — which has been eliminated for at least one year, and a change in transportation policy to provide bus service for pupils residing in the 10th Ward to the J. Watson Bailey School.

Must Wait for Rolls

Although no figures were available as to the amount of increase in the school district tax rate for 1964-65 it was explained by Richard Roth, business manager of the school district, that the tax rate cannot be computed until assessment rolls are received about August 15, and equalization rates are fixed.

The 1963-64 school tax rate in Kingston was $39.45 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. There evidently is no doubt that the rate will be increased because of the $540,804 increase in the proposed budget compared with the budget which the school system will operate on until June 30.

No Budget Action Tonight

The Board of Education will meet in regular session at 8:30 p. m. today at the George Washington School, but final adoption of the 1964-65 budget will not be acted on until a special meeting later this month.

In a statement by the Board of Education published in a budget brochure — which appears for the last time in its present format—the board said:

"In weighing each of the items in the proposed budget, the Board recognized fully its two-fold commitment to insure quality education for our students, and to keep the costs to the taxpayers as low as possible.

Where Most Goes

The Board noted that the $540,804 increase in next year's proposed budget is approximately 7 per cent over the 1963-64 budget. Instructional services, fixed charges and debt service account for 79 per cent of the total budget. Salary adjustments required to maintain the present quality of staff, mandated retirement payments, and increased amortization of bonds plus interest are the factors contributing most heavily to the rise, the Board noted.

It was noted that this is the last year a budget brochure (copies of which are available at the office of Superintendent of Schools W. Wendell Hoover, 67 Wall Street) will appear in its present format. As of July 1, the State Department of Audit and Control will require all public school districts to adopt a double-entry bookkeeping system based on a standard code of accounts.

Listed by Categories

The 1964-65 proposed budget, listing each category and the percentage allotted to each follows:

General control — $128,580 — two per cent; Instructional—$3,884,380—53 per cent; Operation of plant—$493,582—seven per cent; Maintenance of plant—$177,379—two per cent; Auxiliary agencies — $587,970 — eight per cent; Fixed charges — $1,011,011—14 per cent; Debt service—$888,814—12 per cent; Capital outlay—$111,538—1.5 per cent; Contingent fund—$50,000—.5 per cent.

Estimated receipts—Tax levy — $3,679,331 — 50.2 per cent; State aid — $3,332,423 — 45.4 per cent; Tuition—$26,000—.3 per cent; Miscellaneous—$296,500—4.1 per cent.

Capital Outlay Decrease

$660,000 Water Bid Is For Committee Study

Payment of $1,000 to meet "legal obstacles" in acquiring Kingston Point beach land, needed as part of a proposed park development, was approved by the Common Council Tuesday night when the aldermen also noted several requests for improved street lighting, heard of a poison ivy problem, and were asked to consider forming a Kingston City Aldermen Association.

A recently announced request by the water department for approval of $660,000 in bonds for improvement of the city's water system was left with the finance committee. Proposed main-line, and other alterations, would improve water service plus fire protection, in several city areas, and the program would modernize the department's 65-year-old filter plant.

Council Majority Leader John Machione (R) 12th Ward, with the other aldermen, voted for the $1,000 for the proposed federally and state aided Kingston Point project, but questioned the procedure of transferring the money from the engineering to the recreation department, as proposed by Mayor John J. Schwenk in his letter to the aldermen.

To Pay on Beach

Mayor Schwenk asked transfer of the money from the "Personal Service Account of the Engineering Department" to the "Recreation Department Municipal Beach, Other Expenses Account."

The sum, he noted, 'is from the money appropriated for the position of engineering draftsman, and not filled yet."

The $1,000, the mayor wrote, "is requested as a payment under a contract with the Hutton Co., for the use and purchase of the Kingston Point Bathing Beach, which is part of the proposed Kingston Point Park, which the city is in the process of acquiring with the assistance of state and federal funds,"

The mayor noted that "several legal obstacles have prevented the acquisition of the various parcels, and for that reason the sum heretofore is requested at this time."

Machione said he felt that the city engineering department, with its present problems, could use the money, which the mayor requested transferred, and that the money for the proposed Kingston Point Park project

To Survey County for Saving On Health, Welfare Programs

Establishment of a newly-formed Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County was officially announced today by Clifford A. Henze, president. "Because of the exploding growth in our county and the increasing needs of the various agencies serving the county an objective and constructive survey seems needed at this time," Henze said.

As a result of the findings and recommendations useful guidelines for the future development of Ulster County's health, welfare and recreation services can be determined. Most important, says Henze, the total endeavor can demonstrate that citizen participation can work.

List of Members

As a county-wide organization the Survey Committee is composed of the following persons: Clifford A. Henze, Arthur W. Buddenhagen, Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, Mrs. William J. Cranston, Kenneth Davenport, Robert E. Davis, Dr. Herbert Derman, Dr. Theodore S. Drachman, Arthur B. Ewig, Sam D. Greenspan, Everette Hodge, Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb Sr., George V. D. Hutton, Richard M. Kalish, John B. Lebherz, Jay A. LeFevre Jr., Amos R. Newcombe, Donald C. Parker, Mrs. Frank Prior, Charles E. Raible, Alfred D. Ronder, Robert S. Russell, Mayor John J. Schwenk, William R. Stall, Albert Kurdt, George Svirsky, Richard J. Whalen, Walter G. Williams, Elmore C. Yallum.

Officers Elected

At its June 2 meeting, the Nominating Committee proposed a slate of officers. As a result Clifford A. Henze was elected president; Dr. Herbert Derman, vice president; Mrs. William J. Cranston, secretary, and John Lebherz, treasurer. The slate, proposed by the Nominating Committee composed of Alfred D. Ronder, chairman; Richard J. Whalen; and Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., was unanimously elected by the Citizens Committee.

"The Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County," says Henze, "came into being because of the impact of population growth on our health, welfare, and recreation services. Since 1930, county population has gone from 82,000 to an estimated 128,000 persons today. It is estimated that well over 50 separate health, welfare, and recreation agencies exist now to provide services to this growing population."

The services, voluntary or tax supported, may be categorized as child welfare, family, health, institutional, correctional, mental health, rehabilitation, and senior citizen.

To meet these needs it is estimated that voluntary agencies in Ulster County are spending in excess of a half million dollars annually. The budget for the City of Kingston provides for close to $550,000 to provide some of these services. County government is spending annually at least three and a half million dollars to provide these services.

According to Henze, "The fundamental conviction of the Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County is that as citizens working together we can evaluate where we are and where we are going and improve our pattern of services to meet needs effectively and economically."

To accomplish this, a commit-

Demonstrations Continue

Cabinet May Extend Decree to All of Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Students staged antigovernment demonstrations in four Korean provincial cities today and President Chung Hee Park's Cabinet threatened to place the entire country under martial law.

Many Reported Injured

More than 6,000 students overrann police lines in a rock-throwing riot in Kwangju, 150 miles south of Seoul. Police tried to scatter the students with tear gas, but they squatted in front of the provincial government building and shouted for Park's resignation and the lifting of martial law in Seoul.

Many students and policemen were reported injured.

Less violent demonstrations broke out in Inchon, Pusan and Chunchon. More than 2,000 high school and college students were involved.

Heavy troop reinforcements kept Seoul quiet, enforcing martial law proclaimed by Park in the capital after 30,000 students and adults rioted Wednesday. More than 600 police and demonstrators were injured and 91 persons were arrested.

After an emergency Cabinet meeting today, a Cabinet spokesman said martial law would be extended to the rest of the country if the demonstrations continued.

Troops Patrol Streets

Dust-covered trucks moved troops into the capital during the night. Troops with fixed bayonets patrolled major streets.

Gen. Min Ki-shik, chief of staff of South Korea's 600,000-man army, took personal command of the city under the military decree.

The outburst in Seoul Wednesday was by far the most serious challenge to Park's regime.

At first, the students demanded cancellation of talks with Korea's ancient enemy, Japan, aimed at restoring diplomatic and commercial relations. But in the past month the protests have broadened to complaints of police rule, dictatorship, official corruption, inflation and unemployment.

Margin Narrowed To 37 in Kerr, Narel Balloting

Complete unofficial returns in the Democratic contest for State Committeewoman from Ulster County indicates the contest between Committeewoman Harriet Allen Kerr of New Paltz and Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel of West Hurley was won by Mrs. Kerr by only 37 votes.

Unofficial figures give Mrs. Kerr 1511 votes and Mrs. Narel 1474. Mrs. Narel was not available today for comment but it was reported on good authority that the closeness of the vote might mean a recount. Use of the unfamiliar paper ballot in the Ulster County primary was confusing to many voters and there were many void or spoiled ballots throughout the county.

Grateful for Support

In a statement issued today by Mrs. Kerr from her New Paltz residence she expressed her thanks to the enrolled Democrats who worked for her and to

Pravda Hints Thoughts About Split With China

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda indicated today that the Kremlin may be thinking of formally severing ties between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and China.

"The threat of a split is a reality which the world Communist movement must reckon with," said an article in the party newspaper.

"Marxist-Leninists do not want a split, but unity cannot be attained through concessions on matters of principle, nor does it come by itself."

It was one of the strongest Soviet statements yet on the Moscow-Peking feud. But Western diplomats in Moscow do not believe a break in party relations would mean a break in relations between the Soviet and Chinese governments. The diplomats believe the Soviets want to keep some lines of communication open.

The article said a split between the Soviet and Chinese parties would "seriously weaken the struggle of the world Communist movement against imperialism."

The article urged convocation of a world Communist meeting and said the "majority of the Communist parties in all regions of the world is going on record for its early convocation."

Lauds 2 Firemen, Consoles Mother Of Child Victim

Mayor John J. Schwenk sent letters of commendation Wednesday to the two volunteer firemen who rescued a child from a Meadow Street fire May 29, and one of condolence to the child's mother.

Commended were: Donald Matthews, of 102 Abruyn Street, a member of Union Hose Company and John A. Cook, of 200

9 Local School Students Take Science Awards

At the fifth annual science fair sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, children from the Kingston Consolidated School District took nine prizes. The science fair is held annually in the month of May at the State University in New Paltz.

Twenty-one exhibits were entered by children from the Kingston School District. The children represented various schools of the area.

The children were accompanied by Mrs. Betty Travis of Chambers School, Mrs. Barbara Lasher of Hurley and Thomas Guerriero, elementary supervisor. The children and the exhibits boarded a specially chartered bus and traveled to New Paltz. At New Paltz the children had reserved for them in advance special places to show their exhibits. Also on these reserved places was a certificate made out to the child for entering an exhibit.

The judging began at 10 o'clock. Each child was questioned about his specific exhibit. The judges were selected primarily from industry throughout the area. There were judges from Texaco, IBM, DuPont and General Electric. While the children waited to be judged there were excellent shows performed in the school auditorium featuring the U. S. Air Force. The judging was over at about 2 o'clock and starting at 3 o'clock awards were given.

In the fourth grade, Patricia Matthews of Brigham School won an honorable mention with a project called 100 Power Microscope.

A very interesting project called Electroplating, took a first prize for Robert Kirkpatrick of Chambers School.

Kathryn Brutsman of School 7, won a third prize with her Tree of Science.

There were two fifth grade awards — Roxanne Young of Lake Katrine won a second prize with a project called Crystal Growing and Daniel Guzewich of School 7 won an honorable mention with a project called Ice Glazier That Covered New York State.

In the sixth grade, there were three prizes shared by four young people.

From Lake Katrine, Frank Richardson won honorable mention with his Electric Thermopile and Ellen Skatrud and Antoinette Mezzacappa shared an honorable mention with their project, Sound in Music.

In the sixth grade also, Bruce Nussbaum, of School 7, won an honorable mention with a project called Growth of Bacteria.

Can't See Coast Primary Block to Stopping Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders bent on passing the civil rights bill brushed aside today suggestions their chances of cutting off the debate had been hurt by the California primary or a tactical maneuver of Southern opponents.

At the same time Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, removed himself from the ranks of the uncommitted and announced he will vote next Tuesday—the day set for a showdown—to put the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule into effect.

A two-thirds majority will be required, or 67 votes if all 100 senators vote, to halt a Southern filibuster against the bill by clamping a tight limit on further debate, now in its 70th day.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said they have no intention of being deflected from the course set earlier in the week to wind up the debate and pass the bill.

They discounted reports that the refusal of Senate leaders to accept an offer from the Dixie contingent to vote on several amndments this week had hurt their chances of mustering the necessary margin for cloture.

Humphrey and Dirksen also said the victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in California's presidential primary, would have no effect on the drive to limit debate despite Goldwater's stand against invoking cloture.

Referring to Goldwater's defeat of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Humphrey said the vote in California "hurt Rockefeller, not cloture."

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern senators battling the civil rights bill, said he thought Goldwater's victory might cause some senators to change their minds and "vote against gag rule."

The offer of the Southern forces after a caucus two days ago to start voting on amendments marked a switch in strategy in an apparent effort to head off a limitation on debate.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Figures don't lie. But it's how you interpret them that reveals whether you're an optimist, a pessimist, or just cautious. And in an election year the difference becomes sharper.

Three Interpretations

If you're an optimist you can say that from Jan. 1 to May 31 U. S. gold stocks rose by $97 million. If you're a pessimist you can do a little figuring on your fingers and say that means that in May the United States must have lost $35 million in gold, because at the end of April the gold stock had been $132 million ahead.

If you're cautious you can say that it's the long run and not the month to month changes that count. And anyway, even if May was disappointing, any gold gain is a relief after the loss of more than $7 billion on the Gross National Product — the total dollar output of goods and services which charts the course of the nation's economy.

Optimists — and President Johnson is one—say that the gain so far this year foreshadows a steady economic growth through the rest of this year and well into 1965. Pessimists reply that the expansion in the early months of this year was not at as fast a clip as in the final months of 1961.

Seems Sturdy to Cautious

The cautious say that the upturn, now starting its 40th month, seems sturdy so far despite its advanced age as business upswings go, but has yet to reveal just how much steam is still behind it—and especially just how much of an effect the federal income tax cut will have.

And the nation's financial dealings with other lands also are subject to interpretation. The optimists cite the near elimination of the deficit in this nation's balance of payments in the first three months of the year. The pessimist say a slight trend the other way developed in April, with exports 2 per cent below March and imports 1 per cent higher.

The cautious warn that the real test is in the months just ahead. The outflow of dollars normally slows early in the year and picks up later on. This year imports are expected to increase because of the nation's prosperity. Exports may level off because of financial problems in other lands. And just ahead is the large outpouring of dollars by American tourists abroad.

Heart Group Gives Tips for Vacation

This is the season when "vacation" becomes a household word, when dreams and discussions turn into reservations and road maps. The traditional toss-up between mountains and shore went out with the Model T. Modern transportation makes the world your oyster—or are you allergic to shellfish? Still, vacation plans are formed as much by physical considerations as by financial ones.

Certin locations or activities are out if, stay Junior has hay fever, or Judy gets seasick even in the bath tub. Vacation is not time to be sick or to tempt fate.

Check With Physician

Because approximately one out of every five households has a member with some form of cardiovascular ailment — including high blood pressure—the Ulster County Heart Association offers some suggestions to help make vacation time safe and pleasant for all members of the family.

The person with a chronic ailment should visit his physician before a vacation. Tell the doctor about you vacation plans, where you intend to go, how you intend to get there. For example, if you're flying: most commercial airlines have pressurized cabins, and can offer special diets or oxygen if needed, but it's best to make sure in advance.

Climate and altitude are two important factors to keep in mind, the Ulster County Heart Association says. High altitudes, with their oxygen-poor air, can make persons with some heart and respiratory ailments feel miserable. Heat and humidity add to the work of the heart because the cardiovascular system plays an important part in helping to adjust weather extremes.

Rest Prescribed

"If you find yourself at a high altitude or in an excessively hot and humid area, rest a few days in order to give your body a chance to adjust to its surroundings before you start strenuous sports or sightseeing. Eat lightly of nourishing foods. Don't get over-tired. Take short rests. Dress comfortably.

"If you require medication, take enough to see you through the trip. And just in case your pill box goes overboard or gets lost, ask your physician to make out an extra prescription blank to keep in your wallet," the Association reports.

Most people with chronic ailments have learned to live with them and know what they can and cannot do safely. In many ways, they are better off than their apparently healthy kinsman who hasn't had a physical examination in years and has no idea of his physical capacity or limitations. Many of these people, accustomed to soft living during the year, plunge into a frenzied vacation round of over-eating and over-exertion that can lead to trouble. And, after all, vacations are to come back from.

MEDIUM OF EXCHANGE

The International Monetary Conference has once again attacked the problem of trade liquidity between nations. It is under an injunction to do so, for nations are eager to trade. Few activities can "spice up" a lagging economy as exports do.

A healthy commerce in goods is dependent, however, on more than a mere willingness to exchange one another's products. There must be a medium of exchange.

Gold, in the past, has acted almost exclusively as the means for nations to settle trade balances. But economists are perturbed by some recent statistics of trade. In the last decade, imports increased by 87 per cent. Gold reserves, in the same period, grew by less than 12 per cent.

As long as nature will not provide more of the base metal, new trade media must be devised. And there are several methods now in use which do not require final settlement of trade contracts in gold. Certain acceptable currencies are being used, though these are limited by the degree of confidence foreigners have in each others' national specie. "Euro-dollars," or the exchange of bank deposits, seem to be another and possibly more fruitful way to enhance trading.

Some economists are unconcerned about the shortage of exchange media, believing that trade is inevitable and that somehow wily men will find a way to sell their products overseas. Meanwhile, the International Monetary Conference is doing its best to provide liquidity which will be equal to the demands of the 60s.

THE QUINTS ARE 30

It is somewhat discombobulating to be reminded, as news releases have done, that the four survivors of the Dionne quintuplets are now 30 years old. Those of middle age and beyond are inclined to ask, "Was it really that long ago?" Their sense of being ancient is not eased when younger folk ask, "Who are the Dionne quintuplets?"

To anyone who was 10 years old or so on that day when the tidings came from Canada, the question seems incredible. The Dionne quintuplets are—well, the Quints. The news of their birth at Callender, Ont., swept the world (though it got off to a slow start in some quarters when a bored wire service editor tossed the first item into his wastebasket).

And the Quints continued to be news for years, with millions following their progress from infancy to babyhood and childhood in such a glare of limelight as had never before been known. They're still news, for those who remember. So here's a wish for happiness for Marie, Cecile, Annette and Yvonne!

LEARNING WHILE SLEEPING

A chemistry professor—a topnotch one incidentally—has come up with the idea that people should be taught things while they sleep.

There is so much to learn these days, he says, that we can't afford to waste the time we spend sleeping.

He believes it is possible to develop methods of utilizing the subconscious and thus making learning a 24-hour, around-the-clock, never-a-second-wasted project.

Well, this may be fine for the professor. But some of us want to be left alone when we hit the hay and not have the old noggin stuffed with knowledge we don't even know is going into it.

Aside from the old-fashioned belief that a guy deserves a little rest from trying to cope with what confuses him when he's awake, it would be doggoned disconcerting to go to sleep knowing that the privacy of your dream is going to be invaded by some character who probably ought to be asleep himself instead of poking into your subconscious mind.

We don't know whether such carryings-on would be illegal, improper or unnatural. But we do have the distinct feeling they would be unnerving.

Please go away, professor, and let a tired man sleep. If a real beat guy can't relax then, when can he?

NEHRU AND THE END OF IDEOLOGY

The death of Nehru, who was as doctrinaire as they come in his socialism, could be one more indication that the age of ideology is passing.

Nehru did not belong to the tradition of Marx, but he did belong to the socialist tradition of Harold Laski, Sidney Webb and the London School of Economics. He saw the state taking over private industry everywhere by what Sidney Webb called the "inevitability of gradualism." Being a gradualist and a believer in free speech, he didn't push his "Sidney Webbicalism" to the point of no return in India. But socialism was his working direction. The ideology colored his every move.

With Nehru's passing, the names of V. K. Krishna Menon and Lal Bahadur Shastri were quickly mentioned as the "next prime minister of India." Krishna Menon, a virulent Leftist ideologue, would, of course, have been bad news if he had been able to drum up any support. But Shastri is a compromiser, a man who likes to get a working consensus that balances extremes. If he inherits Nehru's position, as seems probable as I write this, India could be off on a progmatic campaign to raise its standard of living by means that are increasingly non-socialist.

The age of ideology, of course, is not dying all at once, for as the influences of Karl Marx on the one hand, and the London School of Economics on the other, wither away in most of the West, they retain their hold in Africa, East Africa, and parts of Latin America. Chile may well be in for a Marxist party takeover in the next election, and Castro still keeps his hold on Cuba even though he can't harvest a good sugar crop. In Southeast Asia a lot of dominoes may fall before Communism is checked. And the graduates of the London School of Economics, Laski-division, may keep their influence in the new African nations.

But even though we may still be in for some big socialist waves, the tide is going out by slow degrees. Brazil has been saved; Venezuela did not succumb during its recent election to Castro's terrorists. In Mexico, the Party of Revolutionary Institutions becomes increasingly bourgeois in its general tone. And the anti-Castroites, by raising the spectre of raids and guerilla infiltration in recent weeks, managed to hurt Castro rather badly by forcing him to deflect his soldiers from harvesting sugar cane to chasing invasion spooks all over the island. Despite buses from Britain, Castro's economy is dying of anemia.

In Europe Marxism could still pack a punch in Italy, or in a France suddenly bereft of de Gaulle. But in England, a Labor Party victory, though it might result in a re-nationalization of the basic steel industry, would not change things greatly. As for Germany, which is the key to the continent, it is firmly committed to a free economy. Willy Brandt's Social Democratic Party, which provides most of the opposition to Dr. Ludwig Erhart's ruling majority, gave up some time ago on its allegiance to the socialist dogma that the state should own the means of production. The Social Democrats talk like American New Dealers, the difference being that they are definitely a minority group in Germany at the moment.

Talking off the cuff with a throng of surrounding friends and admirers at a recent recention held for him at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, Willy Brandt, though he is the embattled Mayor of West Berlin, sounded like any give-and-take Western politician. He thought the Berlin wall might be made more "porous" by small compromises about visas and visiting permits. He listened attentively, and with apparent approval, while a German friend who lives in New York City made a case for America as "classless capitalism." Obviously there was no Marxist fire, and not even much belief in the "inevitability of gradualism," in the Willy Brandt who had come to the U. S. to talk with Lyndon Johnson. As for Lyndon Johnson himself, he wants to be "president of all the people," including the business men whom he is counting upon to keep the nation at work. With both Henry Ford II and Walter Reuther on Lyndon's side ideology is indeed dead.

Even Khrushchev, in his turn to "goulash diplomacy," seems tired at times of Marxism. In this lies our opportunity; by resolute insistence on our own demands, we could do a lot to drive some nails into the coffin of ideology in Eastern Europe. Though Marxism is dying, the atmosphere would be sweeter if we could only help to hurry along the demise.

Medicine Meets Challenge: Transplant of Organs

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many things once deemed impossible have come to pass. One of the most recent is the transplanting of vital organs from one being to another. Admittedly not an operation to be taken lightly, the success of such operations has been increasing since the first kidney transplant about 10 years ago. It is estimated that over 200 transplants of kidneys have been performed, and this appears to be the organ that can be transplanted with the greatest hope of success.

Because such transplants were usually rejected, they were first done only when the donor was an identical twin of the recipient. The tissue incompatibility between two persons, even though closely related, is caused by differences in blood types and tissue chemical patterns that are as distinctive as your personality or your fingerprints.

Any foreign tissue causes the production of antibodies similar to those that help you to ward off infection. If we render the body's immune responses inactive, we can keep a transplant alive but only at the risk of knocking out our resistance to infection.

Medical scientists are finding ways to avoid this dilemma. First let's consider the donor's organ. Once it is removed from the body it will quickly die if it is not nourished. If the donor is a twin, the removed organ should be hooked up to the recipient's circulation in less than an hour if it is to work. If the donor is not a twin, it helps to cool the organ far below normal body temperature without freezing it, and to wash out the donor's blood.

The recipient is prepared two or three weeks in advance, if possible, with large doses of X-rays of his whole body and by being given daily doses of an immune response suppressing agent, azathioprine. The spleen is removed at the time of operation. The thymus, which is also involved in the maintenance of immunity, may also be removed. Finally cortisone or a related drug is given to reduce the resulting inflammatory reaction, and antibiotics may have to be given to prevent infection.

Although a transplanted kidney admittedly does not work as well as one's own normal kidney it can literally snatch a man from the jaws of death from uremia. Some recipients have returned to work and, although they have to take several kinds of drugs and occasional blood transfusions, they otherwise live a fairly normal life.

Lung and liver transplants are being tried experimentally and transplants from higher apes to man have been performed with partial success. The latter procedure may be an answer to the donor problem and, as one wag put it, make monkeys of us yet.

"What a Good---Hmmm---Boy Am I?"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some official analysts here estimate privately that Cuban exile groups have a 50-50 chance to overthrow Castro eventually if they can once establish themselves on the island and are willing to persist through years of guerrilla warfare.

The chances of establishing that crucial beginning foothold: also 50-50.

As of this writing, there are three major groups involved in plans for gradually infiltrating Cuba, each operating separately. The Movement for Revolutionary Recuperation is led by Manuel Artime. The Junta Revolucionaria Cubana is led by Manolo (Manuel) Ray. A coalition of the Alpha 66, the Revolutionary Movement of the People and the Second National Front of Escambray is under the military leadership of Eloy Outierrez Menoyo.

The analyst I talked to agreed on one thing: there can be no quick victory; infiltrating exile groups must be prepared to take as long to win as Castro did.

THIS CONCEPT of infiltrating Cuba slowly with small groups over a period of years as part of a long struggle was the original plan for the operations which eventually became the Bay of Pigs debacle.

Somewhere along the line, the plans were changed. That invasion became a mixture—neither an infiltration nor a well-backed massive landing. Having the weaknesses of both concepts and the strengths of neither, it failed.

So, U. S. strategists studying these new Cuban exile plans like the present approach.

But there are other things that worry them:

One: They're not certain how much active support the infiltrating troops will find on the island.

The analysts estimate 25 per cent of the population is strongly opposed to the regime. But only 5 per cent of the people may be willing to take direct action.

Half of the Cubans are believed lackadaisical; they may grumble but must be considered neutral. An eighth of the people are believed fanatical backers of the regime. Another eighth give it real support because of self-interest.

Two: Cuba's intelligence network has been so strengthened since the Bay of Pigs that Castro men may be able to effectively catch many islander who wish to join up with the infiltrators.

Three: Leaders of the three major exile groups may not have the organizational ability to build a strong underground in Cuba. The exile groups are torn by personal rivalries and personality problems. They can't get together even for infiltration attempts.

There are, however, two bright spots:

The Cuban economic situation continues to worsen.

The split between the Communist and non-Communist backers of Castro has been widened recently by the trial, conviction and execution of Marcos Rodriguez, a Communist who during the Castro revolution betrayed a group of non-Communist revolutionaries to the Batista police, reportedly on orders of the Communist Party.

Unity of Party Is Problem For Republicans to Solve

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Though there were four ways that the Presidential primary election in California could have come out, the overall impact on the campaign strategy of the would-be candidates in the next six weeks before the Republican national convention would hardly have been changed, irrespective of Tuesday's voting in the Golden State.

If Gov. Rockefeller had won, whether by a large or narrow margin, the Goldwater supporters would still have pointed to his lack of delegate strength and would have continued their efforts just the same.

If Sen. Goldwater had won by a large margin, this would by no means have diminished the efforts of the Rockefeller forces, for they realize they have been far behind in delegate strength right along.

Even if it had been known that Sen. Goldwater would win by a narrow margin, the Rockefeller campaign strategy would have been to continue the battle as vigorously as before on the assumption that if the New York Governor himself cannot win the nomination, he might succeed in bringing about a stalemate. This could force the selection of either Vice-President Nixon or Gov. Scranton or Ambassador Lodge, each of whom has a substantial strength inside the Republican party today.

The public opinion polls didn't clarify the problem in advance of the voting. In fact, there are many persons who now are criticizing the pollsters for having predicted that the California primary would result in a substantial victory for Gov. Rockefeller. But while these forecasts were by no means pleasant reading for the Goldwater supporters in recent days, the truth is that, if the polls had forecast a victory by a wide margin for Sen. Goldwater, there might have been a lag inside his own campaign.

The effect, indeed, of the discouraging percentages for Sen. Goldwater noted in the polls may have been the very thing that caused his supporters to intensify their efforts in the last few days and work harder to get out their vote than they otherwise would have done.

If the entire scene is surveyed from the standpoint of its influence on the final selection of a nominee at the convention, it is clear that the California victory gave the Goldwater cause a timely stimulus. For the anti-Goldwater folks were constantly spreading the idea that the Arizona Senator would be all washed up and out of the race if he lost the California primary. There is a depth of feeling between the Goldwater and anti-Goldwater forces which doesn't augur well for the future of the Republican party itself.

There is no doubt about the fact that the Republicans who are behind Sen. Goldwater feel that he is dedicated to the cause of a "conservative liberalism" in America, and that his opponents have been wrongfully trying to picture him as impulsive in foreign policy and ultra-conservative in domestic policy.

The question is whether there is a chance to reconcile the two groups in the party, and whether either former Vice-President Nixon or Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania could do the job of reconciliation in the event Sen. Goldwater doesn't make the grade.

While Sen. Goldwater has an even chance of winning the Republican Presidential nomination, he is still a long way from assuring himself of a majority of the delegates. The latest tabulation by the United Press International shows that he has approximately 433 pledged votes, and he, of course, needs 655. There are small blocs of votes committed to Messrs. Lodge, Nixon, Rockefeller, Scranton and "favorite sons," but there is a large bloc of 238 uncommitted votes.

The maneuvering that has been going on behind the scenes in the Republican party will not be suspended because Sen. Goldwater won in California. Indeed, efforts will be renewed to persuade the delegates who are uncommitted or who favor other candidates not to allow their strength to be thrown to the Arizona Senator. The strategy usually is to bring about at least three ballots at the convention without a majority choice, with the hope that the leading contender will lose votes as some of his delegates drop away and thus cause the rise of another candidate.

A candidate, on the other hand, who has a bloc of 433 votes or thereabouts to start with can do a lot of persuading and win to his side enough of the uncommitted delegates to assure an early nomination. The doubtful delegates usually are quick to climb aboard a "bandwagon."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I have The Argus, published in the Argus Building, Wall Street. This issue is of Wednesday, Feb. 18, 1891. The first item in City Paragraphs is that "the steam yacht C. A. Schultz is running between Rondout and Eddyville. . .Hewett Boice has purchased the stock of stone and business of F. L. Rogers and Co. at Wilbur." I remember, some time ago, the readers showed interest in the Boice bluestone business.

Another item reads: "W. A. Stockie, bridge inspector on the West Shore, was in town last week looking after the company's interests. He says they build steel bridges instead of iron. The bridge over the Wilbur Road now being put up is of steel."

Items on schools seem to interest the readers, in this 1891 Kingston Argus item reads: "Of the 301 schools in the State of New York under the charge of the Regents, 50 schools in the list are arranged in the order of their rank. Kingston Academy stands 17th on this list, the rank of the schools being based upon the number of certificates held by pupils passing the Regents' preliminary examinations, and indicated by the numbers. The number of pupil"s holding these certificates in Kingston Academy was 151 at the time the list was made." The Kingston Academy stood on the Academy Green grounds, of which many colorful pictures and postal cards still exist.

The paper told about a second winter excursion to Washington, D. C. on the West Shore Railroad, set for Tuesday, Feb. 24. The round trip cost $9.85 in 1891.

In 1964 they speak of apathy in elections. Going back to the 1891 Kingston Argus, item reads in part: "The city election does not attract a great deal of interest, although there never has been a period since the city was incorporated (1872) when there was greater need of electing competent and high minded citizens and taxpayers to municipal offices. The indifference of ignorance of the actual state of affairs is apparent among the citizens generally, as shown by the very small registration of voters thus far. This ought not to be the fact; for some day they will awaken to the need of 'reform' in the most emphatic sense of that much abused word."

In the obituary column of Feb. 18, 1891 the following: "The funeral of the late Jansen Hasbrouck took place from the family residence on The Strand, and it was attended by large number of relatives, friends and among whom were prominent people from abroad, also a large number of old business and professional men who knew Mr. Hasbrouck from young boyhood days, came to pay their respects. The services were conducted by the Rev. C. S. Stowitts, pastor of the Wurts Street Presbyterian Church assisted by the Rev. Dr. Van Slyke."

I see one advertisement in this paper, illustrated with a Jewett Range, the firm of J. M. Sweeny and E. M. Townsend, successors to Rommel and Drautz, who sold stoves, ranges and furnaces and were at 32 Union Avenue, opposite Abeel Street in Rondout. They also did plumbing, steam and gas fitting, copper, tin and steel iron work, and had house furnishing goods back in 1891. In those days, the lower part of Broadway was called Union Avenue.

Dismiss Educator, Clamed at Hearing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An instructor who refused to answer questions at a government hearing here last April has been dismissed from teaching in the State University at Buffalo's summer session.

Paul Sporn, 42, an English instructor, said in a statement Wednesday in the Buffalo Courier-Express, that the dismissal "was related to my appearance" before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Sporn was called to testify before the committee but refused to answer questions concerning what he termed his political beliefs. The committee investigated suspected Communist subversion in the area. Dr. Edwin Bailey, assistant director of summer sessions, said the dismissal does not necessarily affect Sporn's status during the regular school year.

The emphasis on domestic armaments is the result of increasing pressure in the world community to withhold arms shipments from South Africa because of its policy of rigid racial segregation.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Ethiopian ambassador to Sweden was shot and seriously wounded today by his Polish chauffeur, the Stockholm Criminal Police reported.

The police said Ambassador Abate Agede was hit by three revolver bullets. The shooting occurred on the embassy grounds.

A police spokesman said the chauffeur, whose name was withheld, had received orders from the ambassador which he refused to obey. During the argument, the Pole suddenly drew his revolver and fired three shots, the spokesman said.

Agede, 41, was stationed at Ethiopia's embassy in Washington and was a member of his country's U.N. delegation before coming to Stockholm in March 1963.

The chauffeur was brought to police headquarters for questioning.

Two police officers were wounded in the attack.

The radio said that the car the group used was quickly found and five persons were arrested.

Mohonk Men Escape Injury in RR Crash

Two Lake Mohonk men escaped serious injury when their car traveling over Springtown Road and a slow moving 2--car freight train on the Wallkill Valley Division of the New York Central Lines collided Tuesday.

State police at Highland reported the two men, Frederick Rex, driver, and his passenger, Craig Sewrey, received lacerations of the face and said they would seek aid from their own physician.

The train was in charge of Engineer Claude Christiana of Hurley. The accident occurred about three miles north of New Paltz.

Barry Could Go To Parley With 650-Vote Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final phase of the race for the Republican presidential nomination gets under way Friday amid indications that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is only a whisker away from a first-ballot victory.

Washington state Republicans open their convention and delegates to the GOP National Convention will be chosen in two Colorado districts Friday.

More Data by Sunday

By Saturday night some 65 delegates will be chosen in Washington, Colorado, Alabama and Hawaii, and political observers will be better able to gauge the impact of Goldwater's victory in Tuesday's California primary.

That victory gave him 86 delegates from the Golden State, boosting his first ballot strength in The Associated Press survey of delegates already chosen to 446. That contrasted with a claim of 454 by Goldwater's headquarters.

A spot check Wednesday of political leaders in most of the 15 states and Puerto Rico, where a total of 258 delegates remain to be chosen, showed Goldwater is expected to win between 140 and 190. And another 25 or so of these unchosen delegates could wind up in the senator's corner before the GOP convention opens July 13 in San Francisco.

If he fulfills these estimates, Goldwater would march into the convention with from 625 to 650 first-ballot votes, just shy of the 655 needed for the nomination.

Look to Big Blocs

Goldwater backers who are predicting a first-ballot nomination are looking closely at the big bloc of nominally uncommitted or favorite-son votes, including 58 in Ohio, 48 in Michigan, 31 in New Jersey and 30 in Wisconsin.

They feel there is Goldwater support in those delegations which can be called on either during or at the end of the first roll call.

The AP survey of 1,050 delegates already chosen shows this first-ballot lineup based on pledges, primary commitments, instructions and stated preference:

Goldwater	446
Nelson A. Rockefeller	117
William W. Scranton	72
Henry Cabot Lodge	44
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	103
Uncommitted	240

'Project 70' Is Voted by Senate In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP)— Project 70 heads for the House and its final legislative hurdle next week with Maurice K. Goddar, state secretary of forests and waters, convinced support is stronger than ever.

The enabling act for the sweeping $70 million "open space" and land acquisition program won approval Wednesday in the Senate with only three dissenting votes.

The opposition came from rural Republicans — Sens. D. Elmer Hawbaker, Franklin; Stanley G. Stroup, Bedford, and John T. Van Sant, Lehigh—who said their constitutents opposed the entire concept of Project 70 in a special referendum last November.

Completing its work for the week, the Senate also set the stage for a final showdown Monday on the administration's giant general appropriations bill, now totaling $1,072 billion, and proposed reforms to the state's land condemnation laws.

The House also returns Monday after a week and a half recess.

Expensive Oversight

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Some 50,000 pieces of city income tax literature were sent back to the printer after a small but potentially costly oversight was noted.

The material contained no identification of the sponsoring organization or the name of an official as required by Ohio law.

The city income tax committee would have been liable to a fine of $300 to $2,000 had the literature been distributed.

The Senate in 1919 debated the Treaty of Versailles for 55 days.

Parked Cars Collide

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—It finally happened — a parked car was struck by a parked car.

Winchester police said the vehicles were in a parking lot when one apparently slipped on ice and rolled into the other auto. Extensive damages were reported.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The neon sign over a downtown building carried this message: "Rental Specialists. We Rent Everything."

On the plate glass window of the vacant office was another sign: "For Rent."

Steps Up Hearings On Challenged Votes

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The Lackawanna County Board of Elections, at the request of County Court Judge T. Linus Hoban, has stepped up its hearings on challenged absentee ballots in the April 28 Democratic primary.

The 377 challenged ballots, along with 561 ballots being challenged in Philadelphia, could play a key role in the outcome of the race for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination between Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, and Justice Michael A. Musmanno, of the state Supreme Court.

Miss Blatt is leading in the race by 640 votes.

The pace in Lackawanna County was stepped up somewhat with 35 challenges handled Wednesday, reducing the number remaining to 169. The daily average previously had been about 25.

Barry Can Count On Two Delegates FromEmpireState

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater can count on national convention support from at least two New York State Republican delegates — a transportation specialist and a bank executive who helped Nelson A. Rockefeller become governor.

Late returns from Tuesday's state primary election showed that Vincent J. Walsh of Garden City had defeated John H. Benoit of Hempstead, a Rockefeller supporter.

Walsh's victory placed him alongside Perry R. Trimmer, 43, a vice president of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York, who appeared for a time to be the only winner among Goldwater - pledged candidates.

Rockefeller backers defeated Goldwater men in 19 of 20 direct contests for presidential delegates. Rockefeller thus was assured of at least 86 of the 92 votes New York will cast at the national GOP convention.

Incomplete returns Tuesday night indicated the entire pro-Rockefeller slate had won.

Trimmer, who says he belives Goldwater is "quite moderate, contrary to what a lot of people think," began his political career six years ago as a GOP committeeman in Snyder, a Buffalo suburb.

He said Wednesday that he voted for Rockefeller in 1958 but sided with David H. Jaquith, the Conservative party candidate in 1962.

"I thought Rockefeller was wrong when he accused (former Gov. W. Averell Harriman) of using his state job as a stepping stone to the White House," Trimmer said, in explaining his change of allegiance.

"By the last election," he added, "it was quite clear that Rockefeller was doing the same thing; not paying attention to state business."

Walsh, a native of Queens, where he lives with his wife, Lou, and daughter, Mary Lou, is president of Eastern Traffic Bureau, Inc., a transportation consulting firm.

Tuesday's primary marked his first active role in politics.

Grads1,000MilesAway Will Hear Ceremony

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Seniors in the Choctawhatchee High School marching band will receive their diplomas almost 1,000 miles away from their graduation exercise — but won't miss a word of the commencement.

The 15 graduating band members are putting in a week-long stay at the Florida Pavilion of the New York World's Fair. They were concerned about missing the commencement Friday night.

A long-distance telephone line in the pavilion easily solved the problem. Band Director James Leonard will hand out the diplomas in New York when Principal H. A. Bruner reads off the pupils' names along with the rest of the class.

Strike Appears Over

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A month - long strike involving more than 9,000 construction workers appeared ended today following settlement of a contract dispute.

The strike halted work on more than $40 million in construction work at 60 area sites.

The agreement, reached Wednesday by negotiators, provides a 65-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over three years. Present wage scales of the strikers were not revealed.

Negotiators said work at the construction sites should resume Monday.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra has a new conductor, noted European musician Laszlo Somogyi.

He guest-conducted the Rochester philharmonic seven times in the past two years.

Shocks Alarm Residents

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — Several seconds on earth shocks sent thousands of alarmed residents fleeing into the streets Wednesday night in two mountain towns southeast of Naples.

Says Pastors Keep Laymen 50 Years Behind the Times

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Krister Stendahl, a professor of biblical studies at Harvard Divinity School, believes the educational task of the Lutheran Church must be taken seriously.

Dr. Stendahl, speaking before the four-day annual New York Synod of the Lutheran Church Wednesday, said pastors keep laymen 50 years behind the times in theological and biblical studies.

He told the 1,000 Lutheran clergymen, lay delegates and visitors assembled for the meeting that "we allow any warm-hearted amateur with little training to fool around with our children, thinking that this kind of teaching will take of itself and impress children who are accustomed to an up-graded public education program..."

The Synod has 219,413 members in 380 congregations.

Dear Abby . . .

Sober Up, Honey!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is a very attractive bachelor living in my apartment building. I am single, too. We have become quite friendly of late, and we have invited each other in for a drink, conversation and television. I drink nothing but ginger ale, but whenever he serves it to me I have had the feeling that it was spiked. When I accused him of this he became very indignant and swore he never did. I've watched him carefully but haven't been able to catch him at it, yet I continue to get that high, exhilarated feeling when we're drinking together. Could it be my imagination?

FEELING HIGH

DEAR FEELING: If he is not spiking your ginger ale, he is even more dangerous because he is intoxicating you with his company. Stay out of his apartment.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I always believed that honesty was the best policy, but it cost me a friend. You see, my best friend bought a dress and asked me what I thought of it. I told her I thought it was too short, too tight, and the color was wrong for her. I told her in a very nice way, but she got mad and now she won't even speak to me. Should I have told her the dress was nice even if it wasn't? Please print this, Abby. I know a lot of people who have the same trouble.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: When a woman asks a friend what she "thinks" of something after she has already bought it, she doesn't want an honest opinion—she wants a compliment. If your best friend quit speaking to you on this account, it couldn't have been much of a friendship.

DEAR ABBY: Our beautiful 23-year-old daughter is engaged to a fine young man whom she has dated all through college. She is our only daughter and we have the means to give her a storybook wedding. The problem: The young man's mother is an invalid and seems to be fading fast. He wants to be married at a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside as her doctors say she cannot leave her bed or stand too much excitement. Do you think this is fair to our daughter? Deep down in her heart I know she must be terribly disappointed, but she loves him so much she readily agreed. I am heartsick, and so is our entire family. Why can't the couple have a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside and then be married again at a beautiful church wedding? Others have been married by a Justice of the Peace and then remarried in a church. If any of your readers have ever faced this problem, I'd appreciate knowing how they handled it.

A MOTHER IN BURLINGAME

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter is showing more good judgment and compassion than you are. Your "storybook" wedding, following a bedside ceremony, would reduce the church ceremony to a performance.

Wanted: Water-Users

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville, where the flooded Ohio River caused heavy damage this spring, is advertising for industries that need lots of water. For industrial use, that is, not floodwater.

In a newspaper advertisement, the city boasted that "not one single Louisville industry closed its doors" despite the third-worst flood in a century. The ad asserted that water pumped from the river can fill the needs of almost any manufacturer.

Aversa was the first county in southern Italy to be possessed by the Normans in the 11th century.

Color for Accent

The girl with the limited clothes budget would be wise to choose her clothes in a basic shade that will give service and use bold, bright colors for accent touches.

Court Rules Divorced Wife Out of Locke's $1.6 Million

Lela Ann Locke, divorced wife of the late Harvey C. Locke who resided at Samsonville, is not entitled to participate in his $1,682,245.03 estate.

The Appellate Division, Supreme Court, by unanimous decision has affirmed the decision of Surrogate Francis X. Tucker who held that the alleged divorced wife of Locke, who resides in Olney, Ill., could not legally file a notice of election to take her intestate share of the estate.

Harvey Carlton Locke died April 1, 1962 at Benedictine Hospital and according to a New York State tax report left a gross estate of over $1,600,000. The report stated that funeral expenses and administration expenses in the sum of $93,226 and debts in the amount of $3,953.23 were filed against the gross estate.

Had Camera Shares

Locke, who had been prominently identified with numerous nudist activities during his lifetime, had made a fortune. Much of his estate was the result of stock ownership in Eastman Kodak.

Lela Ann Locke, from whom Locke was divorced in the state of Florida after a separation agreement had been entered into in May 1953, charged that the divorce which had been begun in January 1953 had been obtained through fraud.

Surrogate Tucker held that there was insufficient proof of fraud and dismissed the claim of Lela Ann Locke that she was entitled to participate in the estate.

Under the separation agreement Lela Ann Locke received $300 a month for 11 years.

Action Voluntary

The decision of the Appellate Division holds that the appellant's appearance in the Florida divorce action was "voluntary" and not induced by fraud, duress or coercion on the part of the testator and that the Florida decree "is entitled to full faith and credit in this state."

The decree dismissing the notice of election filed by Lela Ann Locke as found by Surrogate Tucker is affirmed by the higher court with costs to all parties filing briefs payable from the estate.

Korn Gets 45 Per Cent

Under the will of Locke, which was drawn by Attorney Philip Korn of Kerhonkson and witnessed by Arthur C. Chipp and Stella Pugliese of Kerhonkson and Annamary Grote of Napanoch, after making bequests of certain sports cars and a bequest of $500 to Pauline Gay Douds and $1,000 to the Samsonville Methodist Church, Lock devised the bulk of his estate under the residuary clause as follows: 10 per cent to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shurter, 45 per cent to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, neighbors, and 45 per cent to Attorney Philip Korn, who was appointed executor.

Manuel Dittenheimer with John A. Bonomi of counsel appeared for Lela Ann Locke, respondent-appellant; N. LeVan Haver appeared for Philip Korn, Anna Shurter, Jesse Shurter and Floyd Brown, petitioners-respondents, and Vincent G. Connelly of Connelly and Connelly, appeared as attorneys for intervenor-objector-respondents.

The opinion, which covers seven pages, was written by Justice Herbert D. Hamm and concurred in by all other justices.

Cloud of Hard Feelings Shadows D-Day 20th Date

By RODNEY ANGOVE

PARIS (AP) — Western Allies will celebrate Saturday the 20th anniversary of the most formidable military landing in history —under a little cloud of hard feelings.

The chief of state of the host country, the first to be liberated by the troops who swarmed over the Normandy beaches on D-Day, 1944, will not attend.

Nor will President Charles de Gaulle send his premier, Georges Pompidou, although both plan participation in celebrations of the south coast landings by French troops Aug. 15 and the liberation Aug. 25 of Paris.

Speculation on Attitude

French officials point out that no other heads of state will attend the Normandy observances, but many Frenchmen express belief that De Gaulle should make a more generous effort to express true French gratitude.

Speculation arose that his attitude may be his way of pointing out that neither Britain nor the United States considered him a chief of state until more than a month after the landing.

Nor did they tell him the invasion was imminent until two days before it took place.

It is well-known that his treatment by Sir Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt has stuck in his craw ever since.

In effect, De Gaulle has never attended a D-Day anniversary, although three times he saluted the French Tricolor in ceremonies near the spot where he personally came ashore on D-Day plus eight. Those celebrations were in 1945, 1946 and 1952.

Churchill has not attended a D-Day observance, French officials point out, and the highest ranking American to do the honors was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, while commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Blames Press of Business

Pompidou recently blamed the absence of top French participation on a press of other business, and said it had nothing to do with French solidarity, which "is total in the face of any eventual aggressor."

The French delegation this year will be led by Jean Sainteny, minister of veterans affairs; Raymond Triboulet, minister of cooperation and chairman of the arrangements; and Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of staff of the armed forces.

From the United States will come Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of the American D-Day troops and now President Johnson's representative; Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who parachuted behind the beachhead; and many other general officers and diplomats.

Britain, Canada, Belgium, Holland and Norway also will send delegations of high officers and diplomats. They will begin the ceremonies Friday in the Sword and Juno beachhead areas, moving onto Omaha Beach the next day.

Paul Reynaud, premier in 1940, in a radio interview last week, regretted lack of respect for "our Allies to whom, let's not forget, we owe our liberty."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With outdoor cooking coming increasingly into season, beef rules as a top lure at supermarkets as housewives lay in weekend food supplies.

The red meat continued in plentiful supply across the nation. Prices were attractive in most sections, but were reported higher for rib and loin cuts by up to 3 cents a pound in the Los Angeles area.

Roasts were recommended widely.

As "Dairy Month" observance began, milk and milk products promotions were conspicuous.

Regionally, pink salmon on the West Coast, honeydew melons from Texas in the Southwest and truck garden vegetables in many sections were prime attractions.

Onions, carrots, lettuce, asparagus, green beans, celery, squash, cabbage, celery and radishes were among produce counter favorites.

Fruit offerings were abundant and attractive, led by bananas, strawberries, avocados and lemons — plus cantaloup and watermelons in selected parts of the country.

Eggs were reported plentiful with prices little changed.

In the fish line, halibut, mackerel, lobster, red snapper and scallops were featured, in the East and Southeast especially, while whitefish and perch also were readily available in the Midwest.

As alternatives to beef, some stores were pushing broilerfryers and turkeys, hailed as generally best poultry buys, and lamb and ham items.

The term "book" play is given to any play that is commonly used in books and columns. Those plays really come up and even a player in a game I watched on an airplane would do well to learn them.

North bid his hand with all the delicacy of a sledge hammer, but six spades was certainly a mighty fine contract. It required a combination of three misfortunes for the hand to do down.

South finessed the queen of clubs at trick one. East won the trick and returned the suit. South proceeded to play most carefully from then on, but eventually had to try a finesse for the queen of hearts. He could have finessed either way, but he chose the wrong way and down he went.

What was the third misfortune? South had misplayed the hand. The North-South cards furnish a classic example of a sure fire elimination play. Had South been a student of the game, he would have won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Then he would have drawn trumps, cashed three diamond tricks and led back a club.

He wouldn't care which opponent won the trick. He wouldn't care what suit was led back. A heart lead would eliminate all problems about the queen. A club or diamond lead would allow him to ruff in one hand and discard a heart from the other.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Grapefruit and Lobster: Superb

GRAPEFRUIT and rock lobster tails in grapefruit shells.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a cool, attractive luncheon dish — or hot weather dinner treat — which is refreshing and satisfying. It's grapefruit shells filled with cubes of grapefruit and lobster tails.

Edward Zwaaf, director of New York's Brasserie restaurant in the Seagram building, served it to us the other night. With the first taste, we knew you would want the recipe.

Pink Grapefruit With Lobster Tails Brasserie
(serves 6)

Six frozen South African rock lobster tails, 3 grapefruits.

Place solidly frozen lobster tails into large kettle of salted cold water to cover. Slowly bring to boil. Then simmer for 3 minutes. Drain lobster tails; cut away thin underside membrane with scissors. Remove meat from shells. Cut meat into 1-inch cubes. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Sauce

One quarter of a cup cocktail sauce, 2 cups mayonnaise, dash Tabasco, 2 teaspoons chopped, fresh chervil; 3 tablespoons unsweetened whipped cream.

Combine cocktail sauce with mayonnaise, Tabasco and chervil. Mix lobster pieces with sauce gently and refrigerate until ready to use. Just before serving, remove from refrigerator and add the whipped cream. Carefully add the grapefruit pieces to avoid breakage. Toss gently and pile the mixture into the chilled grapefruit shells. Top each with a liberal sprinkling of chopped chervil. Serve immediately on crushed ice.

Kurdt Points To Publicity in Staging Pageant

Local pageants selecting contestants to compete for the title of Miss New York State here early in July are getting excellent press, radio and television coverage.

In all of the press clipping received at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, headquarters for the Miss New York State Pageant, prominent mention is made of Kingston and the fact that their queen receives an all-expense, five day trip to Kingston to compete in the state finals. The Elmira Sunday Telegram of May 24, carried two full pages of pictures and write-ups about the Miss Chemung County Pageant, sponsored by the Elmira Optimists Club.

In making this announcement today, Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and president of the Miss New York State Pageant for 1964, said that it would be impossible to purchase this publicity, but it is obtained because of the fine work being done by volunteers in staging this major promotional event. He also said that the pageant program makes a major contribution to the economy of the area, not only by bringing hundreds of visitors here for several days during the pageant, but the favorable publicity attracts many more tourists during the year, and concluded by saying, "The beneficial effects more than justify the minimum financial support being asked locally, by means of the sale of patron and admission tickets. If the pageant is adequately supported again this year and all the bills can be paid, we have assurances that Kingston will be awarded the state franchise year after year."

Spokesmen Carry On as Goldwater Goes to Hideaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the winner's circle, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater left the talking to his campaign spokesmen today and slipped out of sight at an undisclosed hideaway.

Jubilant over his victory in Tuesday's California presidential primary, Goldwater's aides talked of a first-ballot victory at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

Goldwater stamped his approval Wednesday on a victory statement prepared by his campaign staff, inviting his beaten rival, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, to help unite the GOP for the November election fight.

"There are still roads to cross but with California's 86 delegates, we have taken a giant step toward winning the presidential nomination," the victory statement declared.

Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager, said it was the final word from the senator for a while.

"He will be out of circulation for several days," Kitchel said.

Kitchel said Goldwater will keep a date to address the commencement of Pennsylvania Military College in Chester next Sunday, and rturn to his Senate desk Monday.

More than 400 pounds of steel nails may be used in the construction of a house.

Chairman Thinks Party May Pick Barry on Second

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller says Sen. Barry Goldwater, winner of the California presidential primary, "could be nominated on the second ballot" at the GOP's national convention.

But he agreed at a news conference Wednesday that many of the Goldwater delegates might not rmain firm if the Arizona senator failed to win nomination by the end of the second ballot.

In that eventuality, he said, a convention deadlock could develop.

Miller also said he did not count out Gov. Rockefeller, who lost to Goldwater in California, as a presidential nominee.

But, he said, delegates from states committed to favorite son candidates on the first ballot, could switch to Goldwater on the second.

He predicted the Republican nomination would go to one of four men—Goldwater, Rockefeller, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

And he said Scranton would be a likely vice presidential candidate if Goldwater were nominated.

Proposes Minimum Milk Price to Avert Wars

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — An executive of Sealtest Foods, a major milk distributer, proposes minimum prices for milk as a safeguard against price wars in the New York metropolitan market.

John R. Edwards, a Sealtest vice president and general manager of the company's metropolitan division, said Wednesday night that such price-fixing authority would help stabilize the milk industry.

Edwards told about 700 dairy farmers that "such a form of control would be sufficient to eliminate price wars and would be relatively simple to police."

He spoke at the final session of the annual two-day conference of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association.

Legislation to authorize the state agriculture commissioner to set minimum retail prices for milk has been approved by the Legislature in past years and vetoed by the governor. Measures to enact such a procedure in the 1964 Legislature died in committee.

Fire Loss Heavy At Paper Plant In Mechanicville

MECHANICVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Damage was expected to total several hundred thousand dollars in a fire that struck a paper plant Wednesday night in this Saratoga County village.

Fire Chief Robert Palmieri said four men were injured slightly while fighting the flames that broke out in a ground-floor baling room of the four-story, brick structure.

Firemen were hampered in their efforts by lack of water. The plant, which produces toweling and sanitary papers, is served by a single fire hydrant and water had to be pumped nearly a mile.

The fire apparently began when a fork-lift truck cut a power cable in the baling room and sparks ignited about 1,500 large rolls of paper, Palmieri said.

He said flames were contained to the ground floor and were brought under control before dawn today. A detachment was kept on duty to douse the smouldering paper.

Palmieri estimated the loss at several hundred thousand dollars.

The plant is owned by the Thomas A. Galante and Sons Paper Co.

A recent Treasury Department request to mint more silver dollars was turn down by Congress because existing mint facilities are hard pressed to meet the demand for smaller coins.

Capitol News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

NO EXIT?: A Republican "space task force" accused the National Aeronautics and Space Administration today of failing to provide rescue means for Gemini spacecraft.

The task force said: "The haphazard planning of the Gemini program and the apparent lack of interest in assuring a reasonable level of safety for our astronauts is highly irresponsible and merits further investigation by Congress."

Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif., task force chairman, noted that Dr. Edward C. Welsh, acting chairman of the National Space Council, has said the United States must be prepared to accept casualties on space flights.

Gubser said this could be accepted only if every possible step has been taken to prevent such tragedies by developing adequate safety gear and space rescue equipment, and by improved manufacturing methods.

There was no immediate comment from the space agency.

ANOTHER LOOK: A second Senate inquiry into the impact on the nation's business of defense spending shifts and cutbacks was announced today by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

He said the Small Business Committee, which he heads, will open hearings June 24, concentrating initially on military relocations in New Jersey. Problems affecting other areas involved in military economies will be aired at hearings later this year, Sparkman said.

AIR CRASH: A tape recording of the last radio transmission from the airliner that crashed near San Francisco May 7, killing all 44 aboard, seems to confirm that a passenger shot the pilot.

"Skipper's shot. We've been shot. Tryin' to help," was the desperate cry on the tape released Wednesday by the Civil Aeronautics Board and the FBI.

The voice was identified as that of copilot Ray E. Andress. A revolver found in the plane wreckage was traced to one of the passengers who had taken out a large amount of flight insurance.

Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, N.J., assisted the CAB in analyzing the blurred conversation, the final communication between the Pacific Air Lines F27 and the Federal Aviation Agency control tower at San Francisco. The plane was approaching the city on a flight from Reno, Nev.

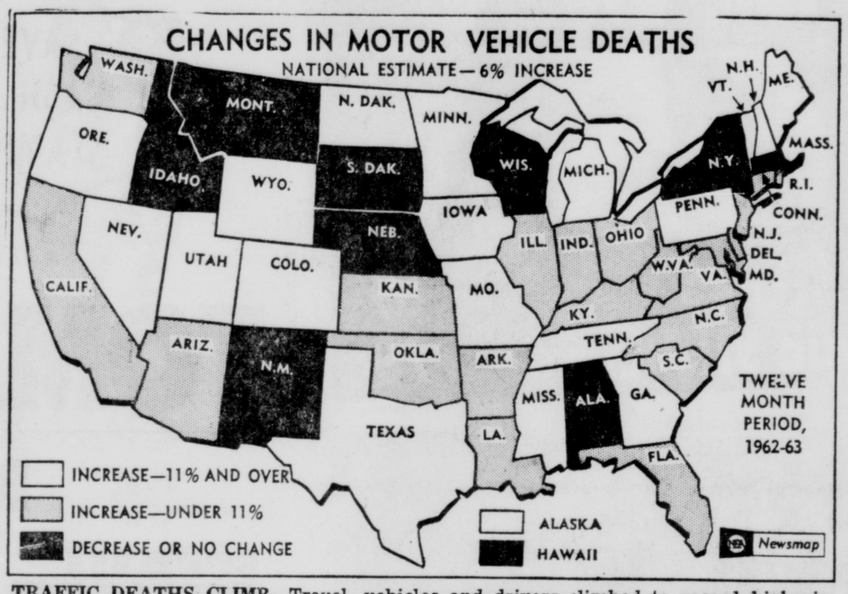
BUBBLE TANK—Shaped in the form of a double bubble for reasons of pressure, this unique new railway tank car can carry 50,000 liquid petroleum (LP) gas. The tank car was built by a Chicago firm to encourage railroads to reduce shipping rates by the economy of handling fewer cars for shipments.

WEARY PILGRIM—A Druse elder in Tiberias, Israel, found the soft carpets and pillows in the Tomb of Jethro too pleasant to ignore, so he stretched out for a nap. To 250,000 Druse scattered throughout Syria, Lebanon and Israel, the Tomb of Jethro, the Biblical father-in-law of Moses, is the holiest shrine.



TRAFFIC DEATHS CLIMB—Travel, vehicles and drivers climbed to record highs in 1963 and so did traffic deaths. Traffic accidents took an all-time toll of 43,400 lives last year. This was a 6 per cent increase over 1962's 40,804 lives. For December alone, in 1963, deaths totalled 4,110, an increase of 9 per cent over the 1962 figure for the month. Newsmap above shows percentage of increase or decrease per individual state for entire year of 1963. Data: Traffic Safety Magazine.

Local Firemen Report Progress On Centennial

NEW PALTZ—Centennial celebration committees reported progress to general co-chairmen George Ackert and William Weston who are directing the New Paltz Fire Department's gala celebration scheduled for July 6 through July 11.

Bruce Ashton, Len Coy and Weston of the parade float committee named additional participating units. Local chapters of the Fleet Cadets, the Lions Club, along with the Jaycees and Jayncees, have indicated their intention to enter appropriate floats commemorating the occasion.

Ray Morris and George Ackert of the fire unit parade committee had no additional entries from neighboring communities. John Weaver, John Taylor and Augie Martin, members of the parade participant refreshment committee, reported plans which promise a reward for those who make the trip with the parade.

The carnival committee, under the chairmanship of Chief Peter Savago and assisted by Smitty Rugar and Warren Belmore Sr., reported everything ready to go. Rides and amusements will be provided by the famous Reithoffer Shows. The local fire department will also provide several fine awards to be given at the conclusion of Carnival Week.

The general committee made special note that the New Paltz Fire Department is not sponsoring any commercial decorating organization which might canvass for business in the area. Any use of the department's name in the promotion of store front decorating sales campaigns is entirely without the knowledge or consent of the department. Such use of the department's name should be promptly referred to Chief Savago.

Would Delay Strike 2 Weeks

Wagner Wins Partial Agreement for Actors

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's musicals and plays were under an actors' strike threat today, but Mayor Robert F. Wagner won a partial agreement to submit the contract dispute to fact-finders.

Four years ago, when the current contract was negotiated, Broadway was blacked out for two weeks before a settlement was reached.

Talk Through Night

Representatives of the League of New York Theaters and the AFL-CIO Actors Equity Association met with Wagner and in separate caucuses from midnight to 5 a.m. today.

The league accepted his fact-finding proposal, which would put off today's 5 p.m. strike deadline for two weeks. But the union representatives said they wanted to consult with their governing body before making a decision.

An actors' strike would close 23 Broadway shows, including "Funny Girl," with Barbra Streisand, "Hello, Dolly" with Carol Channing, "Oliver!" and other hits, plus the Lincoln Center repertory theater and the New York State Theater, where Britain's royal Shakespeare company is appearing.

It would not affect the city center's revival of "My Fair Lady," the "Folies Bergere" on Broadway, or any off Broadway productions.

The union seeks a wage increase of $15 spread over a four-year agreement. Present weekly minimums are $117.50. The producers' offer was reported to be a $5 increase over the four years.

Seek 6-Day Week

The four-year contract expired last Sunday midnight, but Wagner won an extension to 5 p.m. today. Negotiations began April 23 and broke off at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Wagner then called the early morning meeting.

A union spokesman said another issue to be settled is Equity's demand for a "national six-day work week." He said that in many cities, such as Detroit and Chicago, road shows work seven days a week.

An actors' strike would idle 764 performers and would affect 4,000 others in related fields.

In 1960, 22 Broadway theaters were closed in a contract dispute. Equity forced cancellation of one show by calling a union meeting that lasted past curtain time. The producers responded by closing the other shows.

Talks May Bring About Study of Border Troubles

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Private talks between the Soviet Union and Morocco today may produce a unanimous Security Council decision for an on-the-spot U.N. study of border troubles between Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

Ambassadors Nikolai T. Fedorenko of the Soviet Union and Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco began discussions Wednesday night on the study proposed by Morocco and the Ivory Coast.

Diplomatic sources said they were hopeful that the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia could be persuaded to join the other nine council members in voting for the resolution.

The discussions were understood to concern suggestions the two Communist council members made Wednesday for changes in the resolution.

28 Are Treated After Subway Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Fire broke out in a subway station during the commuter rush period this morning and police said 28 persons needed medical treatment, mostly for smoke inhalation.

The blaze in the Washington Avenue station of the Independent Line at Fulton Street in Brooklyn quickly was brought under control. Police said it apparently started from an electrical short circuit in a train.

There was no apparent serious injury, police said, and fire damage was light.

Gave Drugs to Sons

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A father was arrested Wednesday night and accused of addicting his two teen-age sons to an opium compound he extracted from a drug purchased at drug stores.

James B. Yeargin was charged with manufacturing narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of his sons age 14 and 15.

Yeargin was held in lieu of $2,500 bond. The boys were detained at Juvenile Court.

Occupants Unhurt

Occupants of two motor vehicles escaped injury this morning when they collided on Route 28 near the Skytop Motel. One of the vehicles overturned. Edward Dmytry, 38, of Forrest Road, Wallkill, was traveling west on Route 28 in his panel truck. A car operated by Lana Luedtke, 60, of Boiceville, going east on Route 28 attempted to make a left turn, troopers reported. The right front of the Luedtke car struck the left of the truck causing the truck to roll over. Both vehicles were damaged. Trooper Searle of the Lake Katrine sub-station investigated.

Violence Flares Anew in Subway, Negro Stabs Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Violence struck in the New York subways again early today.

Ismael Valez, 42, was stabbed in the chest by an unidentified Negro on an IRT station at 72nd St. and Broadway, police reported. The assailant fled.

Valez was admitted to a hospital, which reported he was in satisfactory condition.

He told police he had just gotten off a train when the man plunged a knife into him without saying a word.

Drivers Fined Today In Kingston Court

Theodore J. Humphrey, 22, of 9 East Pierpont Street, booked on two charges after a two-car mishap April 15 at Spring and Hone Streets, pleaded guilty to one today in city court and was fined $10.

Police listed Humphrey as a driver for the Economy Cab Co., 12 Wilbur Avenue. He was charged with a stop-sign violation and with driving a vehicle with an unsafe tire. The latter was dismissed, and he paid the fine on the other.

Attorney Matthew A. Weishaupt appeared with Humphrey.

Two drivers, charged with speeding, Burtt Bliss, 42, of RD 5, Box 4, Kingston, and Fern Noll, 45, of RD 5, Box 332, Kingston, were fined $10 each.

List Dwindles To 15 Students In Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen contestants—eight boys and seven girls—remained in contention today in the 37th national Spelling Bee after 13 rounds of competition.

It was the first time in the contest that the boys outnumbered the girls. Competition began Wednesday with 44 girls and 26 boys.

Forty - three youngsters were eliminated when they misspelled words during the first nine rounds. Twelve others faltered during the first four rounds today as the words got tougher.

Ear for Sound

The boys and girls are competing for the $5,700 in prizes including a first prize of $1,000, and weekend trip to the New York World's Fair and a nationwide television appearance.

The 70 who started were sponsored by Scripps-Howard papers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers.

One official at the bee said in spelling, as in music, many youngsters have an ear for sound.

That's the opinion of Dr. Richard R. Baker, professor of philosophy at the University of Dayton, Ohio, who as pronouncer for the 37th national Spelling Bee is the sound for the boys and girls who must spell the tonguetwisters he tosses at them.

At day's end Wednesday, Baker had pronounced, definied and frequently used in sentences, 494 words.

Of the 70 youngsters from 33 states and the District of Columbia who started the competition only 27 remained for today's final rounds. The 27 survivors were 17 girls and 10 boys.

This is the fourth time Baker has acted as pronouncer for the bee which this year is sponsored by Scripps-Howard papers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers.

Many of the youngsters guessed at some of the words and heaved a sigh of relief after finding out their guess was correct. A misspelled word meant the sounding of a small bell by three judges and elimination of the contestant.

New Paltz Assault Trial Tonight in Town Hall at 8

Scheduled for trial at 8 o'clock tonight in the town hall before Justice of the Peace S. Parks Glenn of New Paltz is the third degree assault charges against 25-year-old James Conrad Warner who on April 7 allegedly struck a New Paltz State College professor with a baseball.

Originally Warner was charged with second degree assault and the matter referred to the grand jury. After interviewing numerous witnesses in the case, the grand jury sent the case back to the justice's court recommending that Warner be charged by information with third degree assault. Dr. Gerson Robinson, 55, professor of mathematics at the college, stands charged with disorderly conduct.

The charges arose out of the alleged tearing down of what had been referred to as anti-Semetic literature from The Place bookstore window by the professor. Warner is alleged to have replaced material and told the professor that if he removed that he would hit him. He allegedly did strike Prof. Robinson over the head with a bat. The assault charge followed.

The matter has been adjourned several times. Assistant District Attorney Albert I. Lonstein will represent the prosecution.

Word Picture of Setting For Republican Convention

EDITOR'S NOTE—Next month the Republican party will decide on "The man who—" will carry its banner in the November presidential election. The choice will be made at the national convention in San Francisco. The following, first of two articles dealing with the Republican and Democratic convention sites, pictures the surroundings in which the Republican candidate will be selected.

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party, eager to take charge of the nation's future, shapes up its destiny soon in San Francisco, a city that is a proud prisoner of its past.

This seaport city, which a gold rush spawned and an earthquake couldn't kill, will be the mid-July mecca of 30,000 for the Republican National Convention—delegates, alternates, candidates, boosters, and newscamera, radio and television media.

The question whether the choice is to be Rockefeller or Goldwater or Nixon or Lodge or Scranton or someone else gets answered July 13-16 at the Cow Palace. The site for settling that 1964 issue is on the city's southeast side, seven miles across town from the waterfront, where $2 million is being spent to restore the gas-light, sailing ship era of the 1870s, '80s and '90s at Aquatic Park.

The cavernous 16,000-seat Cow Palace, built in the depression years under the impetus of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and named by a critic of the New Deal, is the last place the Republicans picked a winner—Eisenhower for his second term in 1956.

Has Varied Program

Finally opened in 1941 as a livestock pavilion, the $11-million, 315,200-square-foot, cream-colored structure since has crammed in crowds at the rate of more than 1¾ million a year for:

The swelling hymns of a Billy Graham crusade; the thud of boxing gloves; the groan of wrestlers; the swish of ice hockey skates; and the appearance of the late John F. Kennedy.

Its name dates from the depression years. Families were being evicted from homes, and a critic scoffed that was no time to be building "a palace for cows." The name stuck, was formally adopted.

In July, the Cow Palace becomes a window for the world. On a desk in the fifth floor Suite K at the St. Francis Hotel, offices of the GOP arrangements committee, is a bulging stack of white cards listing who is coming, to view and to report.

Moscow Writers Coming

The Soviet Union is sending writers for Pravda, Izvestia and Tass. Moscow radio will be represented. Also Poland's news agency, and Hungary's radio and television. Most of London's newspapers. Likewise Tokyo's. Writers from India, Australia, Spain, Sweden, West Germany—to name a few of the more than 65 foreign media.

More than 150 United States newspapers will send staffs to fill most of the 952 working press seats on the convention floor. They, along with news association corps, will keep busy 325 teletypewriter lines and many of the 3,000 telephones.

At the moment, inside the pillarless, postless arena, hammers are banging and drills whirring at work on 100-foot-long anchor booths being built over northside seats.

These 20-foot - deep stages—part of $4-million in Cow Palace work related to the convention—will allow television cameras of the major U.S. networks to sweep over the crowd.

Plans call for more than 100 video channels, 264 radio circuits, 45 channels of telegraph equipment, a hookup of more than 36,000 miles of communication wires.

This center of activity is a 67-acre area in Visitacion Valley almost within earshot of Willie Mays' bat meeting the ball at Candlestick Park, eastward beside the bay. Baseball's National League Giants are among additions to the San Francisco pattern since the 1956 GOP convention.

Happy Prisoner

Some San Franciscans look upon that as a symbol—that the city has gone "big league." Actually it hasn't, can't, and wouldn't. San Francisco, as newcomers at the convention will quickly see, is a happy prisoner of geography and tradition.

Its 750,000 people of all races—three of every 10 either were born outside the United States or have one parent of foreign stock—are squeezed into the tip of a 32-mile-long peninsula. The population density is nearly 16,000 to a square mile.

That doesn't count more than 125,000 who commute back and forth over the bridges, freeways and rail lines to work.

Convention visitors who have been to San Francisco before will note a few changes. The Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill now has a rooftop drinking spot a little higher than its neighboring rival Top of the Mark.

Conrad Hilton has added a hotel of 1,200 rooms to the more than 25,000 in the city's 500 hotels and 65 motels.

But the crabs are still boiled alive in water vats down at Fisherman's Wharf as they have been for half a century. In narrow Grant Avenue, heart of 116-year-old Chinatown, merchants peddle oriental wares that in many instances are embarrassingly stamped "Made in Japan."

One Change Jolts

One change in the life pattern has jolted San Franciscans. In a melting pot of 55,000 of Italian extraction, 50,000 Chinese, 10,000 Japanese and a host of other nationalities, Negro groups have staged demonstrations in support of demands for more jobs.

These have resulted in mass arrests; cost the city an estimated million dollars; clogged the municipal courts; and caused more discussion of the civil rights issue—an inevitable big plank in the GOP platform—than many a San Franciscan ever dreamed necessary.

Down at the Cow Palace, its management is taking the convention in stride. While telephone technicians fidget over delays in getting to their work, a wrestling match—which often draws bigger crowds than political conventions—will be staged June 27.

And in August, soon after the convention paraphernalia is carted away, there'll be a different type of crowd - catcher: from London—the Beatles.

Terrorist Admits Saigon Grenade, Four Are Nabbed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Saigon police nabbed four Communist terrorists today and said one admitted planting a grenade at a Saigon bar Feb. 1 that killed one American serviceman and seriously injured another.

That terrorist was Pham Van Tu, 36, police said. He and two others arrested today posed as taxi drivers.

Their arrest followed the apprehension of a senior Viet Cong agent, Nguyen Van Cu, 38, who was waiting for other agents at Gia Dinh village for a secret meeting.

Police said Van Cu's assignment was to enlist boys and girls into the underground movement.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Communist Viet Cong platoon overran and seized a small government outpost, 17 miles northwest of Saigon, Wednesday morning, military authorities here announced today.

Grave of Original 'Mademoiselle' Found in France

LILLE, France (AP) — A group of British Tommies of 1914 found the grave of the woman they believe was the original "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." They plan to raise a monument in her honor.

On a pilgrimage in the 50th anniversary year of the bloody World War I battles along the French-Belgian border, the delegation located the grave in the Armentieres cemetery.

The veterans told newsmen the woman, Marie Lecoq, was an independent and proper barmaid in a small cafe when the British expeditionary force arrived. An officer who became too familiar got a resounding slap.

The officer was Harry Carlton, who later wrote the famous song that began "Mademoiselle from Armentieres, parlez-vous?" The veterans said the story was found in Carlton's personal papers.

Miss Lecoq died in 1945. She was said to have received a British pension for life for having worked as a contact agent.

The quads were born to Mrs. Salvatore Peloro, 30, of Brooklyn, who fas reported doing fine. Peloro, 35, a plumber who has been out of work since November, had an offer of a job at a housing project.

Continues River Excursion After 'Trouble' Report

NEW YORK — An excursion vessel with 2,100 high school pupils aboard radioed today it was turning back from a Bear Mountain cruise because of "trouble" aboard—but later said all was well and that the Hudson River trip would proceed.

The messages came from the Hudson River Day Line excursion boat Alexander Hamilton which had left Pier 81, Hudson River, at 10:15 a. m.

The trouble call came shortly before 11 a. m.

First reports did not indicate the nature of the "trouble."

Police cars gathered at Pier 81 in response to the first message.

The 2,100 boys and girls were on an outing from 10 high schools.

The line's offices reported shortly before noon that "everything's under control and they are on their way to Bear Mountain."

Bear Mountain is about 70 miles north of New York City, near West Point. It is a popular recreation area.

A representative of the line said indications were the trouble was among the passengers and not through any malfunction of the ship.

Planes to Step Up War Against Viet Cong: Moore

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of the 2nd Air Division, said today new Skyraider fighter-bombers are being brought into South Viet Nam to step up the war against Communist Viet Cong forces and not because the planes they replace are obsolete or unsafe.

Moore said the single-seater A1H and the two-seater A1E Skyraiders are bigger, faster and heavier than the T28 fighter-bombers and B26 light bombers that have been carrying on the air operations.

"They can carry a wider variety of ordnance. They have more endurance and great flying time."

Moore denied reports the T28 and B26 were obsolete or unsafe and that they had been sent here because they were leftovers from previous wars.

The new planes will double the strength and quadruple the firepower of the force here under a program announced by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara last month.

The Skyraiders carry 12,000 pounds of ordnance compared to the 3,500 pounds carried by T28s and 6,000 by the B26s. Moore said he saw no need for jet planes in Viet Nam under present circumstances.

Moore, from Spartanburg, S.C., took command of the 2nd Air Division four months ago.

Dixiecrats Reject Rights Vote With Limited Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats turned down today a Senate leadership proposal to start voting Monday on the civil rights bill under a strict limitation on debate.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montanta, the Democratic leader, asked unanimous consent for such voting after charges of Dixie forces that the bill's proponents were now conducting a counterfilibuster to avoid a vote on pending jury trial amendments.

In objecting to the request, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the Southern leader, called it an attempt to put the blame for the failure to vote on opponents of the House-passed bill.

Mansfield's request was to limit debate on all of more than 300 amendments to one half hour each and on a leadership substitute for the House bill to two hours, beginning Monday.

If agreed to, this would have wiped out any need to try to carry out the plans to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule.

Russell said that the Southerners could not agree to the request because, he maintained, it would not allow adequate time to consider all the proposed amendments to the bill.

Senate leaders discounted suggestions that their chances of getting the Senate to vote a debate limitation had been hurt by the California primary or by the tactical ..maneuvers of opponents.

If Barry Opposes Johnson

Choice of Voters Would Be On 2 Distinct Philosophies

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Sen. Barry Goldwater gets the Republican presidential nomination and runs against President Johnson, voters will get a chance to make a choice that hasn't been given them in years.

It will be a choice between two distinct philosophies of government as represented by the candidates if not exactly by the parties:

The liberalism of Johnson and the conservatism preached by Goldwater, although some consider the conservative label far too liberal for Goldwater.

Even so, the difference between the two men would be so apparent that no one could miss it.

Every four years Democrats and Republicans put on a song-and-dance — a so - called discussion of the issues — which is supposed to point out the difference between the two parties. In reality any difference is hardly visible.

Both Have Liberals

The Democrats and Republicans these days are practically one and the same party and for the same reason. Both have their own batch of liberals and reactionaries but the majority in both are conservatives.

So for years in election after election voters have not really been choosing between parties so much as between individual candidates and then not on issues but on personality.

Three examples tell the story: Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, when he opposed Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952, was a national military hero, widely known and highly popular. Stevenson was a likeable man, too, but he had neither Eisenhower's prestige nor fame.

Would Have Won as Demo

It so happened that Eisenhower was elected on the Republican ticket. But can anyone doubt he would have won just as overwhelmingly if he had run as a Democrat? The same two men went through the same routine again in 1956.

In 1960, there was little difference between the expressed philosophies of John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Kennedy's record in the Senate had been only moderately liberal. Nixon talked the same.

Unfortunately for Nixon, he had a knack of antagonizing people who had never been closer to him than a television screen. And Kennedy, a much more relaxed and friendly figure, won but only by a squeak.

Stuck by Conservatives

Yet, when Kennedy sent some of his liberal programs to a Congress run by big Democratic majorities in both houses, they got stuck by the conservatives of his own party. Medical care is an example.

This year, at least, even though the two parties retained that same twin - like look, two candidates like Johnson and Goldwater would be definitely different in what they stood for.

If there was that same difference between the parties — one liberal, one highly conservative — the voters could make a far more intelligent choice of the party they wanted to run the government.

If the Goldwater supporters got control of the party—it's unlikely this year—long enough for it to be saturated by their views, the voters in time would have a clear-cut choice. But there's also danger in this for Republicans.

Could Hurt Badly

If the mood of the country turned out to be far more liberal than Goldwater seems to think — and republicanism becomes synonymous with conservatism in the public mind — it could wreck the party totally or for years.

But at least the nation would get in a Johnson-Goldwater fight a chance long missing to show how it feels.

Goldwater as a presidential candidate would have to organize his thinking far better than he has so far while campaigning as a would-be candidate if he is going to present any clear-cut, comprehensible philosophy of government.

Up till now he's been mostly critical of the Democrats without offering any detailed and constructive program of his own.

The campaigns he and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller put on have been almost incredible from a sober, political standpoint. They went in more for pep talks than programs. They didn't talk issues. They talked generalities.

Their whole show was, for those reasons, primitive politics.

Shock Fence Keeps Beavers in Check

Beaver dams in front of the intake pipe at Hudson's New Forge reservoir lowered the intake of water to such an extent that the city's water supply was threatened. City officials contacted the Conservation Department seeking a solution. When trapping of the beavers was ruled out the city installed an electric fence in front of the intake pipe.

To date the beavers have been so shocked by the procedure that they have not been heard from. The situation now appears to be well in hand and water supply to Hudson has been improved.

Bufalino Returns As Witness on Deportation Move

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Russell Bufalino, fighting a 1958 deportation order, was called back to the witness stand today at a hearing before an examiner of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The 60-year-old Kingston, Pa., resident was on the stand for a brief time Wednesday but stormed out of the hearing while being cross-examined by Vincent Chiano, counsel for the immigration service.

John Wasserman, counsel for Bufalino, apologized to William Tuffet, immigration examiner, and asked for a recess since his client was "too upset to continue." Chiano agreed to the request and Tuffet granted it, delaying his return to the witness stand until today.

Bufalino became angry during questioning by Chiano about a meeting with two of the 65 men who attended the alleged crime convention at Apalachin, N. Y., in 1957. Bufalino said he met with the two men two days before the gathering began on Nov. 16.

Chiano asked him if he had not seen them two months prior to the Apalachin meeting.

"What are you doing, calling me a liar?" Bufalino shouted. "What are you trying to prove? I have answered these questions 1,900 times to you people and I am becoming angry with this questioning.

"Believe me, I am as truthful as you are. You are being capricious, arbitrary and un-American. It is certainly unconstitutional."

When Chiano pursued his cross-examination, Bufalino got up from the witness chair and, still shouting, marched toward the exit. He remained out of the hearing room for 10 minutes before returning quietly.

At Bradley Property Site

Controversy Is Developing Over Proposed Supermarket

A king-sized public controversy may be developing over the proposed building of an A&P supermarket and shopping center on the Woodstock site commonly known as the Bradley property.

The area is on the north side of Route 212 and between the Woodstock Playhouse property and the Gulf gas station and across from the present Grand Union. It is regarded as one of the most picturesque and desirable open spaces left in Woodstock.

The rumored supermarket and shopping center development was enveloped in political controversy last November and now appears to be headed for spirited public debate and opposition by local residents.

The long dormant Woodstock Association for the Conservation and Improvement of the Township has issued a statement on the matter. So have the Woodstock Tree Trust and Woodstock Planning Board.

The WAA and Planning Board have made objective statements both of which underscore the futility of public opposition to the proposed project because there is no zoning ordinance in the town of Woodstock. The Tree Trust moved into the picture after receiving inquiries about the felling of a large maple tree on Mill Hill Road at the site of the former Bradley property.

A Sign Appears

Shortly after workmen began cutting down the tree, a sign appeared at the entrance to the property and bore the legend, "Buckstown or Woodstock?"

During the 1963 political campaign stout denials were issued that the area, earmarked for recreational purposes on the Planning Board map, would be converted into a shopping center. Woodstock editor Sylvia Kondolf broke the original story that interests represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John of Kingston had purchased the highly desirable tract.

It has been established in recent days that plans for an A&P Market have been submitted to Philip Spinelli of New York, who is associated with St. John in the development.

A Planning Board statement this week notes that "the Master Plan for Woodstock, adopted by the Planning Board some time ago, shows this area as recreational open space, with a playground. The land is inclined to be of a swampy nature and has been flooded with many feet of water in several spring thaws. The planning consultants who assisted the Planning Board in preparing the Master Plan felt it was not suitable for residential or commercial use. Further, the land is not considered suitable for usual sewage disposal due to the high water table."

"So far as aesthetics of the proposed buildings are concerned, it is impossible to give an opinion," the PB statement continues. "The promoters of the project have promised to discuss these with the Planning Board after negotiations for use of the land have been completed. These have not yet been finalized, according to recent information."

"The authority of the Planning Board, except for the control of residential subdivisions, is purely advisory. It has no authority to specify types of land use in any area. This can be done only through a Zoning Ordinance, which is in course of preparation by the Zoning Commission, and this will be effective only when adopted by the Town Board."

WAA Statement

The Woodstock Association said it received many telephone calls and inquiries from property owners protesting the placement of the rumored shopping center.

Its formal statement follows: "The Woodstock Association has investigated the situation but finds apparently no violations of existing ordinances or land use control regulations."

With undisguised despair, the WAA statement concludes: "Without a Zoning Ordinance in effect there is no protection against commercial exploitation. The Zoning Commission is now at work on a proposed Zoning Ordinance. This must be adopted by the Town Board after public hearings before the property owners of the township can avail themselves of the protection of such an ordinance. It is understood that a petition is being circulated requesting quick action by our public officials."

Tree Trust Statement

With respect to the tree felled on the Bradley site, the Tree Trust said:

"The Tree Trust is pleased to announce that the tree in question was in advanced state of decay and the felling does not represent a loss to our tree stand. In fact, the Woodstock Tree Trust had been consulted beforehand on the removal and could only agree that such a removal was in the public interest. The trees along this highway stand in the right of way of the New York State Department of Public Works and removal is therefore the responsibility and charge of the department. Care of the existing trees and replacement and replanting of new trees on this and other public roads is within the program of the Woodstock Tree Trust and the town's shade tree fund, who are actively engaged in this work."

With respect to the former Bradley property, attorney St. John acknowledged purchase of the tract prior to last November's election. At that time he indicated work would start before the end of 1963. But nothing happened until a crew was seen working on the trees several days ago and the controversial issue is now in the open.

The Woodstock elementary school pupils recently enjoyed an assembly presented by Mrs. Margaret Wetterau. She brought her puppet theatre at 11 a. m. for the morning session and at 2 p. m. for the afternoon group.

The presentations included The Three Bears, Little Red Riding Hood, King Midas and the Golden Touch. The attractive puppets pleased the children in all the grades, kindergarten through sixth.

At the conclusion of the plays, Mrs. Wetterau presented an artist puppet who painted a picture which he presented to each grade.

New Tank Next Project for Company No. 3

The installation of a thousand-gallon tank on its tank truck is the next scheduled improvement for Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, serving the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady areas.

Captain Alfred Ostrander announced Wednesday that a thousand-gallon tank has been purchased to replace the 700 gallon tank now in use.

The new tank, according to the fire captain, will not only increase the available water supply for fire fighting but will include a larger outlet pipe which will allow a larger volume of water to be utilized at one time, through the pumping apparatus.

Water from the company's tank truck has been utilized many times at fires in the territory, with excellent results, according to Captain Ostrander. The increased capacity of the tank truck will give Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 a total gallonage of 1,700 that will be available immediately at any fire.

Students Going To Theatre at Onteora Central

If someone were to ask you what is the best way to introduce young people to the drama, you would probably say, without a moment's hesitation, "Take them to the theatre!!" And that is just what they're doing at Onteora.

Last week during their regular English class periods, high school students met in the Little Theatre to see two one-act plays presented by the Drama Class. These productions grew from an English teacher's desire to expose students to an experience in living theatre, to change the usual classroom approach from reading and discussing drama, to experiencing it as it actually should be experienced — interpreted by actors before an audience.

Ralph Wesselmann has directed this program for two years, choosing plays that present a variety of dramatic techniques and themes, introducing the students to theatre in an atmosphere as identical to that of the legitimate theatre as can be created, and discussing the performances immediately after they have been viewed. During this time he has presented and discussed tragedy, comedy, melodrama and theatre of the absurd.

Last week the group presented Tennessee Williams' "The Case of the Crushed Petunias" and Susan Glaspell's "Suppressed Desires." A special adult performance of these two one-act plays is being given on Thursday, June 4, at 8:40 p. m., in the Little Theatre at Onteora Central School.

Only Two Fire Calls in Month Despite Drought

Despite the prolonged dry spell in May, there were only two fire alarms for the entire month, Fire Chief George Haythorne reported at the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1. There was one emergency call and one for a brush fire.

The chief complimented the personnel of the department for their fine turnout and showing in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock.

Peter Koehn, chairman, announced that all arrangements have been completed for the annual fund raising drive in August. Robert Smith reported that the tank truck has been delivered and is now in the process of being converted for use by the company.

There was a first reading of a proposed change in by-laws with respective to active membership and dues. There will be a second reading and a vote taken at the July meeting. All members are asked to attend this meeting.

Guilty Either Way

WEST LIBERTY, Ky. (AP)—Two men pleaded innocent to charges of possessing a moonshine still, told Judge Joe Freytag and the jury that they stumbled on the still while squirrel hunting and produced a dog to prove it. While the jury was out reaching an innocent verdict, Game Warden Billy Collins took out warrants charging the pair with squirrel hunting out of season. They pleaded guilty and paid $25 fines.

Attend Prep Show

WESTERVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Two dozen 4-year-olds will go to Otterbein College next fall They'll attend special preschool classes to be offered by the college's education department.

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sign on the movie stage door seemed ominous: "Welcome—proceed at your own risk."

Inside on the set of "The Night Walker," everything looked cozy enough. His and her dressing rooms were side by side, his in shades of royal blue and hers in moss green.

Nearby Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor were seated next to each other, engaged in friendly conversation with director William Castle.

"How old were you when you made 'Camille'—30?" Castle inquired of Taylor.

"No, I was 25," the actor replied.

Co-Starred Before

"I was the one who was 30!" said Stanwyck, and all laughed heartily.

That is the tone of things on the set where Bob and Barbara are making their third film together, the first since their 1951 divorce. She has remained single, he married German actress Ursula Thiss.

Their previous co-starrings were "His Brother's Wife" and "This Is My Affair," both before their 1939 marriage. Their reunion has caused a considerable stir in Hollywood, which is not easily stirred. Both refuse to recognize the fuss.

"A job is a job," reasoned Stanwyck, ever the pro.

Both rose immediately when the buzzer sounded notice that the camera crew was ready. They hurried to the set and took their positions in a chapel scene.

The scene called for Miss Stanwyck, newly widowed, to express concern to Taylor, the family lawyer, over dreams that seemed close to reality. The rehearsal was letterperfect, but she wasn't satisfied.

Strikes the Spark

"It's too pat," she complained to Castle. "I played it very bad. As a matter of fact, it stunk."

She rehearsed it once more, finally striking the spark of spontaniety she was seeking.

The makeup crew moved in for final touches on the famous pair. Miss Stanwyck's silver hair was coaxed into place. Taylor ran a comb through his locks, still widow's-peaked and luxuriant. The players hit their marks and the scene began.

"Cut — print it!" announced Castle when it was over. He sighed to a bystander, "This is how movies should be made."

Coolest Colors

No matter how many bright shades are available in cool summer cottons, steer clear of wearing them unless you want to look as hot as you feel. Lavendar, green and blue are colors that will make you look cool on the hottest day.

K of C Council Names Officers

William B. Fairley Sr. was elected Grand Knight of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus Monday night.

Other officers elected for 1964-65 are Joseph Bruno, Deputy Grand Knight; John Graney, chancellor; Joseph Bohn, warden; PGK Russell Brott, treasurer; Thomas Lyle, recorder; Francis X. Tucker, advocate; Robert McCullough and William Glennon, guards and PGK John Fitzgerald, trustee.

New officers will assume duties July 1.

End for Bills

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Iowa University end Cloyd Webb has been signed by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

The 6-5, 208-pounder will probably see duty as a split end, Coach Lou Saban said Wednesday after the signing.

Dog Donated to Charity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County Cancer Society reported that one volunteer fund collector returned to headquarters with the money she had collected—and a dog.

She said the man of one of th families she called on had offered the animal. Several hours later, officials said, a woman called and offered a cash gift if she could have her dog back. The trade was made.

New Breed of Politician

Bingham Could Be Demo's Best Hope For '66 Governor

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State Democratic leaders will have to make room for Jonathan Brewster Bingham in their long-range political planning.

One of Biggest Surprises

His name is almost sure to come up in speculation on a party candidate for governor in 1966.

Bingham produced one of the biggest political surprises in years when he handed U.S. Rep. Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx his first political defeat since he was elected to Congress 30 years ago.

Bingham won the nomination for Buckley's seat after a rough, hard-fought campaign in which the Buckley forces overlooked few of the old-time, roundhouse political tricks.

Bingham survived and became one of the few Democrats projected into prominence in the party in recent years solely by the support of voters.

The party has tended of late to select its top candidates on the basis of some grand, strategic design worked out in private councils. A candidate is then chosen and the finished product—candidate and strategy—presented to the party.

Bingham could well break that pattern.

He is one of a new breed of politicians who have proved their ability to win while ignoring the hoary rituals that veteran politicians swear by.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller came into office on that new wave. So did the late President Kennedy. Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-Manhattan) fits the description.

They are young—or youthful looking—well-educated, often in Ivy League schools, attractive and more concerned with the pressing issues of the day than with such approaches as Buckley's boasts of his ability to do favors for his constituents.

Same Old List

Bingham has appeared on the scene at a time when the Democratic Party has been having difficulty expanding its tiny ranks of prospects for high office.

Whether it's for U.S. senator this year or governor in 1966, the same old list is mentioned—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, Queens Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor and former Gov. Averell Harriman (whom Bingham once served as secretary).

The average Democrat would have difficulty expanding that list.

The ranks of serious possibilities for U.S. senator this year are so slim that the party is fired up over speculation that Atty. Gen Robert F. Kennedy might move into the state and run.

If Bingham wins election to Congress, as he probably will in the heavily Democratic district, he will have two years to make himself better known.

Then, it will be 1966 and the party will be seeking a candidate for governor, which might provide a golden opportunity for a bright new face in state Democratic politics.

Shades of Keystone Cops

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Three detectives were returning a prisoner to Wichita from Kansas City when their car broke down.

The officers said several motorists were startled to see the policemen pushing the car while the manacled prisoner sat in the driver's seat steering.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Once Upon a Mattress," the bright Broadway musical comedy of five seasons ago that exposed the inside story of the princess and the pea legend and made Carol Burnett a star, managed the difficult journey from stage to television screen.

A lively adaptation occupied 90 minutes on CBS Wednesday night, with Miss Burnett in her original role given every opportunity to clown and sing tuneful songs.

The original tale makes a sweet bedtime story for children but the more sophisticated musical comedy was better — far better — suited to adult ears which explains the rather late hour at which the network scheduled the production.

The book amplified the background of the fairy tale of the princess who proved her royal sensitivity by being made sleepless by a pea placed under 20 mattresses. It was a perfect setup for Miss Burnett's talents. In spite of this, actor Jack Gilford came close to stealing the show away from her. He was a delight as the mute king, silenced by a sorcerer's spell and able to express himself only by playing a game of "Stump The Stars."

The production was excellent, the dancing imaginative, the music charming and the dialogue often sly and amusing. But the frequent lengthy interruptions for commercials had the distresssing effect of destroying, time after time, the audience's mood and the whole spirit of the fantasy. If the poor king needed a spell-breaker, he had a great one in the sponsor's earnest sales pitches.

The Roman tax system was all inclusive at its height, with charges on land, property and income, plus poll, luxury, temple and road fees.

$40,000 Damage Is Reported in Hotel Annex Fire

Fire which caused an estimated $40,000 damage to an annex of Young's Gap Hotel on old Route 17 about a half mile north of Liberty was under investigation today by Fire Chief Leon Killian and member of the Ferndale State Police B.C.I. unit.

The fire was discovered about 5:12 p. m. Tuesday in the unoccupied building which had been used to house employes of Young's Hotel. The premises were being converted for use by guests of the hotel.

Shortly after the fire was discovered it was reported shouting and moaning had been heard from inside the premises but a check of employes and guests indicated no one missing. However, the check was being continued today by troopers and firemen to ascertain whether someone had been caught in the building.

The annex was located a considerable distance from the hotel and was undergoing remodeling in preparation to being used this season as a hotel annex for guests, state police at Ferndale reported.

There will be 538 electoral votes cast for President this year.

Conductors, Program Announced for County Music Festival; Five Schools to Take Part

EDWARD T. GREEN

The Ulster County Music Festival will be presented at the Ellenville High School Auditorium Saturday 2 p. m.

Guest conductors have been announced as Ernest E. Harris, professor of music education at Columbia University and Edward T. Green, superintendent of school, Rondout Valley Central School. Participating schools are Ellenville, Highland, Marlboro, New Paltz, and Rondout Valley.

Mr. Harris, who will conduct the county band, is a well known author, clinician and conductor. He is presently head of the instrumental department at Teachers College, Columbia University. Last fall he conducted the Area State-Sectional in Albany. He has conducted many clinics and festivals throughout the state. His publications include instrumental and orchestral series.

The county chorus conductor, Mr. Green, is a music graduate of Ithaca College. He taught instrumental music for several years at Palmyra. While there he conducted the Community Chorus and the Western Presbyterian Church Choir. During the time which he was the central school administrator in New Berlin, he conducted the Methodist Church Choir, the Baptist Church Choir, and the Community Chorus in performances of cantata and oratoric literature. At present as the superintendent of school, Rondout Valley, he is the director of the Marbletown Dutch Reformed Church Choir and the Lyric Choristers of Kingston. This year he will again be a guest director at the Ocean Grove Choir Festival.

The 80-voice county chorus will sing Gloria in Excelsis by Mozart, Madame Jeanette by Murray, Live A-Humble arranged by Hairston, selections from Camelot by Lowe, and the Exodus Song by Gold. Special selections are planned by the RVCS Girls' Ensemble and Les Chanteurs of Ellenville. The accompanist will be Stanley Wainapel from Ellenville.

The 75-piece county band will play Beginner's Luck by Wilder, American Folk Rhapsody by Grundman, Bugler's Holiday by Anderson, Poet and Peasant Overture by Suppe, and Totem Pole March by Osterling.

SHOULD MAN RISE FOR MOTHER-IN-LAW?

Q: On several occasions when I have gone to visit my daughter, her husband was seated in the living room watching television. When I entered the room he never even as much as made an attempt to get up to greet me. When I remarked about this discourtesy he said that it was not necessary to get up to greet a member of the family. I think a man should rise to greet a woman visitor at all times, regardless of whether she is a member of the family or a stranger. I would like your opinion.

A: Your son-in-law most certainly should rise to greet you when you go to visit them just as he would any other visitor. If you were living in the house with them, it would be absurd to expect him to rise every time you came in.

Clothes of the Bridegroom's Father

Q: My son is going to be married at an afternoon wedding. All the men in the wedding party, including the bride's father, are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats. My husband has planned on wearing a navy blue business suit but my son has told me that he has to dress the same as the men in the bridal party. Will you please tell me if this is necessary?

A: The bridegroom's father has no part in the ceremony and he need not, if he doesn't choose to, wear what the men in the bridal party are wearing.

When the American Flag Passes

Q: What is the proper etiquette exacted by both men and women when watching a parade and the American flag passes in review?

A: Both stop talking, face the flag with shoulders back and head up, and the men take off their hats and hold them over their left breasts.

Local Hadassah Installs Officers, Honors Retiring President at End of Season Fete

Mrs. Herbert Gertner was installed as president of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah Monday night as the women's Zionist organization held its closing meeting of the year at the Skytop Restaurant.

On the new slate are the Mmes. Sidney Halpern, executive vice president; Walter Suskind, membership vice president; Alvin Motzkin, vice president in charge of donor activities; Sidney Treinkman, treasurer; Alfred Zamm, recording secretary; Manuel Lipton, financial secretary; William Buchbinder, corresponding secretary; Irving Josephson, secretary to the board; and Stewart Ritchie, president's secretary. Walter Suskind was installing official.

Mrs. Arthur Landesman, retiring president, presided over the meeting, which was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Walter Suskind. Mrs. Suskind introduced Hadassah's guests for the evening, Mrs. Froman Mehl, Reva Stutz and the Misses Arlene Buchbinder, Marilyn Jacobs and Laurie Gertner.

Mrs. Motzkin, donor vice president, reported on the successful projects on behalf of Hadassah Medical Organization; in charge were Mrs. Carl Bernstein and Mrs. Aaron Bahl, New and Nearly New shops; Mrs. Alfred Horowitz, ad page; Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, awards; and Mrs. Motzkin, Eye Bank Day.

The chapter culminates its projects for HMO with its Donor Day set for Sunday, June 14, at the Nevele, Ellenville. Members may use the hotel's facilities during the day for swimming or golf. A cocktail hour and dinner will be followed by Broadway entertainment and dancing. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Motzkin or Mrs. George Starkman.

The chapter honored the memory of the late Mrs. Bertha Smolen with the presentation of a Health Frontiers certificate to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jack Smolen. Mrs. N. P. Gross made the presentation and spoke on Mrs. Smolen's contributions to the chapter. Her name will be entered in the Book of Memory at the Hadassah-Hebrew University Hospital in Jerusalem and at the national Hadassah House in New York. An afgan made by the late Mrs. Smolen and presented to the group was used as an HMO benefit; the winner was Miss Nancy Davis.

In her report on the year, Mrs. Landesman cited accomplishments of the organization in all its projects, through which Kingston women aid Hadassah's work throughout the world, not only in Israel, but also in the newly-emerging countries in Africa where Hadassah-trained workers direct community health projects. She noted Hadassah's achievements in education, public health, child rescue and land reclamation, pointing out the local group's share in these. She thanked her officers and board members for their help throughout the year and for "showing the essence of Hadassah: a desire to rise above one's self, an urge to create and to grow; a spirit of grace and an educated heart."

Mrs. Gertner presented Mrs. Landsman with her past president's pin; a gift from the membership was presented by Mrs. Robert Yallum, a former president.

In her acceptance speech, Mrs. Gertner noted that Hadassah women have forged a link between the United States and Israel, a link built of faith and dedication and based on the creed: "I am my brother's keeper." She noted her pride in Hadassah's projects—its hospital, Youth Aliyah, Jewish National Fund—and in Hadassah's women, "American women who appreciate all they have and want to share with Israel, you who can so successfully cherish two million people you've never met." She thanked the members for the honor of working for and with them and pledged her utmost abilities in fulfilling the tasks in the year ahead.

The program for the evening was an original musical comedy written by the Mmes. Murray Fletcher and Melvin Navy. Narrated by Mrs. Stanley London, the Dark Horse depicted the attempts of six Presidential candidates to attain Hadassah's highest office. The candidates included the Mmes. Robert Davis, Arnold Pinsly, Samuel Levine, Charles Forst, Melvin Navy and Mike Weiner. The skit ended with a tribute to the dark horse winner, Mrs. Gertner, and to the retiring president, Mrs. Landesman. Piano accompanist was Melvin Navy.

Mrs. Fletcher was in charge of the evening's program, aided by the Mmes. Melvin Navy, co-chairman, David Kline, Sidney Pauker and Harold Newman.

Cream-colored separates, co-ordinated with navy or red will be big news on the fashion scene for spring and summer. Wamsutta's cotton double knit was used by Knitmaster for these two versions of the new trend. Lined Chanel-type jacket (left) has turn-back collar, half belt at back and brass buttons on sleeves and tab pockets. A-line gored skirt stars a navy tie belt. Shell top is in navy and cream stripes. Sporty striped waistcoat in red and cream (right) is worn over a cream ascot-tie blouse and fashion-matched with a red slim skirt.

Staying in Fight to End

Rockefeller Will Plug For Liberal Platform

By MALCOLM STEPHENSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says present indications are that Sen. Barry Goldwater will win the Republican presidential nomination on the first or second ballot at the national convention—but "I'm staying right in this to the end."

Long Time to Go

"There's a long time between now and the convention in San Francisco and it's hard to tell what is going to happen," he said.

At a news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller discussed his loss of 86 delegates to Goldwater in Tuesday's California primary and looked ahead to the Republican National Convention opening July 13.

In addition to declaring he will continue his campaign for the Republican nomination, Rockefeller reiterated that the GOP convention must adopt a "forward-looking" platform. He said he intends to fight for such a platform.

Rockefeller, in campaigning against the conservative senator from Arizona, has said this year's Republican platform should be similar to the liberal platforms of 1956 and 1960.

He said at the news conference that he thinks every Republican would support Goldwater if he ran on a "forward-looking" platform.

Rockefeller said he hopes public opinion will bring Goldwater into "the mainstream of American thinking," and added: "The senator said Wednesday night he was in the mainstream of American thought, and all I can say is that we've got a meandering stream. There are hazards in that river."

Rockefeller said he believes the Republican platform should be drafted first, and a candidate then selected to run on it.

Favor Compromise Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts were under way today to write a compromise amendment permitting prayers in the public schools less sweeping than the major one now being proposed.

The effort is being undertaken by proponents of the original measure, who now feel there is little chance for winning approval of it in the House Judiciary Committee.

The committee completed six weeks of hearings on all proposed amendments Wednesday and will get down to deciding what action to take in two or three weeks.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Peter Sellers etched a heart, his hands and his feet in fresh cement in the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theater Wednesday, taking his place alongside 145 other theater personalities.

"You might say the heart has a double meaning," said the British performer, who suffered a near-fatal heart attack April 6.

Carmel Is Ready For More Water

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City has been notified by the Town of Carmel in Putnam County that the town is ready to install the facilities needed to take additional city water, as allowed by a law signed this year by Gov. Rockefeller.

Armand D'Angelo, city commissioner of water supply, gas and electricity, said April 25 that he would not comply with the law.

The law passed the Republican-controlled Legislature and won the governor's signature despite bitter opposition from the Democratic city administration, spearheaded by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and D'Angelo.

The new law authorized Carmel to take up to 2 million gallons of water a day from the city's conduits passing through Putnam County. Until now, the town has been taking a maximum of 275,000 gallons a day.

D'Angelo has said the only reason for approving an additional water supply for Carmel was that Ruppert's Brewery might move from Manhattan to Carmel. He also has said that if the brewery moved to Carmel he would not connect the city's water system to the brewery's water lines.

Bride Left at Church, Nobody Wants to Talk

MANCHESTER, England (AP) —David Swindells, 27, said "No" he wouldn't take Diane Garden to be his wedded wife and walked out of the Congregational Church Wednesday.

Blonde Diane burst into tears.

The minister shepherded the weeping bride and her father into the vestry and then ran after the bridegroom.

After a while the minister came back and told the guests: "There will be no wedding today."

"I don't want to talk about it," said David at his home later.

Diane's parents took her home.

"We don't want to talk about it," said a relative.

Survey Is Made About Possible Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Weather Bureau ordered its research plane to investigate a tropical depression 600 miles southwest of Miami today for possible intensification into a tropical storm or hurricane.

The Weather Bureau said Wednesday the tropical depression was not likely to develop into a storm until noon today, if at all.

The disturbance, with winds up to 25 miles an hour, was moving toward the northeast at three miles an hour. It was last located off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The 1964 hurricane season officially started Monday.

Soft-Pedal Strong War Talk

No Statement Yet About Southeast Asia Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept tight secrecy wraps today on what—if any—new moves he is planning to make to step up the fight against Communist forces in Southeast Asia.

A White House statement issued Wednesday night gave some indication, however, that Johnson and his advisers have decided to soft-pedal talk of drastic action such as enlarging the war in Viet Nam, at least for the time being.

Johnson received a report from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the results of two days of intensive policy review which they conducted at a conference in Hawaii earlier this week.

Several days ago officials had indicated that the conference would very likely result in presidential decisions to deal with what then appeared to be a serious crisis in Southeast Asia due to Communist advances primarily in Laos.

Review Situation

When Wednesday night's meeting ended, George Reedy, presidential press secretary issued this statment:

"The secretaries met with the President about an hour. They reviewed the situation in Southeast Asia in light of the consultations in Hawaii which were held to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of our program."

There was no hint of enlarging the war to include military action against Communist North Viet Nam or of putting U.S. military forces into Thailand or assigning reinforcements to the Southeast Asian area generally.

Reedy declined to answer any questions, explaining to reporters, "This is all I have to say about it."

The emphasis in the statement on improving "the efficiency and effectiveness" of going programs contrasted sharply with a speech made here two weeks ago by Rusk in which he warned that if the Communists persisted in aggression in South Viet Nam the war against them might be expanded.

This strengthened speculation in official quarters that carrying the fight to North Viet Nam, perhaps by aerial bombings, was under consideration. But informants said the administration was reluctant to expand the war unless it proved absolutely necessary.

Rules Unit Is Likely to Stay in Power Of Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The powerful House Rules Committee likely will remain under the tenuous control of administration Democrats in 1965 although it will have two or three new members.

One of the present 10 Democratic seats and probably two of the five Republican seats will be vacant when the new Congress convenes in January, assuming continued Democratic control of the House.

The Democratic vacancy will be the seat of Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama, who was defeated for renomination in Tuesday's primary. One Republican, Elmer J. Hoffman of Illinois, is running for a state office and another, William H. Avery of Kansas, is running for governor but still could change his mind and seek re-election to the House.

All the remaining 12 members come from districts considered "safe" for re-election.

Avery and Hoffman, along with the other three Republicans, generally have teamed up in the past with two Democrats, Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, to form a conservative minority.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., reportedly has the inside track to replace Hoffman. No one has been prominently mentioned to take Avery's place.

Replacing Elliott may pose quite a problem since the Alabaman's seat normally would belong to the South. Not many liberal Southerners acceptable to the Democratic leadership are available or willling to take the political risk involved in House Rules Committee membership.

Most prominently mentioned is Rep. Claude Pepper of Florida, an avowed liberal who voted for the civil rights bill and who comes from a liberal district. Although a House freshman, Pepper has served in the Senate.

Elliott's colleagues expect him to be offered a good federal position when he leaves Congress. His controlling vote in the House Rules Committee will be needed during the remaining months of the present session.

Gas Eruptions Drive Farmer From 80 Acres

NASH, Okla. (AP)—Gas eruptions have turned an 80-acre tract of land in north-central Oklahoma into a quagmire, a farm couple said Wednesday.

"It just blew up and we had to move our cattle out," said Neil Wilkins.

One cow died and a veterinarian said it was gased, Wilkins said.

The land is about one mile from a half dozen gas wells. Mrs. Wilkins said since the eruptions, the ground had become like quicksand and dangerous to walk on.

Craters ranging from inches to 50 yards in length and 30 yards in width quickly filled with water, Wilkins said.

Will Ask Court To Bar Grading Of Chiros' Exams

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Education Department says it is starting to grade licensing examinations for chiropractors in a move to put a new program of regulation in operation by the Oct. 1 deadline.

A group of chiropractors promised further action in their court efforts to obtain a judgment that major provisions of the program are unconstitutional, after the department action was announced Wednesday.

The chiropractors will ask the Court of Appeals on Friday to bar the grading of the examinations, pending the outcome of legal action in that court.

The state's highest court will not hear the case until next fall.

Under state law, only licensed chiropractors may practice after Oct. 1.

The chiropractors involved in the suit suffered a setback yesterday in the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, Second Department, which upheld the constitutionality of the licensing law.

An Education Department spokesman said Wednesday the grading of examinations would begin as soon as the formal notice of the court decision, expected imminently, was received.

The chiropractors who filed the suit are acting as individuals. The Chiropractic Association of New York State, whose membership includes a majority of the state's chiropractors, endorsed the licensing program.

Opponents of the program argued the examinations covered subject matter not included in their practice.

Swamped by Phone Calls

SHELDON, Iowa (AP) — Within a half hour Wednesday night, Mrs. L. D. Fogarty got 37 telephone calls, including long distance calls from people she did not know.

Mrs. Fogarty complained. The telephone company said trouble in the dial system was being traced. But, said Mrs. Fogarty, she got 160 more local calls before she took the receiver off the hook and went to bed.

'Cleo' Suit Holds

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A federal judge on Wednesday denied a motion by 20th Century-Fox studios for dismissal of a suit brought by actress Elizabeth Taylor and ex-husband Eddie Fisher over proceeds from the movie "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor and Fisher own 85 per cent of MCL, a Swiss corporation, which in turn owns 35 per cent of the $40 million movie. The firm's attorneys have asked that all prints and negatives of the film be placed in receivership, contending distribution has been mishandled.

Sammartino Pins Mortier In Feature Wrestling Bout

Bruno Sammartino broke the second of two mighty half nelsons clamped on him by Hans Mortier, the big, bad meanie from Germany.

Sammartino, the current champion, sent Mortier crashing across the canvas. Mortier bounced to his feet and the two behemoths collided in a bone crashing flying dropkick.

The impact stunned both men who landed flat on their backs, apparently knocked out. It was 21 minutes after last night's wrestling feature had started at the municipal auditorium.

Referee Anthony Melfi tolled the fatal 10. Sammartino made it before 10. Mortier lay prostrate long after the count ended. That's how Sammartino, the former Olympic weightlifting champion, scored his sensational victory over Mortier.

Topflight Feature

It was one of the best feature events ever seen in Kingston and for Sammartino to go 21 minutes was something of a bonus for 900 fans who looked on. For the first 10 minutes, Bruno and Mortier, one of two magnificently - built German champions, treated the crowd to a brilliant exhibition of old-style Greco-Romano wrestling based on leverage and pressure grips. In due time, Mortier resorted to his half nelsons and Sammartino, after suffering indignities and agonies in a corner, literally kicked Mortier to pieces. This one was something extra.

Four Second Fall

A Kingston record was set when the tag-team combination of Bobo Brazil, 270, Michigan and Ernie (Cat) Ladd, 235, San Diego scored a 4-second fall over the team of Bulldog Gannon, 325, Georgia, and Mike Zerbes, 240, Texas.

It happened like this. Ladd and Gannon advanced toward each other at the bell. Ladd unleashed a flying block. Gannon landed flat on his back. Ladd pounced on him for the pin.

The second fall took a little longer, 7 minutes, 2 seconds, but the formatt was the same and Zerbes again the victim. Ladd, an American Football League lineman with San Diego, unleashed a drop kick. Gannon landed stunned on the canvas and Ladd jumped on for the pin.

The other results:

Irish Jack McClarity, Oklahoma, and Max Mortier, Germany, 30-minute draw.

Manuel Perez, 220 Puerto Rico, won on disqualification over Klondike Bill, 336, Alaska, in 16:30.

Pedro Morales, 226, Puerto Rico, pinned Boris Malenko, 230, Tampa, Fla., in 26 minutes, 30 seconds.

Clay Says He'll Convert Floyd To Islam Religion

CAIRO (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay says he'll convert Floyd Patterson to the Islam religion if he ever fights the former champion.

Clay made the comment Wednesday as he arrived in Cairo for an 18-day visit.

Criticizing Patterson, a catholic, Clay said:

"With the help of Allah I shall definitely beat him if he ever faces me in the ring. Patterson once criticized me for taking the Moslem religion, and I say if I ever see him in the ring I shall beat him and convert him to Islam."

Clay was greeted by about 2,000, including Moslem sheikhs wearing turbans, upon his arrival from Lagos, Nigeria. The champion is in Egypt at the invitation of the Supreme Council for Islamic Affairs.

Northern Dancer Set for Belmont Stakes Saturday

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Northern Dancer heads into Saturday's 96th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes with his peak form still to come.

That's the opinion of Horatio Luro, trainer of the Canadian-owned winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and at least one trainer of the four 3-year-olds expected to oppose the son of Nearactic-Natalma in the 1½-mile final leg of the Triple Crown.

"I actually don't know his capabilities," said Luro today. "He's done everything we have asked of him so well that I would hesitate to guess just how far he'll go."

"He probably hasn't reached his peak," said Jimmy Conway, trainer of Orientalist, who was made a supplementary entry at the cost of $5,000. "He has held his bloom so well. In fact he seems to look better every time I see him."

All of which could be bad news for the Dancer's rivals in what stacks up as the smallest Belmont field since Count Fleet beat two others by 25 lengths in 1943.

Northern Dancer, from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm, has won his last seven starts, never been out of the money in 17 races, set a Kentucky Derby mark of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles and came close to the Preakness standard with a 1:56 4-5 clocking for 1 3-16 miles.

After being the second choice to Hill Rise in both the Derby and Preakness, the Dancer is expected to go to the post at the short odds of around 3-5.

Hill Rise, from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, loser by a neck in the Derby and by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness, figures to get the bulk of the remainder of the play in the betting machines.

Post time is 3:45 p.m. EST, with nationwide television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Louis Wolfson's Roman Brother, who like Northern Dancer was foaled on May 27; Paul Mellon's Quadrangle and John Galbreath's Orientalist are the other definite starters.

Roman Brother and Quadrangle had a crack at Northern Dancer in the Derby and Preakness but finished up the track. Since then Roman Brother has won the Jersey Derby and Quadrangle ran second to Olden Times in the Metropolitan Handicap.

There is an outside possibility that Herbert Allen might decide today to enter Shook, winner of three of his six starts this year. R. N. Webster's National, out of the money only twice in eight 1964 starts, also is a possibility.

Nicklaus, Palmer Favored to Win Thunderbird Golf

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus says he can't drive, and Arnold Palmer says he is so rusty his backswing creates little brown clouds.

That's enough to make them favorites in the Thunderbird Golf Tournament which opened today at the Westchester Country Club course.

The two big men of golf share that designation in any tournament they enter, and they have something extra going for them in the rich $100,000 test on the par 72, 6,573-yard course.

To start with, this is the tournament where both plan to begin getting ready for the U.S. Open, which comes up in two weeks on the Congressional course in Washington, D.C.

Add to that the fact that Palmer is the defending champion. Add that Palmer and Nicklaus are two of only five golfers who have won two tournaments this year.

And add the $20,000 first prize. The two money machines are noted for refusing to leave that kind of cash around for the others.

Gary Player, the third member of the Mark McCormack stable, also is rated a good chance. He won the 500 Festival last week, and is another who has won two tournaments this year.

The other two with a pair of victories are Billy Casper and Mike Souchak, both in the field here. Open champion Julius Boros also is entered.

Among the others are British Open champion Bob Charles, old Sam Snead, even older Vic Ghezzi who won the PGA back in 1941, Champagne Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald and Tony Manero, who won the U.S. Open in 1936.

Nicklaus, the longest driver in the game, says his approach shots and putting are pretty good, "But I can't drive at all." He then proceeded to bang out several beautiful drives in the pro-am before rain washed out play Wednesday.

Palmer hadn't played since the Memphis Open two weeks ago.

"When I lay off two days I feel like I've been off two weeks, and I've only played a couple of times since Memphis," Palmer said. "I'm real rusty."

Cornell First In IRA Seedings

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornell's defending champions, California, the pride of the West, and Wisconsin were seeded in that order Wednesday for the two-day Intercollegiate Rowing Association championships on Onondaga Lake, Syracuse, June 19-20.

Because this is an Olympic year, the format for the 62nd IRA has been changed. Instead of rowing once over a three-mile course, the sweepswingers will compete over the Olympic distance of 2,000 meters—about 1¼ miles—with heats on Friday and finals on Saturday.

The change in distance was made to gear the rowers for the Olympic Trials at the Orchard Beach Lagoon in New York, July 8-11, and the Olympics in Tokyo, Oct. 10-24.

Fourteen crews are in the varsity race. They have been split into three heats. The first two in each heat qualify for the six-boat final.

The draw for the varsity heats has Pennsylvania, Syracuse Cornell, Navy and Columbia in the first heat; Rutgers, MIT, California, Dartmouth, and Georgetown in the second heat, and Brown, Washington, Wisconsin and Princeton in the third heat.

The first varsity heat is scheduled to start Friday at 2:20 p.m., EST. The varsity final on Saturday is scheduled for 3 p.m., EST.

BATTING — Orlando Cepeda, Giants, took care of all of San Francisco's runs in 3-0 victory over Pittsburgh, driving them in with a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly.

Drop Gene Fullmer From Ring Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — One former middleweight champion was dropped from the rankings and another was restored in Ring Magazine's boxing ratings for June.

Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, was taken off the list by Nat Fleischer, Ring's editor, because he apparently has retired.

Small Signs With Tigers

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mike Small, 18, left-handed pitching star from St. Anthony High School, signed Wednesday with the Detroit Tigers for what a club official called a "very substantial" bonus.

The Tigers had scouted Small for three years, and 14 other major league baseball clubs had made offers for the 6-foot-4, 200-pound pitcher.

Small reports Thursday to Detroit's Lakeland Farm Club in the Class A Florida State League.

BEST BET —
Valid Hanover (4th)
UPSET CHANCE —
Devon Goose (9th)

1. ROAN FLYER gets the call in a close race. SONNY ADREN and RISQUE figures to be the chief contenders.

2. SUGAR HEIR is consistent but driver is unknown. BONANZA HANOVER always tough from the inside post. SOLICITOR'S KEY doesn't have much.

3. FRANKIE DARES may have needed a race. Closed well. JUNE FIRST and AMBROSE LAD will battle it out for the second spot.

4. VALID HANOVER is an outstanding trotter. Best bet of the night. FRENCH ALGIERS was consistent at the Metropolitan tracks. PETE'S PRIDE is dangerous when on gait. Must fear.

5. RHYTHM MAN has some class. Seems too superior for the others. PANIC faded in the drive to the wire but will get out front once again. YANKEE SIS might be tough if it gets a good driver.

6. ARGO CAN had the last won but broke on the paddock turn. Look out here. SPECTER has speed but is inconsistent. SHADYDALE RHYME in the hands of a good driver.

7. SUCCESS JEAN seems to lay over this classy field. YANKEE MICK went well in debut and must be feared. MR. JOHNYBUTCH is always close.

8. TACTFUL KING has impressive credentials. VICTOR DARES will be tough if Carmen gets the call to ride. DAVE LINER has good post and leaves well.

9. MISTY CHRISTIE always rugged at this oval. DEVON GOOSE was hung for half a mile the last time out. Upset possibility in this one. KNIGHT PLAY is hurt by outside post.

This Ford Is Running Real Nice

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford, said teammate Ralph Terry, wins because "he's got it in three places—here, here and here."

And Terry pointed to his head, his arm and his heart.

The trio allowed Minnesota only four hits Wednesday night, Ford keeping tight rein on the controls as he pitched the New York Yankees to a 3-0 victory and took over the American League lead in shutouts and earned-run average.

Making his 12th start, the 35-year-old left-hander brought his record to 6-1 with his fourth shutout and lowered his ERA to a sparkling 1.53. Ford also is tied for the No. 1 spot in strikeouts with Boston's Dick Radatz. Both have 68.

How does Ford, who had a 24-7 record last year, do it time after time?

Terry says it's the head-arm-heart triple play. He elaborates: "He's got a reason for every pitch. That's something you can say for very few pitchers, but you can say it about Whitey because he thinks out there on the mound. He can set up a hitter beautifully because he's got everything to do the job."

With all that, Ford still was touched for four hits.

Robin Roberts allowed six but rode a four-homer salvo to his fourth victory as the first-place Baltimore Orioles defeated Kansas City 5-1 for their sixth consecutive victory.

White Sox Win

Elsewhere in the AL, Joel Horlen permitted only three hits but needed ninth inning relief help before the Chicago White Sox subdued Cleveland 3-0, Washington belted Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels swept a doubleheader from Boston 2-0 and 9-8.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 11 innings, San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0, St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 7-5 and Milwaukee nipped Cincinnati 3-2. The Houston at New York game was rained out.

Ford, who hasn't lost since opening day, got the only run he needed when Elston Howard slammed a Jim Roland pitch for a homer in the fourth inning. The Yankees then wrapped up their first victory over the Twins in five games with a two-run eighth. Bobby Richardson singled, Tom Tresh doubled, Howard was hit by a pitch and Hector Lopez drove in the runs with a single.

Roberts got more than enough support as Boog Powell hit his 10th and 11th homers and Luis Aparicio and Willie Kirkland each hit one. Powell and Kirkland connected back-to-back in the ninth inning after the A's had scored their only run in the eighth on singles by Wayne Causey and Dick Green and an error by Roberts.

Saved by Reliefer

Horlen, now 3-2, left after John Romano opened the Indians half of the ninth with a double as both Don Mossi and Hoyt Wilhelm came on to preserve the victory. Horlen drove in the White Sox' first run when he grounded out in the second. Al Weis homered in the seventh and Dave Nicholson, who had three hits, wrapped up the scoring with a run-producing single in the eighth.

Robbed of 0-Hitter

Doughtery's 1-Hitter Blanks Lourdes, 5-0

George Doughtery of the Kingston High School Jayvees came within one out of pitching a no-hit, no-run game against our Lady of Lourdes (Poughkeepsie), Wednesday.

The Lourdes nine, 5-0 victims of Doughtery's 13-strikeout pitching, got their lone hit after a Kingston error on a play that would have closed out the game. The next batter, Jack Railing, then slammed a single to ruin Doughtery's bid for the no-hitter.

The Jayvees collected 10 hits off two Lourdes pitchers to wind up a highly successful season with nine victories and one defeat.

Hey, Hey Willie Drops One

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays has dropped another fly ball for an error. Why 10 years ago he did the same thing.

San Francisco's great center fielder made the error Wednesday night, but it was harmless as the Giants blanked Pittsburgh 3-0.

Donn Clendenon was the recipient of Mays' rare generosity with two out in the seventh inning. Mays ran back for Clendenon's fly ball, turned around and waited, ready to eat up the ball with his famous basket catch. His teammates already had started leaving the field when the ball fell into his glove. They came back when the ball fell out.

The last time that happened was on Sept. 9, 1954, in the Polo Grounds against the Chicago Cubs. Ernie Banks was the batter.

Just one inning before the ball got away from Mays for his first error of the season, Mays had trouble getting away from the ball. As a result, he is in the middle of a protest lodged by Pirates' Manager Danny Murtaugh.

A ground ball hit by Willie McCovey in the sixth and called foul by the umpires struck Mays, who was at third base after hitting a triple. Murtaugh contended Mays should have been called out under the rules governing a runner hit by a batted ball.

"It hit him before the ball had a chance to go fair or foul," Murtaugh argued. Umpire Jocko Conlan ruled, however, that Mays was in foul territory and could not be called out for being hit by a foul ball.

While Mays was being hit, Philadelphia was having trouble getting hits but still nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 11 innings. In the other NL games, Milwaukee edged Cincinnati 3-2 and St. Louis defeated Chicago 7-5. Houston at New York was postponed by rain.

In the American League, Chicago blanked Cleveland 3-0, New York did the same to Minnesota, Baltimore whipped Kansas City 5-1, Washington downed Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels beat Boston twice, 2-0 and 9-8.

Allowed to remain at third in the disputed sixth inning, Mays scored minutes later as Orlando Cepeda slammed his fifth home run. Cepeda later drove in Mays with a sacrifice fly.

Ron Herbel limited the Pirates to four hits in winning his third game in four decisions. Pittsburgh starter Vernon Law was struck by a Herbel pitch on the right elbow in the sixth and had to leave the game. Law, however, isn't expected to miss his next pitching turn.

Don Drysdale held the Phillies to three hits until Cookie Rojas opened the 11th with a double. Ron Perranoski relieved Drysdale with one out, walked Johnny Callison purposely, then got a force at second as Rojas moved to third. Rojas scored when Jim Gilliam fumbled Tony Gonzalez' grounder and threw wild to first.

Jim Bunning struck out 11 Dodgers before leaving in the 10th for a pinch hitter. The loss put the Dodgers eight games behind the league-leading Phillies.

Denny Lemaster won his seventh game against two defeats, the sixth. But homers by Lee stopping the Reds on six hits. He struck out 10. One of the hits was Vada Pinson's home run in Maye in the sixth and Denis Menke in the seventh halted the streak.

MONTICELLO, New York, June 3—Heavy favorites, Square Deal and Perfect Knight copped the first two dashes tonight at Monticello Raceway to set up a slim $10.50 daily double pay-off. Lowest DD return at the Sullivan County track since June 3 of last year when numbers 4 and 6 combined for a $10.30 return.

The winning number combination tonight was 2-3.

Howard Beissinger, making his first local start of the season, reined three-year-old Rodney colt, Square Deal, to his first career victory in the time of 2:12.1. Square Deal, owned by Byron D. Kuth of Chesterland, Ohio, caught the pace-setting bowl of flowers in the final 10 yards.

The brown pacing colt was worth mutuels of $4.40, Demep and $2.60 as the 6-5 favorite.

Bobby Camper, sidelined for the past two weeks with a broken ankle, returned to action and piloted Bowl of Flowers home second for $3.50 and $2.60. Gunkahar was the show horse for $2.60.

Perfect Knight, another sophomore pacing colt, cut out a 2:09.4 mile for driver Paige West to win his second of four starts on the season. The 3-5 choice was worth prices of $3.30, $3.20 and $2.50.

Santa Claus Wins English Derby

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Bookies counted the money they lost on Santa Claus' storming victory in the Epsom Derby and looked forward with dread to Friday's Oaks.

Many paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars after Santa Claus won Wednesday's Derby —the 1½-mile classic for 3-year-old colts.

It's the fillies' turns in the Oaks—and the bookies face another gigantic payoff to bettors who succeed in coupling the winners of the two races in doubles.

William Hill, one of Britain's leading bookmakers said "We have a client in Mauritius who stands to win $539,792 if La Baba wins the Oaks.

"He had a 3 pounds—$8.40—accumulator on four horses. Santa Claus was the third of the four."

Scobie Breasley, 50-year-old Australian jockey who rode Santa Claus to victory, explained that he knew he was going to win even before Tattenham Corner, when his horse was near the back of the field of 17.

"He came so well down the hill to the corner that I knew he would win," Breasley said.

Few of the 200,000 crowd guessed that would happen, however. As the horses came into the last 100 yards two American-owned horses, Indiana and Dilettante II, were fighting it out for the lead.

Breasely brought his horse up from nowhere and flashed past the leaders to win by a length.

Indiana' owned by Charles W. Engelhard of New York, was second. Dilettante II, entered by New Yorker Larry Gelb, was third another two lengths behind.

Million Dollar Golfers

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How does a tournament golfer stay hungry after he's banked a million dollars?

Nothing to it, insists the Big Three of the pro circuit—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player. You just have to want to be the best.

"I haven't begun to win what I want to accomplish in this game," said Palmer, the leading money winner of all time and a millionaire a couple of times over.

"When I get satisfied with what I've got and can't get charged up for a tournament any more, I'll quit," said Nicklaus who at 24 already has won all of America's major championships and appears to be just beginning.

"I never think about money, or the size of the purse," added Player, the golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg. "I have one thing only in mind—I want to be the best."

It is this fierce competition and burning ambition to outdo each other that has seared any possible complacency in the three fairway capitalists.

More Than Money

They're no longer just satisfied with collecting money. They're going to start printing it.

They announced that they were joining a New York bank note company (Security Columbian), which specializes in printing bonds and making foreign currency.

Bill Talbert, former Davis Cup tennis captain and firm vice president who conceived the idea of adding these barnstorming golfers to his staff, explained their role this way:

"They will be largely contact men. They play all over the world. They play with the most prominent people. In the course of their activities, they might mention the merits of the company. It could be very lucrative."

Mark McCormack, a young Cleveland attorney who handles the business affairs of all three, said he didn't expect the added responsibilities to dull the players' games or drive.

School Budget Up $540,804; No Rate

budget notes an increase of $23,361.

The maintenance of plant item in the proposed budget for the next school year shows an increase of $7,079, and an increase of $67,306 is listed for the auxiliary agencies item. Fixed charges for 1964-65 show an increase of $115,166 from $895,845 to $1,011,011, and debt service is increased $110,948 from $777,866 to $888,814. Capital outlay for next year shows a decrease of $139,548.

After last night's meeting was opened by Arthur Withall, vice president of the Board of Education, slides were shown with commentary remarks by Warren A. Russell, director of audio visual education in the Kingston school system.

Supervisor James J. Carroll (10th Ward) representing the children of that ward who attend the J. Watson Bailey School, asked the Board members if they had considered transportation for pupils in that section of the district. He reminded the Board that a year ago a request was made and residents were told the matter would be considered when the 1964-65 budget was prepared.

No Change for Busses

Chairman Withall stated that the transportation request had been studied, and the board decided not to change its decision on mileage. Withall stated after further discussion, during which a woman resident contended that some children, residing beyond the two-mile limit, are not provided transportation, that the transportation policy will again be studied after the new board organizes on July 1.

The meeting chairman stated, however, that if any person present last night knows of any child who resides outside the mileage limit, is not receiving transportation to and from school, the individual cases should be brought to the attention of the Board of Education.

During the discussion, a woman remarked, "You shoved consolidation down our throats." Chairman Withall explained that members of the present board were not in office at that time, and he considered the remark unfair to incumbent board members.

Desire Nurses' Program

Discussion then turned to the discontinuance of the practical nurse program in Adult Education, Mrs. Joseph Edwards, representing groups of nursing homes, submitted a petition, urging the Board of Education to reinstate the practical nurse program.

The petition, Mrs. Edwards said, contained signatures of representatives of all nursing homes in the Kingston area.

Chairman Withall stated that he and the other board members are sympathetic to the practical nurse program, and he emphasized that the course had not been "thrown out" or "dropped" permanently. He told the group present that because of the increase in budget items this year, over which the board had little control, it was decided to place a moratorium on the course for one year.

Withall said that board members are not antagonistic toward the nurse program, but because of the matter of dollars and cents, it was felt the program should be discontinued this year.

Withall said that of a class of 18, only three were from Kingston who enrolled in the last practical nurse program. A woman resident questioned that, and said some of those enrolled were taxpayers in the school district, and some others moved into the district while taking the course.

Asks About Using Schools

A woman asked if she and others raised $8,000, which it would have cost the school district for the course, if school facilities could be used for the program. She was told that the facilities could be used, but not operated by the district.

It was noted by a school district spokesman, that the actual cost for the program, without outside aid, would be in the neighborhood of $18,000.

A representative of the Kingston Lions Club stated the club has supported the practical nurse program with scholarships and grants, and it would continue its support if the program is continued.

Points to Next Year

At the conclusion of the discussion, Chairman Withall stated that the Board members would reconsider resuming the nurse program next year, but would make no promises at this time.

Other members of the Board of Education in attendance at last night's meeting were, Mrs. Edith Case Murphy, Sam S. Pepper, David Kline, board president; Francis Stern-Montagny, and Superintendent of Schools Hoover, and Business Manager Roth.

Aberdeen Facing Destiny Day in TyphoidEpidemic

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The number of cases in Aberdeen's typhoid epidemic rose to 318 today, and the city health officer warned the disease may sweep through the British Isles.

During the night, 17 more persons were admitted to hospitals, making a total of 275 confirmed cases and 43 suspected.

Today, said City Health Officer Ian MacQueen, "is the probable dividing line, the day of Aberdeen's destiny."

The incubation period of typhoid is about 15 days and the outbreak was discovered two weeks ago.

MacQueen has blamed the outbreak on a contamined tin of imported corned beef. The government has ordered an inquiry.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the presidential race matches Sen. Barry Goldwater against President Johnson the November election campaign will have few dull moments.

There is some difference of opinion over whether Goldwater's defeat of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in Tuesday's California primary carried the senator over his last big hurdle toward the Republican presidential nomination.

But if Goldwater is nominated at the mid-July convention here, the fireworks probably will start exploding even before the August Democratic convention goes through the formality of nominating the President.

Goldwater, the conservative, would strive to offer "a choice, not an echo," to Johnson's professed liberalism.

The senator described himself to California audiences as "the only Republican who has the ghost of a chance of beating Lyndon Johnson."

Big Victory, He Says

He called the California primary outcome "a victory for the great majority of Republicans across the country who share my belief that Lyndon Baines Johnson can be beaten in 1964 if we Republicans concentrate our fire on him and not on each other."

All signs indicate that Johnson would welcome Goldwater as his opponent. The President, an experienced performer on the stump might even be tempted into a tlevision debate with Goldwater, who has been accused by critics in his own party of firing carelessly from the hip in some statements on major issues.

Because of the limitations on what a president can say publicly, Johnson has not indicated if he will debate his opponent on TV. But Johnson has shown a yen for the kind of crowd hopping and individual handshaking that Goldwater gives every sign of detesting. However, if Goldwater is the Republican nominee, he probably would have to campaign on the supermarket circuit.

Lays Out Pattern

In his California campaign, the senator laid out the pattern of the attack he could be expected to make on Johnson in a general election contest.

Among other things, Goldwater said the administration's foreign policies offered a "path to suicide," that the country faced "another Korea" in South Viet Nam and might lose all of Southeast Asia to the Communists.

"We are following the same path of appeasement that we followed in the 1930s," he said.

The Democrats have been making a book on Goldwater's utterances for several years. Any quotations they might have missed probably were dug up by Rockefeller's researchers and injected into the governor's attack on the senator.

Democratic speakers have only to quote Rockefeller's assertion that Goldwater's call for an end to foreign aid, his opposition to arms control measures and his proposal to quit the United Nations if Red China were admitted add up to a "blueprint for defeat and disaster."

Then there was the matter of civil rights, where Johnson is committed to all-out support of the bill before the Senate and Goldwater is opposed to some of its provisions.

Depending on what the GOP platform has to say on the issue, a Goldwater-Johnson contest could have wide repercussions in the South. There the Democratic President probably would get a run for his money from a senator long the favorite of Southern Republicans.

Illia Rations Meat

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Striving to ease a beef shortage in beef-producing Argentina, President Arturo Illia has ordered meat rationing and strict control of exports.

Illia signed decrees Wednesday banning beef sales two days a week throughout the nation where it is the staple diet. He also set price ceilings on beef and imposed a sliding tariff on beef exports.

Two years of drought have drastically reduced Argentina's herds. A beef shortage in Europe has boomed exports, sending prices soaring on the home market.

Counsel Sees No Need to Revise Law on Loyalty

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The top law official of the Education Department sees no need for revising New York State's Feinberg Law, a plan for keeping subversives out of public schools and colleges.

Charles A. Brind, counsel to the Board of Regents, commented Wednesday in the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court decision that struck down loyalty oaths the State of Washington had required of its employes and teachers.

The Feinberg Law prohibits anyone who is a member of the Communist Party from gaining employment in public school districts or in the State University.

Local school districts may establish their own procedures for determining whether a prospective teacher is a Communist, under the law.

In the State University, prospective employes are required to sign a statement that they are not presently Communists, or, if they have been, that they have notified the State University.

Brind said the nation's highest court had found the Washington State loyalty oath to be too vague.

In that oath, a state employe had to swear he was not a subversive. A subversive was defined as one who had advocated or taught another "by any means" to commit any act to overthrow "or alter the constitutional form of the national or state governments.

There is nothing vague about New York's law—that a person who is a member of the Communist party is barred from educational employment, Brind said.

It follows that the employing unit of government has a right to inquire as to whether a prospective employe is a Communist, Brind said.

SHAKY WORLD—Superimposed over a map of the world are the earthquake belts, those areas where earthquakes are most likely to occur. This map was evolved through the years largely through the efforts of men such as F. de Montesseu de Ballore who plotted some 160,000 earthquakes on a map and arrived at a configuration similar to that of the newsmap above. Earthquakes happen in these areas because of a sharp fracture or break in the earth's crust along these broad lines.

3 Persons Hurt In Uptown Crash

Three persons were injured in a two car mishap at Pearl and Green Streets this morning.

One car was driven by Mrs. Mary E. O'Neill, 74, of 85 Abeel Street, who was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for a laceration of the left leg.

The other car was operated by Sidney W. Tabakman, 44, of 47 Catskill Avenhue. He and Gertrude Tabakman were admitted at the Benedictine Hospital for treatment of back injuries and were reported in fair condition this afternoon.

Police said a car owned by Pat Hasset, of Route 4, Box 288-J, Kingston, and parked at the scene was damaged. The other cars were towed from the scene. The injured were taken to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance.

Officers Charles Diers and Lewis Keator investigated.

tee of approximately 30 public spirited county leaders has been enlisted. These people are dedicated to the goal and are committed to providing the voluntary time and effort required to insure the project's success. The committee, presently in the process of incorporation, wants to be autonomous, objective, and free of vested interest.

$12,000 Needed for Survey

The committees next task is to raise $12,000, the estimated amount required for financing the survey. Contributions will be sought from many community leaders and representative groups. It is intended that financial support of the project will give evidence of support for the survey and concern for community improvement.

After adequate funds have been pledged, the Citizens Survey Committee will negotiate with the Institute of Community Studies in New York City, the professional group being considered for the technical aspects of the survey. The institute can provide experts in the fields of health, welfare, and recreation. These consultants may be from universities, research organizations, or outstanding agencies.

Following the completion of the survey, which may require more than a year, constructive recommendations should have been adopted and be in the process of implementation since voluntary and governmental agencies will have participated. Survey recommendations will be published and be made available to the public.

The survey, Hense insists, is a cooperative venture. The Citizens Survey Committee is responsible for the conduct of the effort. The Institute of Community Studies can coordinate the effort and provide consultants. The consultants or survey team submit data and recommendations to the Citizens Committee. The agencies, in cooperation with the survey team, conduct a self-study and analysis of their programs and services.

The survey team will submit its findings to the Citizens Committee who shall have final responsibility for the recommendations . . . after adequate consultation with agencies, citizen leaders, and the professional consultants.

Unknown at Time

Mayor Schwenk said the legal problem involves clearance of title on some land needed for the project, and noted that the money was not in the budget because the problem of transference of title was unknown when the budget was prepared.

Donald P. Tucker (R) Fourth Ward, filed a request asking the Board of Public Works "to investigate the lighting system in the North Rondout section of the Fourth Ward. Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward, reported an "antiquated" street light problem in his ward, Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, complained of lack of action on requests for lights in his ward, and Anthony J. Alecca (R) Fifth Ward, said drivers, including truckmen, were disregarding the "blinker" traffic signal at lower Delaware Avenue.

Council Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, felt there was "quite a bit of money for lights, and it should be used." Howard asked Machione, finance committee chairman, in effect, if that was not so. Machione indicated he could not say at the time, but said there were light problems in his ward on Quarry Street, near the J. Watson Bailey School, including one dealing with traffic, and added that the finance committee was due to "look at quite a few things" in the near future.

Tucker reported that many of the street lights in the North Rondout sector "are inadequate due to their early installation." He asked for new lights, especially along wooded sections.

Sends One to Hospital

In his ward also, Tucker said, especially along Fourth Avenue, the growth of poison ivy has been noted. He hoped that "the BPW can find means to remedy the menace." Right now, he reported, "there is a resident of the section in the Benedictine Hospital suffering from a severe case of poison ivy."

Tucker also asked for some type of repair of Hooker and Rock Streets, Second and Third Avenues, which are used by city trucks to and from the city refuse disposal area.

Upon Tucker's motion the meeting adjourned in the memory of the late William Houghtaling Sr., former Fourth Ward alderman, who died recently. He had served in the Common Council more than 20 years ago.

Proposes Association

Alderman Raymond Armater (R) 11th Ward proposed organizing a Kingston City Aldermen Association. He suggested naming a committee to discuss the proposal, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., named Armater as chairman, plus aldermen. Gallo, Tucker, Alecca and Leonard VanLyke of the Sixth Ward.

"All members of the Common Council, past, present, and future," Armater proposed, "would be automatic members of the association. The general purpose of this group would be to act as an advisory board to the mayor, alderman-at-large, the Common Council, and other areas of city government. The group might, from its combined experience, suggest legislation for Common Council consideration.

Points to Scholarships

"Perhaps it might, through the sponsoring of athletic events between the aldermen and the police and/or firemen, raise funds with which to provide scholarships for young students majoring in civics or political science."

The group, if formed, he said, "would act only in the improvement and welfare of our progressive city, and to stimulate the interest of our city's youth in the needs of good government."

Carroll, noting an attempt to form such an association in recent years, said: "I hope this doesn't die by the wayside."

A request by Police Chief Robert F. Murphy for transfer of $1,225 from the personal services to the department equipment account, was left with the finance committee. The money would be used for purchase of a Cushman truckster, a vehicle the department uses in enforcing laws.

Left with the finance and laws and rules committees was a request by Corporation Counsel Harry Gold asking the hiring of special counsel to handle a legal proceeding recently instituted. It involves review of assessment on property at 661 Broadway acquired by Joseph D. Scholar. Gold noted that other counsel should represent the city, because he was counsel for Scholar when the latter bought the property.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices early this afternoon slid lazily below the "floor" of a trading range which has supported them for nearly three months.

Trading was only a bit more lively than Wednesday's slow pace, the most sluggish of 1964.

Most losses of key stocks were fractional and a good many were unchanged. Here and there, however, a pivotal issue fell a point or more, dragging down the averages.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 2.88 to 808.91. This violated the April 30 intermedite low of 810.77 from which the list rallied.

Motors, steels, airlines, electrical equipments, retails, oils and rails were among the losing groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 303.6 with industrials down .5, rails down .6 and utilities up .2.

The popular averages were dampened by such losses as Du Pont, off about 2; International Harvester and Chesapeake & Ohio, off more than a point, and General Motors, U.S. Steel, Jersey Standard, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, General Electric, Eastman Kodak and American Smelting, all down fractions.

Among more volatile stocks, IBM lost 5, Control Data 2 and U.S. Smelting 1.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

On May 11, he said, "a meeting was called at the mayor's office by the mayor and Mrs. John Lucci," with residents from the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards attending. It was then noted by the mayor, Alecca said, that property involved was not owned by the city and that notice would be sent to owners concerning installation of sidewalks.

Alecca said he was supposed to receive a copy of the letter sent to the New York corporation, and also a copy of any answer received.

"Up to this date," he said, "I have not received any word of what is to take place by this corporation." The alderman said he had received verification of ownership from the assessor's office, and asked: "What I and many others in the Fifth Ward want to know is why the city took care of the maintenance of this sidewalk (there is some sidewalk in the area) both winter and summer, and now all of a sudden we are told it is not city property."

It was learned today that city officials in the past thought some of the area involved was city owned.

Alecca also said he is interested in learning the extent of Knaust Brothers property involved.

The alderman said he talked of the problem at his first meeting in January and introduced a resolution in February, and after five months "we are told it is not city property and nothing can be done about it until further notice." It appeared to him, he said, that "no one seems to care" about the "safety of children going to and coming from schools. Maybe after someone gets hurt or killed in this area, action might be taken, but as long as I am alderman and supposed to represent the people in the Fifth Ward, and others, I will fight 'till some action is being taken."

The sidewalk situation near the new school is similar to that which existed at the time the Sophie G. Finn School on Mary's Avenue was being built. Installation of curbing and sidewalks in the area of that school began some time after it opened.

The letter of sympathy went to Mrs. Ida Marie Worthington, of 34 Murray Street, whose three-year-old son, Romain Edward Worthington, died at Kingston Hospital, some 12 hours after he was found under a clump of papers in a second-floor bathroom at 50 Meadow Street, and was rescued by the firemen from the burning building.

The mayor wrote to each volunteer:

"It has come to my attention that you were one of the volunteer firemen, whose efforts brought about the rescue of Romain Worthington at the Meadow Street fire last Saturday.

"We all join in sorrow that the youngster did not survive the ordeal, and express our deep sympathy to the family.

"However, your bravery in responding to this high call of duty, should not go unnoticed. May I, therefore, personally, and as Mayor of Kingston, express sincere appreciation and commendation for your unstinting devotion in upholding the highest tradition of the fire service."

Must Sell Good Stocks To Pay Hospital Bills

Q) "A relative of mine is in a psychiatric hospital. She has the following stocks which must be sold within the next few years to provide for her care: 510 General Telephone & Electronics, 50 Niagara Mohawk Power, 100 Public Service Electric & Gas. In what order would you propose that they be sold?" M.C.

A) That's a rather tall order, but I'll do my best to answer, since I have the deepest sympathy for anyone in your relative's position.

I'll have to assume that the market position of the three stocks will be relatively the same as now. On that assumption, and despite the fact that it is her finest growth issue, I'm going to suggest that you start whittling away at General Telephone, simply because it yields only 2.5 per cent.

The other two are a toss-up, but I would be inclined to sell Niagara Mohawk before disposing of stronger Public Service Electric & Gas.

Q) "I would appreciate your comments on the merits of no-load mutual funds and funds that charge a sales commission. When I inquire about a no-load fund, I am told that they 'do not do as well' as those that carry a sales charge. Is this correct?" M.E.

A) Like some other statements made in investment circles, that about no-load funds is only partially correct.

A goody proportion of no-load funds are balanced—that is, they maintain a position in bonds and preferred stocks which provide stability but slow down growth. Nevertheless, it was recently reported by Kalb-Voorhis & Company that of the older funds, Penn Square Mutual made the best showing for the 12 months ended April 30, with a share value percentage gain of 39.5. It was fifth in performance over the past 5 ¼ years. Penn Square Mutual Fund, 451 Penn Square, Reading, Pa., is a no-load fund. (Copyright 1964, General Features Corp.)

speech, Johnson also took indirect issue with Nixon. Without mentioning names he scoffed at those who had labeled his anti-poverty program "a cruel hoax."

That phrase had been used by Nixon a week earlier.

Enjoys Poking Fun

On other occasions, the President has found apparent enjoyment in making fun of Nixon—particularly after the former vice president returned from a globe circling tour on behalf of the Pepsi-Cola Co. Johnson was quick to suggest that Nixon doubtless had been so busy fostering the best interests of the company that it was doubtful he had really gained much information during visits to such places as Saigon.

Goldwater has been Johnson's target more often than Nixon, however — even in impromptu remarks.

On one occasion, the President made light of a Republican-inspired campaign to collect pennies to pay the White House light bill. He said Goldwater had outdone most Republicans by contributing a whole nickel, "a wooden nickel."

Red Prince Again Demands Ouster of Laos Coupe Leaders

TOKYO (AP) — Red Prince Souphanouvong insisted again today that he will agree to peace talks only if Premier Souvanna Phouma throws out leaders of the rightist coup of April 19 and restores the Communist Pathet Lao to its former role in the Laotian coalition government.

The New China News Agency said the Pathet Lao leader listed these conditions for talks with the neutralist premier:

Dissolution of the revolutionary committee which staged the rightwing military coup April 19.

Severe punishment of the coup leaders.

Restoration of the situation to the status quo before the coup.

Souvanna agreed Wednesday to Souphanouvong's request that he arrange for the departure of the last two remaining Pathet Lao government officials and their 100-man bodyguard from Vientiane.

Souvanna notified Souphanouvong, who is his half-brother, that he would ask the International Control Commission to arrange to fly the Pathet Lao party to Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, "in the shortest possible time."

Gen. Kong Le, commander of Souvanna's neutralist army, conferred in Vientiane today with the chief of staff of the rightwing army, Gen. Ouane Rattikone.

Family Court Role Outlined By Guest Speaker

Hugh R. Elwyn, judge of the Family Court, was the guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Ulster County School Nurse Teacher's Association held at the Skytop Restaurant Wednesday.

Judge Elwyn outlined some of the more important areas which the Family Court covers. Some of these are the Neglected Child; or a child lacking proper food, clothing, shelter, medical attention, or moral guidance; the Juvenile Delinquent, who is a child under 16 years who has committed what would be considered a crime if the act were done by an adult.

Another area discussed is a Person in Need of Supervision which is a boy under 16 years or girl under 18 years, who is an habitual truant, incorrigible, ungovernable, or habitually disobedient, or beyond lawful control or lawful authority.

Judge Elwyn pointed out that one of the newest facets of this court is the Medical Rehabilitation program which is specially designed to help the physically handicapped child. An interview with the family is done by a social worker at the Family Court rather than the Welfare Agency.

Judge Elwyn described the hearing for a youthful offender. The charge is explained to the child. The child is then advised that he may remain silent about the charge. He is then given the right to obtain council and of this is not done the court may appoint a law guardian. The second part of the hearing is the disposition of the case.

One of the most outstanding points made by Judge Elwyn was that most of these offenders have never been affiliated with any religion and that they usually come from broken homes or homes where there is some type of neglect by at least one parent.

In his talk Judge Elwyn compared the New York State Theory of the Family Court Act to the theory quoted in April '64, Reader's Digest by a judge in the state of Montana. He explained that the New York State Theory was not to punish the child but to rehabilitate him versus Montana which feels that punishment is the answer.

In closing Judge Elwyn said that much work is needed in this area. There are no simple answers in solving these problems.

Miners Perish In Utah Cave-in

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP)—Two veteran miners died Wednesday in a rock cave-in deep inside a central Utah coal mine.

A third escaped unhurt, but four rescuers suffered minor injuries in a second rockfall as they tried to remove the two victim's bodies.

"I was smacked by some rock and coal," said Paul Pero, 55, of Price, Utah, who survived the cave-in. "I heard Marzo say: 'Let's get the hell out of here.'"

Morris Marzo, 47, also of Price, and Leland Huntsman, 49, of Castle Dale, Utah, were identified by company officials as victims.

Pero said he and the other two miners had just begun their shift when the cave-in hit. "I started crawling away," he said. "I looked back. I couldn't see anything, but dust and debris. I just kept crawling away."

Rescuers worked six hours—much of the time by hand—removing rocks and debris that fell on the bodies in the 1,500-foot deep mine shaft.

British Seize 6 Cubans, Two U. S. Photographers

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Identity of six Cubans arrested along with two American photographers by British authorities who seized their boat and arms remained a mystery today.

Police Commissioner Nigel Morris said the eight would be arraigned on illegal entry charges.

Rumors flew from Nassau to New York that anti-Castro leader Manuel Ray, whose recent whereabouts have been a mystery, was one of those held. But Andrew St. George of New York, free lance news photographer, one of those held, told newsmen Ray was not among them.

The other American held was identified as Mirta Barras.

Five of the group, authorities said, were arrested aboard a 30-foot boat after a 14 mile chase from Anguilla Cay. The other three, they said, were taken on land on that Bahamas island, 30 miles north of Cuba.

Keeps Up Jabbing Goldwater, Nixon

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater in California's Republican presidential primary seems to have pleased at least one Democrat —President Johnson.

The chief executive hasn't reacted directly to Goldwater's narrow win over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. However, a couple of straws in the wind, as it were, seemed to point up the response in the administration camp.

1. Johnson aides, who normally mirror the President's attitudes, declined today to reject suggestions that Goldwater's triumph was pleasing to them. Quite the contrary, they beamed.

2. The President himself took another indirect swipe at Goldwater—something he obviously delights in doing—in a speech Wednesday at New London, Conn. Many observers saw this as further evidence that Johnson would relish an autumn encounter with the Arizona senator.

Recognized by Kennedy

Before he was assassinated, President John F. Kennedy left little doubt that he wanted Goldwater as his 1964 opponent. He obviously felt he could fare best campaigning against someone who could be counted on to offer voters a sharp alternative to Kennedy policies.

Johnson lieutenants, in private conversations, seemed to leave little or no doubt that the new President, too, would delight in campaigning against Goldwater.

And perhaps the most convincing evidence of this can be found in Johnson's own public remarks.

During the past six months, Johnson has said little or nothing that has been critical, even directly, of such potential Republican opponents as Rockefeller, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Henry Cabot Lodge or Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In fact, the President has heaped praise on Lodge, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon.

Hits Nixon, Goldwater

Two Republicans have been placed by Johnson in a somewhat different category. They are Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president, and Goldwater.

In itself, this suggests that Johnson considers Goldwater and Nixon the most promising targets.

In New London Wednesday, Johnson said the United States must have varied strength to meet varied dangers.

Gives His Theory

"The response must suit the threat. Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons, display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race."

Goldwater had recently discussed the possible use of low-yield nuclear weapons to strip the leaves from jungle trees in Viet Nam so Communist guerrillas coild be exposed from the air.

And Johnson's statement was reminiscent of those he has made on half a dozen public occaslons when he has jibed at Goldwater's suggestion that the United States should have sent Marines to Cuba when water for the Guantanamo Naval Base was cut off.

Keeps Jabbing

On several occasions, the President has suggested that Goldwater's proposed response to the water cutoff was most unsuitable to the threat. Johnson has said he found it much wiser to send one admiral to shut the water off by cutting the pipeline than to send in Marines to turn the water on.

A month ago, in Knoxville, Tenn., Johnson jabbed Goldwater on a different front. Talking about 1936 opponents of the Social Security program, the President said, "If those men had had their way, the 'or sale' sign would be on TVA this very hour."

Goldwater had once suggested a "for sale" sign for the Tennesssee Valley Authority.

In that same Knoxville

Must Start Sidewalk Job On Delaware Ave. Aug. 1

Residents in the area of the John F. Kennedy School now being built in the Fifth Ward, are concerned with a sidewalk problem, an alderman emphasized at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting, but Mayor John J. Swenk indicated today that it will be solved.

Alderman Anthony J. Alecca (R) Fifth Ward, complained of lack of definite information concerning requested repair of sidewalks along lower Delaware Avenue.

The Board of Public Works voted recently to notify the 100-Acres Corp., of New York, owner of most of the property involved to install sidewalks. The property, it was noted, extends from 280 to 420 Delaware Avenue. The letter of notice was sent in care of Robert E. Fabor & Co., 370 Seventh Avenue, New York. The BPW also voted to notify Knaust Brothers area mushroom producers, owners of several hundred feet, to install sidewalks.

Aug. 1 was fixed as the deadline for installation by property owners, Mayor Schwenk noted, and if no action is taken by that time, the city is empowered to install the sidewalks and assess the property owners.

Alecca said he understood that City Engineer Thomas J. Wickman had received notice concerning the sidewalk problem, but he, Alecca, had not been informed as to its content.

Wickman told a reporter that he had received no written notice, but indirectly the city had been "put on notice" to the effect that the New York corporation was agreeable to having the city install the sidewalks on an assessment basis.

Alderman Alecca, noting that the school was due to open in the fall, said he had tried several times "to get some repair work done on a very dangerous sidewalk on Delaware Avenue from Abruyn Street to Gross Street where children will have

Dictates Changes In Both Parties

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A reshuffle in the power structure of California's volatile politics shapes up in the aftermath of Tuesday's primary election.

Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, close as it was, put conservative Republicans in position to complete their takeover of the state GOP.

Faces Challenge

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Democratic elements who backed State Controller Alan Cranston in the U.S. Senate race faced a challenge by the successful forces behind the winner of the Democratic nomination, Pierre Salinger.

The post - election motto in both parties was "united front." Prospects for achieving it, however, were uncertain.

Goldwater upset not only the pollsters but California's middle-of-the road voting pattern in defeating Rockefeller, who styled himself a moderate and the Arizona senator an extremist.

Goldwater won by 59,433 on the basis of unofficial returns from all but two of the 32,861 precincts. He carried only 14 of 58 counties—but nine that went to him were in the big population area of Southern California.

The Associated Press totals: Goldwater 1,091,291; Rockefeller 1,031,858.

Best in Los Angeles

Goldwater made his most effective showing in Los Angeles County, where he outpolled Rockefeller by enough—158,150—to offset the governor's Northern California strength. A margin of nearly 50,000 in Orange County also contributed importantly.

Early moves are expected by Goldwater supporters to solidify what they can cite as an election mandate for the conservative cause.

There's little doubt that the Republican State Central Committee, only major party organization still not controlled by the Goldwater camp, will name a Goldwater backer as state chairman Aug. 1. He is Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of La Jolla, now vice chairman.

In addition, under state law, the 86-member Goldwater delegal Convention will select California's two GOP national committeemen for the next four years. They'll replace Joseph Martin Jr., of San Francisco, who supported Rockefeller, and Patricia Hitt of Orange, who was neutral in the presidential primary.

On the Democratic side, party chiefs acted quickly to mend the fences knocked down in the blistering Senate contest between Salinger and Cranston.

Pledging to support Salinger, Gov. Brown said Wednesday, "We expect to present a united front in November from the top to the bottom of the ticket."

No Action Tonight By Board

Nurse Program Is Discussed, Buses

Approximately 30 persons attended a public meeting Wednesday night at the George Washington School to discuss and hear details of the proposed $7,334,254 Kingston School District (Consolidated) budget for 1964-65.

The proposed budget shows an increase of $540,804 over the 1963-64 budget of $6,793,450.

During the session presided over by Arthur Withall, vice president of the Board of Education and chairman of the finance committee, requests were made for continuance of the practical nurse program — which has been eliminated for at least one year, and a change in transportation policy to provide bus service for pupils residing in the 10th Ward to the J. Watson Bailey School.

Must Wait for Rolls

Although no figures were available as to the amount of increase in the school district tax rate for 1964-65 it was explained by Richard Roth, business manager of the school district, that the tax rate cannot be computed until assessment rolls are received about August 15, and equalization rates are fixed.

The 1963-64 school tax rate in Kingston was $39.45 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. There evidently is no doubt that the rate will be increased because of the $540,804 increase in the proposed budget compared with the budget which the school system will operate on until June 30.

No Budget Action Tonight

The Board of Education will meet in regular session at 8:30 p. m. today at the George Washington School, but final adoption of the 1964-65 budget will not be acted on until a special meeting later this month.

In a statement by the Board of Education published in a budget brochure — which appears for the last time in its present format—the board said:

"In weighing each of the items in the proposed budget, the Board recognized fully its two-fold commitment to insure quality education for our students, and to keep the costs to the taxpayers as low as possible.

Where Most Goes

The Board noted that the $540,804 increase in next year's proposed budget is approximately 7 per cent over the 1963-64 budget. Instructional services, fixed charges and debt service account for 79 per cent of the total budget. Salary adjustments required to maintain the present quality of staff, mandated retirement payments, and increased amortization of bonds plus interest are the factors contributing most heavily to the rise, the Board noted.

It was noted that this is the last year a budget brochure (copies of which are available at the office of Superintendent of Schools W. Wendell Hoover, 67 Wall Street) will appear in its present format. As of July 1, the State Department of Audit and Control will require all public school districts to adopt a double-entry bookkeeping system based on a standard code of accounts.

Listed by Categories

The 1964-65 proposed budget, listing each category and the percentage allotted to each follows:

General control — $128,580 — two per cent; Instructional—$3,884,380—53 per cent; Operation of plant—$493,582—seven per cent; Maintenance of plant—$177,379—two per cent; Auxiliary agencies — $587,970 — eight per cent; Fixed charges — $1,011,011—14 per cent; Debt service—$888,814—12 per cent; Capital outlay—$111,538—1.5 per cent; Contingent fund—$50,000—.5 per cent.

Estimated receipts—Tax levy — $3,679,331 — 50.2 per cent; State aid — $3,332,423 — 45.4 per cent; Tuition—$26,000—.3 per cent; Miscellaneous—$296,500—4.1 per cent.

Capital Outlay Decrease

The General control item for 1964-65 shows a decrease of $3,163 compared with the 1963-64 appropriation. An increase of $352,450 is shown in the tentative appropriation for instructional services including special schools and the plant operation item in the 1964-65 tentative

$660,000 Water Bid Is For Committee Study

Payment of $1,000 to meet "legal obstacles" in acquiring Kingston Point beach land, needed as part of a proposed park development, was approved by the Common Council Tuesday night when the aldermen also noted several requests for improved street lighting, heard of a poison ivy problem, and were asked to consider forming a Kingston City Aldermen Association.

A recently announced request by the water department for approval of $660,000 in bonds for improvement of the city's water system was left with the finance committee. Proposed main-line, and other alterations, would improve water service plus fire protection, in several city areas, and the program would modernize the department's 65-year-old filter plant.

Council Majority Leader John Machione (R) 12th Ward, with the other aldermen, voted for the $1,000 for the proposed federally and state aided Kingston Point project, but questioned the procedure of transferring the money from the engineering to the recreation department, as proposed by Mayor John J. Schwenk in his letter to the aldermen.

To Pay on Beach

Mayor Schwenk asked transfer of the money from the "Personal Service Account of the Engineering Department" to the "Recreation Department Municipal Beach, Other Expenses Account."

The sum, he noted, "is from the money appropriated for the position of engineering draftsman, and not filled yet."

The $1,000, the mayor wrote, "is requested as a payment under a contract with the Hutton Co., for the use and purchase of the Kingston Point Bathing Beach, which is part of the proposed Kingston Point Park, which the city is in the process of acquiring with the assistance of state and federal funds."

The mayor noted that "several legal obstacles have prevented the acquisition of the various parcels, and for that reason the sum heretofore is requested at this time."

Machione said he felt that the city engineering department, with its present problems, could use the money, which the mayor requested transferred, and that the money for the proposed Kingston Point Park project

To Survey County for Saving On Health, Welfare Programs

Establishment of a newly-formed Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County was officially announced today by Clifford A. Henze, president. "Because of the exploding growth in our county and the increasing needs of the various agencies serving the county an objective and constructive survey seems needed at this time," Henze said.

As a result of the findings and recommendations useful guidelines for the future development of Ulster County's health, welfare and recreation services can be determined. Most important, says Henze, the total endeavor can demonstrate that citizen participation can work.

List of Members

As a county-wide organization the Survey Committee is composed of the following persons: Clifford A. Henze, Arthur W. Buddenhagen, Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, Mrs. William J. Cranston, Kenneth Davenport, Robert E. Davis, Dr. Herbert Derman, Dr. Theodore S. Drachman, Arthur B. Ewig, Sam D. Greenspan, Everette Hodge, Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb Sr., George V. D. Hutton, Richard M. Kalish, John B. Lebherz, Jay A. LeFevre Jr., Amos R. Newcombe, Donald C. Parker, Mrs. Frank Prior, Charles E. Raible, Alfred D. Ronder, Robert S. Russell, Mayor John J. Schwenk, William R. Stall, Albert Kurdt, George Svirsky, Richard J. Whalen, Walter G. Williams, Elmore C. Yallum.

Officers Elected

At its June 2 meeting, the Nominating Committee proposed a slate of officers. As a result Clifford A. Henze was elected president; Dr. Herbert Derman, vice president; Mrs. William J. Cranston, secretary, and John Lebherz, treasurer. The slate, proposed by the Nominating Committee composed of Alfred D. Ronder, chairman; Richard J. Whalen; and Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., was unanimously elected by the Citizens Committee.

"The Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County," says Henze, "came into being because of the impact of population growth on our health, welfare, and recreation services. Since 1930, county population has gone from 82,000 to an estimated 128,000 persons today. It is estimated that well over 50 separate health, welfare, and recreation agencies exist now to provide services to this growing population."

The services, voluntary or tax supported, may be categorized as child welfare, family, health, institutional, correctional, mental health, rehabilitation, and senior citizen.

To meet these needs it is estimated that voluntary agencies in Ulster County are spending in excess of a half million dollars annually. The budget for the City of Kingston provides for close to $550,000 to provide some of these services. County government is spending annually at least three and a half million dollars to provide these services.

According to Henze, "The fundamental conviction of the Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County is that as citizens working together we can evaluate where we are and where we are going and improve our pattern of services to meet needs effectively and economically."

To accomplish this, a commit-

Demonstrations Continue

Cabinet May Extend Decree to All of Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Students staged antigovernment demonstrations in four Korean provincial cities today and President Chung Hee Park's Cabinet threatened to place the entire country under martial law.

Many Reported Injured

More than 6,000 students overrann police lines in a rock-throwing riot in Kwangju, 150 miles south of Seoul. Police tried to scatter the students with tear gas, but they squatted in front of the provincial government building and shouted for Park's resignation and the lifting of martial law in Seoul.

Many students and policemen were reported injured.

Less violent demonstrations broke out in Inchon, Pusan and Chunchon. More than 2,000 high school and college students were involved.

Heavy troop reinforcements kept Seoul quiet, enforcing martial law proclaimed by Park in the capital after 30,000 students and adults rioted Wednesday. More than 600 police and demonstrators were injured and 91 persons were arrested.

After an emergency Cabinet meeting today, a Cabinet spokesman said martial law would be extended to the rest of the country if the demonstrations continued.

Troops Patrol Streets

Dust-covered trucks moved troops into the capital during the night. Troops with fixed bayonets patrolled major streets.

Gen. Min Ki-shik, chief of staff of South Korea's 600,000-man army, took personal command of the city under the military decree.

The outburst in Seoul Wednesday was by far the most serious challenge to Park's regime.

At first, the students demanded cancellation of talks with Korea's ancient enemy, Japan, aimed at restoring diplomatic and commercial relations. But in the past month the protests have broadened to complaints of police rule, dictatorship, official corruption, inflation and unemployment.

Margin Narrowed To 37 in Kerr, Narel Balloting

Complete unofficial returns in the Democratic contest for State Committeewoman from Ulster County indicates the contest between Committeewoman Harriet Allen Kerr of New Paltz and Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel of West Hurley was won by Mrs. Kerr by only 37 votes.

Unofficial figures give Mrs. Kerr 1511 votes and Mrs. Narel 1474. Mrs. Narel was not available today for comment but it was reported on good authority that the closeness of the vote might mean a recount. Use of the unfamiliar paper ballot in the Ulster County primary was confusing to many voters and there were many void or spoiled ballots throughout the county.

Grateful for Support

In a statement issued today by Mrs. Kerr from her New Paltz residence she expressed her thanks to the enrolled Democrats who worked for her and to

Pravda Hints Thoughts About Split With China

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda indicated today that the Kremlin may be thinking of formally severing ties between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and China.

"The threat of a split is a reality which the world Communist movement must reckon with," said an article in the party newspaper.

"Marxist-Leninists do not want a split, but unity cannot be attained through concessions on matters of principle, nor does it come by itself."

It was one of the strongest Soviet statements yet on the Moscow-Peking feud. But Western diplomats in Moscow do not believe a break in party relations would mean a break in relations between the Soviet and Chinese governments. The diplomats believe the Soviets want to keep some lines of communication open.

The article said a split between the Soviet and Chinese parties would "seriously weaken the struggle of the world Communist movement against imperialism."

The article urged convocation of a world Communist meeting and said the "majority of the Communist parties in all regions of the world is going on record for its early convocation."

Lauds 2 Firemen, Consoles Mother Of Child Victim

Mayor John J. Schwenk sent letters of commendation Wednesday to the two volunteer firemen who rescued a child from a Meadow Street fire May 29, and one of condolence to the child's mother.

Commended were: Donald Matthews, of 102 Abruyn Street, a member of Union Hose Company and John A. Cook, of 200

9 Local School Students Take Science Awards

At the fifth annual science fair sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, children from the Kingston Consolidated School District took nine prizes. The science fair is held annually in the month of May at the State University in New Paltz.

Twenty-one exhibits were entered by children from the Kingston School District. The children represented various schools of the area.

The children were accompanied by Mrs. Betty Travis of Chambers School, Mrs. Barbara Lasher of Hurley and Thomas Guerriero, elementary supervisor. The children and the exhibits boarded a specially chartered bus and traveled to New Paltz. At New Paltz the children had reserved for them in advance special places to show their exhibits. Also on these reserved places was a certificate made out to the child for entering an exhibit.

The judging began at 10 o'clock. Each child was questioned about his specific exhibit. The judges were selected primarily from industry throughout the area. There were judges from Texaco, IBM, DuPont and General Electric. While the children waited to be judged there were excellent shows performed in the school auditorium featuring the U. S. Air Force. The judging was over at about 2 o'clock and starting at 3 o'clock awards were given.

In the fourth grade, Patricia Matthews of Brigham School won an honorable mention with a project called 100 Power Microscope.

Kathryn Brutsman of School 7, won a third prize with her Tree of Science.

There were two fifth grade awards — Roxanne Young of Lake Katrine won a second prize with a project called Crystal Growing and Daniel Guzewich of School 7 won an honorable mention with a project called Ice Glazier That Covered New York State.

In the sixth grade, there were three prizes shared by four young people.

From Lake Katrine, Frank Richardson won honorable mention with his Electric Thermopile and Ellen Skatrud and Antoinette Mezzacappa shared an honorable mention with their project, Sound in Music.

In the sixth grade also, Bruce Nussbaum, of School 7, won an honorable mention with a project called Growth of Bacteria.

Can't See Coast Primary Block to Stopping Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders bent on passing the civil rights bill brushed aside today suggestions their chances of cutting off the debate had been hurt by the California primary or a tactical maneuver of Southern opponents.

At the same time Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, removed himself from the ranks of the uncommitted and announced he will vote next Tuesday—the day set for a showdown—to put the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule into effect.

A two-thirds majority will be required, or 67 votes if all 100 senators vote, to halt a Southern filibuster against the bill by clamping a tight limit on further debate, now in its 70th day.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said they have no intention of being deflected from the course set earlier in the week to wind up the debate and pass the bill.

They discounted reports that the refusal of Senate leaders to accept an offer from the Dixie contingent to vote on several amndments this week had hurt their chances of mustering the necessary margin for cloture.

Humphrey and Dirksen also said the victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in California's presidential primary, would have no effect on the drive to limit debate despite Goldwater's stand against invoking cloture.

Referring to Goldwater's defeat of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Humphrey said the vote in California "hurt Rockefeller, not cloture."

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern senators battling the civil rights bill, said he thought Goldwater's victory might cause some senators to change their minds and "vote against gag rule."

The offer of the Southern forces after a caucus two days ago to start voting on amendments marked a switch in strategy in an apparent effort to head off a limitation on debate.

One year ago — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and seven others were indicted in Chicago on charges of having fraudulently obtained $20 million in loans from a Teamsters Union pension plan.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Figures don't lie. But it's how you interpret them that reveals whether you're an optimist, a pessimist, or just cautious. And in an election year the difference becomes sharper.

Three Interpretations

If you're an optimist you can say that from Jan. 1 to May 31 U. S. gold stocks rose by $97 million. If you're a pessimist you can do a little figuring on your fingers and say that means that in May the United States must have lost $35 million in gold, because at the end of April the gold stock had been $132 million ahead.

If you're cautious you can say that it's the long run and not the month to month changes that count. And anyway, even if May was disappointing, any gold gain is a relief after the loss of more than $7 billion on the Gross National Product — the total dollar output of goods and services which charts the course of the nation's economy.

Optimists — and President Johnson is one—say that the gain so far this year foreshadows a steady economic growth through the rest of this year and well into 1965. Pessimists reply that the expansion in the early months of this year was not at as fast a clip as in the final months of 1961.

Seems Sturdy to Cautious

The cautious say that the upturn, now starting its 40th month, seems sturdy so far despite its advanced age as business upswings go, but has yet to reveal just how much steam is still behind it—and especially just how much of an effect the federal income tax cut will have.

And the nation's financial dealings with other lands also are subject to interpretation. The optimists cite the near elimination of the deficit in this nation's balance of payments in the first three months of the year. The pessimist say a slight trend the other way developed in April, with exports 2 per cent below March and imports 1 per cent higher.

The cautious warn that the real test is in the months just ahead. The outflow of dollars normally slows early in the year and picks up later on. This year imports are expected to increase because of the nation's prosperity. Exports may level off because of financial problems in other lands. And just ahead is the large outpouring of dollars by American tourists abroad.

Heart Group Gives Tips for Vacation

This is the season when "vacation" becomes a household word, when dreams and discussions turn into reservations and road maps. The traditional toss-up between mountains and shore went out with the Model T. Modern transportation makes the world your oyster—or are you allergic to shellfish? Still, vacation plans are formed as much by physical considerations as by financial ones.

Certin locations or activities are out if, stay Junior has hay fever, or Judy gets seasick even in the bath tub. Vacation is not time to be sick or to tempt fate.

Check With Physician

Because approximately one out of every five households has a member with some form of cardiovascular ailment — including high blood pressure—the Ulster County Heart Association offers some suggestions to help make vacation time safe and pleasant for all members of the family.

The person with a chronic ailment should visit his physician before a vacation. Tell the doctor about you vacation plans, where you intend to go, how you intend to get there. For example, if you're flying: most commercial airlines have pressurized cabins, and can offer special diets or oxygen if needed, but it's best to make sure in advance.

Climate and altitude are two important factors to keep in mind, the Ulster County Heart Association says. High altitudes, with their oxygen-poor air, can make persons with some heart and respiratory ailments feel miserable. Heat and humidity add to the work of the heart because the cardiovascular system plays an important part in helping to adjust weather extremes.

Rest Prescribed

"If you find yourself at a high altitude or in an excessively hot and humid area, rest a few days in order to give your body a chance to adjust to its surroundings before you start strenuous sports or sightseeing. Eat lightly of nourishing foods. Don't get over-tired. Take short rests. Dress comfortably.

"If you require medication, take enough to see you through the trip. And just in case your pill box goes overboard or gets lost, ask your physician to make out an extra prescription blank to keep in your wallet," the Association reports.

Most people with chronic ailments have learned to live with them and know what they can and cannot do safely. In many ways, they are better off than their apparently healthy kinsman who hasn't had a physical examination in years and has no idea of his physical capacity or limitations. Many of these people, accustomed to soft living during the year, plunge into a frenzied vacation round of over-eating and over-exertion that can lead to trouble. And, after all, vacations are to come back from.

MEDIUM OF EXCHANGE

The International Monetary Conference has once again attacked the problem of trade liquidity between nations. It is under an injunction to do so, for nations are eager to trade. Few activities can "spice up" a lagging economy as exports do.

A healthy commerce in goods is dependent, however, on more than a mere willingness to exchange one another's products. There must be a medium of exchange.

Gold, in the past, has acted almost exclusively as the means for nations to settle trade balances. But economists are perturbed by some recent statistics of trade. In the last decade, imports increased by 87 per cent. Gold reserves, in the same period, grew by less than 12 per cent.

As long as nature will not provide more of the base metal, new trade media must be devised. And there are several methods now in use which do not require final settlement of trade contracts in gold. Certain acceptable currencies are being used, though these are limited by the degree of confidence foreigners have in each others' national specie. "Euro-dollars," or the exchange of bank deposits, seem to be another and possibly more fruitful way to enhance trading.

Some economists are unconcerned about the shortage of exchange media, believing that trade is inevitable and that somehow wily men will find a way to sell their products overseas. Meanwhile, the International Monetary Conference is doing its best to provide liquidity which will be equal to the demands of the 60s.

THE QUINTS ARE 30

It is somewhat discombobulating to be reminded, as news releases have done, that the four survivors of the Dionne quintuplets are now 30 years old. Those of middle age and beyond are inclined to ask, "Was it really that long ago?" Their sense of being ancient is not eased when younger folk ask, "Who are the Dionne quintuplets?"

To anyone who was 10 years old or so on that day when the tidings came from Canada, the question seems incredible. The Dionne quintuplets are—well, the Quints. The news of their birth at Callender, Ont., swept the world (though it got off to a slow start in some quarters when a bored wire service editor tossed the first item into his wastebasket).

And the Quints continued to be news for years, with millions following their progress from infancy to babyhood and childhood in such a glare of limelight as had never before been known. They're still news, for those who remember. So here's a wish for happiness for Marie, Cecile, Annette and Yvonne!

LEARNING WHILE SLEEPING

A chemistry professor—a topnotch one incidentally—has come up with the idea that people should be taught things while they sleep.

There is so much to learn these days, he says, that we can't afford to waste the time we spend sleeping.

He believes it is possible to develop methods of utilizing the subconscious and thus making learning a 24-hour, around-the-clock, never-a-second-wasted project.

Well, this may be fine for the professor. But some of us want to be left alone when we hit the hay and not have the old noggin stuffed with knowledge we don't even know is going into it.

Aside from the old-fashioned belief that a guy deserves a little rest from trying to cope with what confuses him when he's awake, it would be doggoned disconcerting to go to sleep knowing that the privacy of your dream is going to be invaded by some character who probably ought to be asleep himself instead of poking into your subconscious mind.

We don't know whether such carryings-on would be illegal, improper or unnatural. But we do have the distinct feeling they would be unnerving.

Please go away, professor, and let a tired man sleep. If a real beat guy can't relax then, when can he?

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

NEHRU AND THE END OF IDEOLOGY

The death of Nehru, who was as doctrinaire as they come in his socialism, could be one more indication that the age of ideology is passing.

Nehru did not belong to the tradition of Marx, but he did belong to the socialist tradition of Harold Laski, Sidney Webb and the London School of Economics. He saw the state taking over private industry everywhere by what Sidney Webb called the "inevitability of gradualism." Being a gradualist and a believer in free speech, he didn't push his "Sidney Webbicalism" to the point of no return in India. But socialism was his working direction. The ideology colored his every move.

With Nehru's passing, the names of V. K. Krishna Menon and Lal Bahadur Shastri were quickly mentioned as the "next prime minister of India." Krishna Menon, a virulent Leftist ideologue, would, of course, have been bad news if he had been able to drum up any support. But Shastri is a compromiser, a man who likes to get a working consensus that balances extremes. If he inherits Nehru's position, as seems probable as I write this, India could be off on a progmatic campaign to raise its standard of living by means that are increasingly non-socialist.

The age of ideology, of course, is not dying all at once, for as the influences of Karl Marx on the one hand, and the London School of Economics on the other, wither away in most of the West, they retain their hold in Africa, East Africa, and parts of Latin America. Chile may well be in for a Marxist party takeover in the next election, and Castro still keeps his hold on Cuba even though he can't harvest a good sugar crop. In Southeast Asia a lot of dominoes may fall before Communism is checked. And the graduates of the London School of Economics, Laski-division, may keep their influence in the new African nations.

But even though we may still be in for some big socialist waves, the tide is going out by slow degrees. Brazil has been saved; Venezuela did not succumb during its recent election to Castro's terrorists. In Mexico, the Party of Revolutionary Institutions becomes increasingly bourgeois in its general tone. And the anti-Castroites, by raising the spectre of raids and guerilla infiltration in recent weeks, managed to hurt Castro rather badly by forcing him to deflect his soldiers from harvesting sugar cane to chasing invasion spooks all over the island. Despite buses from Britain, Castro's economy is dying of anemia.

In Europe Marxism could still pack a punch in Italy, or in a France suddenly bereft of de Gaulle. But in England, a Labor Party victory, though it might result in a re-nationalization of the basic steel industry, would not change things greatly. As for Germany, which is the key to the continent, it is firmly committed to a free economy. Willy Brandt's Social Democratic Party, which provides most of the opposition to Dr. Ludwig Erhart's ruling majority, gave up some time ago on its allegiance to the socialist dogma that the state should own the means of production. The Social Democrats talk like American New Dealers, the difference being that they are definitely a minority group in Germany at the moment.

Talking off the cuff with a throng of surrounding friends and admirers at a recent recention held for him at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, Willy Brandt, though he is the embattled Mayor of West Berlin, sounded like any give-and-take Western politician. He thought the Berlin wall might be made more "porous" by small compromises about visas and visiting permits. He listened attentively, and with apparent approval, while a German friend who lives in New York City made a case for America as "classless capitalism." Obviously there was no Marxist fire, and not even much belief in the "inevitability of gradualism," in the Willy Brandt who had come to the U. S. to talk with Lyndon Johnson. As for Lyndon Johnson himself, he wants to be "president of all the people," including the business men whom he is counting upon to keep the nation at work. With both Henry Ford II and Walter Reuther on Lyndon's side ideology is indeed dead.

Even Khrushchev, in his turn to "goulash diplomacy," seems tired at times of Marxism. In this lies our opportunity; by resolute insistence on our own demands, we could do a lot to drive some nails into the coffin of ideology in Eastern Europe. Though Marxism is dying, the atmosphere would be sweeter if we could only help to hurry along the demise.

Medicine Meets Challenge: Transplant of Organs

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many things once deemed impossible have come to pass. One of the most recent is the transplanting of vital organs from one being to another. Admittedly not an operation to be taken lightly, the success of such operations has been increasing since the first kidney transplant about 10 years ago. It is estimated that over 200 transplants of kidneys have been performed, and this appears to be the organ that can be transplanted with the greatest hope of success.

Because such transplants were usually rejected, they were first done only when the donor was an identical twin of the recipient. The tissue incompatibility between two persons, even though closely related, is caused by differences in blood types and tissue chemical patterns that are as distinctive as your personality or your fingerprints.

Any foreign tissue causes the production of antibodies similar to those that help you to ward off infection. If we render the body's immune responses inactive, we can keep a transplant alive but only at the risk of knocking out our resistance to infection.

Medical scientists are finding ways to avoid this dilemma. First let's consider the donor's organ. Once it is removed from the body it will quickly die if it is not nourished. If the donor is a twin, the removed organ should be hooked up to the recipient's circulation in less than an hour if it is to work. If the donor is not a twin, it helps to cool the organ far below normal body temperature without freezing it, and to wash out the donor's blood.

The recipient is prepared two or three weeks in advance, if possible, with large doses of X-rays of his whole body and by being given daily doses of an immune response suppressing agent, azathioprine. The spleen is removed at the time of operation. The thymus, which is also involved in the maintenance of immunity, may also be removed. Finally cortisone or a related drug is given to reduce the resulting inflammatory reaction, and antibiotics may have to be given to prevent infection.

Although a transplanted kidney admittedly does not work as well as one's own normal kidney it can literally snatch a man from the jaws of death from uremia. Some recipients have returned to work and, although they have to take several kinds of drugs and occasional blood transfusions, they otherwise live a fairly normal life.

Lung and liver transplants are being tried experimentally and transplants from higher apes to man have been performed with partial success. The latter procedure may be an answer to the donor problem and, as one wag put it, make monkeys of us yet.

"What a Good---Hmmm---Boy Am I?"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some official analysts here estimate privately that Cuban exile groups have a 50-50 chance to overthrow Castro eventually if they can once establish themselves on the island and are willing to persist through years of guerrilla warfare.

The chances of establishing that crucial beginning foothold: also 50-50.

As of this writing, there are three major groups involved in plans for gradually infiltrating Cuba, each operating separately. The Movement for Revolutionary Recuperation is led by Manuel Artime. The Junta Revolucionaria Cubana is led by Manolo (Manuel) Ray. A coalition of the Alpha 66, the Revolutionary Movement of the People and the Second National Front of Escambray is under the military leadership of Eloy Outierrez Menoyo.

The analyst I talked to agreed on one thing: there can be no quick victory; infiltrating exile groups must be prepared to take as long to win as Castro did.

THIS CONCEPT of infiltrating Cuba slowly with small groups over a period of years as part of a long struggle was the original plan for the operations which eventually became the Bay of Pigs debacle.

Somewhere along the line, the plans were changed. That invasion became a mixture—neither an infiltration nor a well-backed massive landing. Having the weaknesses of both concepts and the strengths of neither, it failed.

So, U. S. strategists studying these new Cuban exile plans like the present approach.

But there are other things that worry them:

One: They're not certain how much active support the infiltrating troops will find on the island.

The analysts estimate 25 per cent of the population is strongly opposed to the regime. But only 5 per cent of the people may be willing to take direct action.

Half of the Cubans are believed lackadaisical; they may grumble but must be considered neutral. An eighth of the people are believed fanatical backers of the regime. Another eighth give it real support because of self-interest.

Two: Cuba's intelligence network has been so strengthened since the Bay of Pigs that Castro men may be able to effectively catch many islander who wish to join up with the infiltrators.

Three: Leaders of the three major exile groups may not have the organizational ability to build a strong underground in Cuba. The exile groups are torn by personal rivalries and personality problems. They can't get together even for infiltration attempts.

There are, however, two bright spots:

The Cuban economic situation continues to worsen.

The split between the Communist and non-Communist backers of Castro has been widened recently by the trial, conviction and execution of Marcos Rodriguez, a Communist who during the Castro revolution betrayed a group of non-Communist revolutionaries to the Batista police, reportedly on orders of the Communist Party.

Unity of Party Is Problem For Republicans to Solve

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Though there were four ways that the Presidential primary election in California could have come out, the overall impact on the campaign strategy of the would-be candidates in the next six weeks before the Republican national convention would hardly have been changed, irrespective of Tuesday's voting in the Golden State.

If Gov. Rockefeller had won, whether by a large or narrow margin, the Goldwater supporters would still have pointed to his lack of delegate strength and would have continued their efforts just the same.

If Sen. Goldwater had won by a large margin, this would by no means have diminished the efforts of the Rockefeller forces, for they realize they have been far behind in delegate strength right along.

Even if it had been known that Sen. Goldwater would win by a narrow margin, the Rockefeller campaign strategy would have been to continue the battle as vigorously as before on the assumption that if the New York Governor himself cannot win the nomination, he might succeed in bringing about a stalemate. This could force the selection of either Vice-President Nixon or Gov. Scranton or Ambassador Lodge, each of whom has a substantial strength inside the Republican party today.

The public opinion polls didn't clarify the problem in advance of the voting. In fact, there are many persons who now are criticizing the pollsters for having predicted that the California primary would result in a substantial victory for Gov. Rockefeller. But while these forecasts were by no means pleasant reading for the Goldwater supporters in recent days, the truth is that, if the polls had forecast a victory by a wide margin for Sen. Goldwater, there might have been a lag inside his own campaign.

The effect, indeed, of the discouraging percentages for Sen. Goldwater noted in the polls may have been the very thing that caused his supporters to intensify their efforts in the last few days and work harder to get out their vote than they otherwise would have done.

If the entire scene is surveyed from the standpoint of its influence on the final selection of a nominee at the convention, it is clear that the California victory gave the Goldwater cause a timely stimulus. For the anti-Goldwater folks were constantly spreading the idea that the Arizona Senator would be all washed up and out of the race if he lost the California primary. There is a depth of feeling between the Goldwater and anti-Goldwater forces which doesn't augur well for the future of the Republican party itself.

There is no doubt about the fact that the Republicans who are behind Sen. Goldwater feel that he is dedicated to the cause of a "conservative liberalism" in America, and that his opponents have been wrongfully trying to picture him as impulsive in foreign policy and ultra-conservative in domestic policy.

The question is whether there is a chance to reconcile the two groups in the party, and whether either former Vice-President Nixon or Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania could do the job of reconciliation in the event Sen. Goldwater doesn't make the grade.

While Sen. Goldwater has an even chance of winning the Republican Presidential nomination, he is still a long way from assuring himself of a majority of the delegates. The latest tabulation by the United Press International shows that he has approximately 433 pledged votes, and he, of course, needs 655. There are small blocs of votes committed to Messrs. Lodge, Nixon, Rockefeller, Scranton and "favorite sons," but there is a large bloc of 238 uncommitted votes.

The maneuvering that has been going on behind the scenes in the Republican party will not be suspended because Sen. Goldwater won in California. Indeed, efforts will be renewed to persuade the delegates who are uncommitted or who favor other candidates not to allow their strength to be thrown to the Arizona Senator. The strategy usually is to bring about at least three ballots at the convention without a majority choice, with the hope that the leading contender will lose votes as some of his delegates drop away and thus cause the rise of another candidate.

A candidate, on the other hand, who has a bloc of 433 votes or thereabouts to start with can do a lot of persuading and win to his side enough of the uncommitted delegates to assure an early nomination. The doubtful delegates usually are quick to climb aboard a "bandwagon."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I have The Argus, published in the Argus Building, Wall Street. This issue is of Wednesday, Feb. 18, 1891. The first item in City Paragraphs is that "the steam yacht C. A. Schultz is running between Rondout and Eddyville. . Hewett Boice has purchased the stock of stone and business of F. L Rogers and Co. at Wilbur." I remember, some time ago, the readers showed interest in the Boice bluestone business.

Another item reads: "W. A. Stockie, bridge inspector on the West Shore, was in town last week looking after the company's interests. He says they build steel bridges instead of iron. The bridge over the Wilbur Road now being put up is of steel."

Items on schools seem to interest the readers, in this 1891 Kingston Argus item reads: "Of the 301 schools in the State of New York under the charge of the Regents, 50 schools in the list are arranged in the order of their rank. Kingston Academy stands 17th on this list, the rank of the schools being based upon the number of certificates held by pupils passing the Regents' preliminary examinations, and indicated by the numbers. The number of pupil"s holding these certificates in Kingston Academy was 151 at the time the list was made." The Kingston Academy stood on the Academy Green grounds, of which many colorful pictures and postal cards still exist.

The paper told about a second winter excursion to Washington, D. C. on the West Shore Railroad, set for Tuesday, Feb. 24. The round trip cost $9.85 in 1891.

In 1964 they speak of apathy in elections. Going back to the 1891 Kingston Argus, item reads in part: "The city election does not attract a great deal of interest, although there never has been a period since the city was incorporated (1872) when there was greater need of electing competent and high minded citizens and taxpayers to municipal offices. The indifference of ignorance of the actual state of affairs is apparent among the citizens generally, as shown by the very small registration of voters thus far. This ought not to be the fact; for some day they will awaken to the need of 'reform' in the most emphatic sense of that much abused word."

In the obituary column of Feb. 18, 1891 the following: "The funeral of the late Jansen Hasbrouck took place from the family residence on The Strand, and it was attended by large number of relatives, friends and among whom were prominent people from abroad, also a large number of old business and professional men who knew Mr. Hasbrouck from young boyhood days, came to pay their respects. The services were conducted by the Rev. C. S. Stowitts, pastor of the Wurts Street Presbyterian Church assisted by the Rev. Dr. Van Slyke."

I see one advertisement in this paper, illustrated with a Jewett Range, the firm of J. M. Sweeny and E. M. Townsend, successors to Rommel and Drautz, who sold stoves, ranges and furnaces and were at 32 Union Avenue, opposite Abeel Street in Rondout. They also did plumbing, steam and gas fitting, copper, tin and steel iron work, and had house furnishing goods back in 1891. In those days, the lower part of Broadway was called Union Avenue.

Dismiss Educator, Clamed at Hearing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An instructor who refused to answer questions at a government hearing here last April has been dismissed from teaching in the State University at Buffalo's summer session.

Paul Sporn, 42, an English instructor, said in a statement Wednesday in the Buffalo Courier-Express, that the dismissal "was related to my appearance" before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Sporn was called to testify before the committee but refused to answer questions concerning what he termed his political beliefs. The committee investigated suspected Communist subversion in the area. Dr. Edwin Bailey, assistant director of summer sessions, said the dismissal does not necessarily affect Sporn's status during the regular school year.

Emphasis on Arms

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—With a record $294-million peacetime defense budget, the South African government has embarked on an ambitious program to manufacture its own munitions and increase its armed forces.

The 1964-65 budget figures, disclosed Wednesday by Defense Minister Jacobus Fouche, show a nearly five-fold increase in four years.

The emphasis on domestic armaments is the result of increasing pressure in the world community to withhold arms shipments from South Africa because of its policy of rigid racial segregation.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Ethiopian ambassador to Sweden was shot and seriously wounded today by his Polish chauffeur, the Stockholm Criminal Police reported.

The police said Ambassador Abate Agede was hit by three revolver bullets. The shooting occurred on the embassy grounds.

A police spokesman said the chauffeur, whose name was withheld, had received orders from the ambassador which he refused to obey. During the argument, the Pole suddenly drew his revolver and fired three shots, the spokesman said.

Agede, 41, was stationed at Ethiopia's embassy in Washington and was a member of his country's U.N. delegation before coming to Stockholm in March 1963.

The chauffeur was brought to police headquarters for questioning.

Barry Could Go To Parley With 650-Vote Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final phase of the race for the Republican presidential nomination gets under way Friday amid indications that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is only a whisker away from a first-ballot victory.

Washington state Republicans open their convention and delegates to the GOP National Convention will be chosen in two Colorado districts Friday.

More Data by Sunday

By Saturday night some 65 delegates will be chosen in Washington, Colorado, Alabama and Hawaii, and political observers will be better able to gauge the impact of Goldwater's victory in Tuesday's California primary.

That victory gave him 86 delegates from the Golden State, boosting his first ballot strength in The Associated Press survey of delegates already chosen to 446. That contrasted with a claim of 454 by Goldwater's headquarters.

A spot check Wednesday of political leaders in most of the 15 states and Puerto Rico, where a total of 258 delegates remain to be chosen, showed Goldwater is expected to win between 140 and 190. And another 25 or so of these unchosen delegates could wind up in the senator's corner before the GOP convention opens July 13 in San Francisco.

If he fulfills these estimates, Goldwater would march into the convention with from 625 to 650 first-ballot votes, just shy of the 655 needed for the nomination.

Look to Big Blocs

Goldwater backers who are predicting a first-ballot nomination are looking closely at the big bloc of nominally uncommitted or favorite-son votes, including 58 in Ohio, 48 in Michigan, 31 in New Jersey and 30 in Wisconsin.

They feel there is Goldwater support in those delegations which can be called on either during or at the end of the first roll call.

The AP survey of 1,050 delegates already chosen shows this first-ballot lineup based on pledges, primary commitments, instructions and stated preference:

Goldwater	446
Nelson A. Rockefeller	117
William W. Scranton	72
Henry Cabot Lodge	44
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	103
Uncommitted	240

'Project 70' Is Voted by Senate In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP)— Project 70 heads for the House and its final legislative hurdle next week with Maurice K. Goddar, state secretary of forests and waters, convinced support is stronger than ever.

The enabling act for the sweeping $70 million "open space" and land acquisition program won approval Wednesday in the Senate with only three dissenting votes.

The opposition came from rural Republicans — Sens. D. Elmer Hawbaker, Franklin; Stanley G. Stroup, Bedford, and John T. Van Sant, Lehigh—who said their constitutents opposed the entire concept of Project 70 in a special referendum last November.

Completing its work for the week, the Senate also set the stage for a final showdown Monday on the administration's giant general appropriations bill, now totaling $1,072 billion, and proposed reforms to the state's land condemnation laws.

The House also returns Monday after a week and a half recess.

Expensive Oversight

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Some 50,000 pieces of city income tax literature were sent back to the printer after a small but potentially costly oversight was noted.

The material contained no identification of the sponsoring organization or the name of an official as required by Ohio law.

The city income tax committee would have been liable to a fine of $300 to $2,000 had the literature been distributed.

Steps Up Hearings On Challenged Votes

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The Lackawanna County Board of Elections, at the request of County Court Judge T. Linus Hoban, has stepped up its hearings on challenged absentee ballots in the April 28 Democratic primary.

The 377 challenged ballots, along with 561 ballots being challenged in Philadelphia, could play a key role in the outcome of the race for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination between Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, and Justice Michael A. Musmanno, of the state Supreme Court.

Miss Blatt is leading in the race by 640 votes.

The pace in Lackawanna County was stepped up somewhat with 35 challenges handled Wednesday, reducing the number remaining to 169. The daily average previously had been about 25.

Barry Can Count On Two Delegates FromEmpireState

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater can count on national convention support from at least two New York State Republican delegates — a transportation specialist and a bank executive who helped Nelson A. Rockefeller become governor.

Late returns from Tuesday's state primary election showed that Vincent J. Walsh of Garden City had defeated John H. Benoit of Hempstead, a Rockefeller supporter.

Walsh's victory placed him alongside Perry R. Trimmer, 43, a vice president of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York, who appeared for a time to be the only winner among Goldwater - pledged candidates.

Rockefeller backers defeated Goldwater men in 19 of 20 direct contests for presidential delegates. Rockefeller thus was assured of at least 86 of the 92 votes New York will cast at the national GOP convention.

Incomplete returns Tuesday night indicated the entire pro-Rockefeller slate had won.

Trimmer, who says he belives Goldwater is "quite moderate, contrary to what a lot of people think," began his political career six years ago as a GOP committeeman in Snyder, a Buffalo suburb.

He said Wednesday that he voted for Rockefeller in 1958 but sided with David H. Jaquith, the Conservative party candidate in 1962.

"I thought Rockefeller was wrong when he accused (former Gov. W. Averell Harriman) of using his state job as a stepping stone to the White House," Trimmer said, in explaining his change of allegiance.

"By the last election," he added, "it was quite clear that Rockefeller was doing the same thing; not paying attention to state business."

Walsh, a native of Queens, where he lives with his wife, Lou, and daughter, Mary Lou, is president of Eastern Traffic Bureau, Inc., a transportation consulting firm.

Grads1,000MilesAway Will Hear Ceremony

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Seniors in the Choctawhatchee High School marching band will receive their diplomas almost 1,000 miles away from their graduation exercise — but won't miss a word of the commencement.

The 15 graduating band members are putting in a week-long stay at the Florida Pavilion of the New York World's Fair. They were concerned about missing the commencement Friday night.

A long-distance telephone line in the pavilion easily solved the problem. Band Director James Leonard will hand out the diplomas in New York when Principal H. A. Bruner reads off the pupils' names along with the rest of the class.

Strike Appears Over

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A month - long strike involving more than 9,000 construction workers appeared ended today following settlement of a contract dispute.

The strike halted work on more than $40 million in construction work at 60 area sites.

The agreement, reached Wednesday by negotiators, provides a 65-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over three years. Present wage scales of the strikers were not revealed.

Negotiators said work at the construction sites should resume Monday.

New Conductor Named

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra has a new conductor, noted European musician Laszlo Somogyi.

Somogyi, of Vienna, Austria, was appointed director of the orchestra Wednesday by the Rochester Civic Music Association.

The Hungarian-born conductor founded the Symphony Orchestra of Budapest and has also conducted the Hungarian Radio Symphony Orchestra.

He guest-conducted the Rochester philharmonic seven times in the past two years.

Shocks Alarm Residents

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — Several seconds on earth shocks sent thousands of alarmed residents fleeing into the streets Wednesday night in two mountain towns southeast of Naples.

The towns were Paterno, population 3,000, and Padula, which has 7,500 people. Only slight damage to buildings was reported in Paterno—and none in Padula.

Says Pastors Keep Laymen 50 Years Behind the Times

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Krister Stendahl, a professor of biblical studies at Harvard Divinity School, believes the educational task of the Lutheran Church must be taken seriously.

Dr. Stendahl, speaking before the four-day annual New York Synod of the Lutheran Church Wednesday, said pastors keep laymen 50 years behind the times in theological and biblical studies.

He told the 1,000 Lutheran clergymen, lay delegates and visitors assembled for the meeting that "we allow any warm-hearted amateur with little training to fool around with our children, thinking that this kind of teaching will take of itself and impress children who are accustomed to an up-graded public education program..."

The Synod has 219,413 members in 380 congregations.

Dear Abby . . .

Sober Up, Honey!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is a very attractive bachelor living in my apartment building. I am single, too. We have become quite friendly of late, and we have invited each other in for a drink, conversation and television. I drink nothing but ginger ale, but whenever he serves it to me I have had the feeling that it was spiked. When I accused him of this he became very indignant and swore he never did. I've watched him carefully but haven't been able to catch him at it, yet I continue to get that high, exhilarated feeling when we're drinking together. Could it be my imagination?

FEELING HIGH

DEAR FEELING: If he is not spiking your ginger ale, he is even more dangerous because he is intoxicating you with his company. Stay out of his apartment.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I always believed that honesty was the best policy, but it cost me a friend. You see, my best friend bought a dress and asked me what I thought of it. I told her I thought it was too short, too tight, and the color was wrong for her. I told her in a very nice way, but she got mad and now she won't even speak to me. Should I have told her the dress was nice even if it wasn't? Please print this, Abby. I know a lot of people who have the same trouble.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: When a woman asks a friend what she "thinks" of something after she has already bought it, she doesn't want an honest opinion—she wants a compliment. If your best friend quit speaking to you on this account, it couldn't have been much of a friendship.

DEAR ABBY: Our beautiful 23-year-old daughter is engaged to a fine young man whom she has dated all through college. She is our only daughter and we have the means to give her a storybook wedding. The problem: The young man's mother is an invalid and seems to be fading fast. He wants to be married at a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside as her doctors say she cannot leave her bed or stand too much excitement. Do you think this is fair to our daughter? Deep down in her heart I know she must be terribly disappointed, but she loves him so much she readily agreed. I am heartsick, and so is our entire family. Why can't the couple have a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside and then be married again at a beautiful church wedding? Others have been married by a Justice of the Peace and then remarried in a church. If any of your readers have ever faced this problem, I'd appreciate knowing how they handled it.

A MOTHER IN BURLINGAME

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter is showing more good judgment and compassion than you are. Your "storybook" wedding, following a bedside ceremony, would reduce the church ceremony to a performance.

Wanted: Water-Users

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville, where the flooded Ohio River caused heavy damage this spring, is advertising for industries that need lots of water. For industrial use, that is, not floodwater.

In a newspaper advertisement, the city boasted that "not one single Louisville industry closed its doors" despite the third-worst flood in a century. The ad asserted that water pumped from the river can fill the needs of almost any manufacturer.

Aversa was the first county in southern Italy to be possessed by the Normans in the 11th century.

Court Rules Divorced Wife Out of Locke's $1.6 Million

Lela Ann Locke, divorced wife of the late Harvey C. Locke who resided at Samsonville, is not entitled to participate in his $1,682,245.03 estate.

The Appellate Division, Supreme Court, by unanimous decision has affirmed the decision of Surrogate Francis X. Tucker who held that the alleged divorced wife of Locke, who resides in Olney, Ill., could not legally file a notice of election to take her intestate share of the estate.

Harvey Carlton Locke died April 1, 1962 at Benedictine Hospital and according to a New York State tax report left a gross estate of over $1,600,000. The report stated that funeral expenses and administration expenses in the sum of $93,226 and debts in the amount of $3,953.23 were filed against the gross estate.

Had Camera Shares

Locke, who had been prominently identified with numerous nudist activities during his lifetime, had made a fortune. Much of his estate was the result of stock ownership in Eastman Kodak.

Lela Ann Locke, from whom Locke was divorced in the state of Florida after a separation agreement had been entered into in May 1953, charged that the divorce which had been begun in January 1953 had been obtained through fraud.

Surrogate Tucker held that there was insufficient proof of fraud and dismissed the claim of Lela Ann Locke that she was entitled to participate in the estate.

Under the separation agreement Lela Ann Locke received $300 a month for 11 years.

Action Voluntary

The decision of the Appellate Division holds that the appellant's appearance in the Florida divorce action was "voluntary" and not induced by fraud, duress or coercion on the part of the testator and that the Florida decree "is entitled to full faith and credit in this state."

The decree dismissing the notice of election filed by Lela Ann Locke as found by Surrogate Tucker is affirmed by the higher court with costs to all parties filing briefs payable from the estate.

Korn Gets 45 Per Cent

Under the will of Locke, which was drawn by Attorney Philip Korn of Kerhonkson and witnessed by Arthur C. Chipp and Stella Pugliese of Kerhonkson and Annamary Grote of Napanoch, after making bequests of certain sports cars and a bequest of $500 to Pauline Gay Douds and $1,000 to the Samsonville Methodist Church, Lock devised the bulk of his estate under the residuary clause as follows: 10 per cent to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shurter, 45 per cent to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, neighbors, and 45 per cent to Attorney Philip Korn, who was appointed executor.

Manuel Dittenheimer with John A. Bonomi of counsel appeared for Lela Ann Locke, respondent - appellant; N. LeVan Haver appeared for Philip Korn, Anna Shurter, Jesse Shurter and Floyd Brown, petitioners - respondents, and Vincent G. Connelly of Connelly and Connelly, appeared as attorneys for intervenor-objector-respondents.

The opinion, which covers seven pages, was written by Justice Herbert D. Hamm and concurred in by all other justices.

Cloud of Hard Feelings Shadows D-Day 20th Date

By RODNEY ANGOVE

PARIS (AP) — Western Allies will celebrate Saturday the 20th anniversary of the most formidable military landing in history —under a little cloud of hard feelings.

The chief of state of the host country, the first to be liberated by the troops who swarmed over the Normandy beaches on D-Day, 1944, will not attend.

Nor will President Charles de Gaulle send his premier, Georges Pompidou, although both plan participation in celebrations of the south coast landings by French troops Aug. 15 and the liberation Aug. 25 of Paris.

Speculation on Attitude

French officials point out that no other heads of state will attend the Normandy observances, but many Frenchmen express belief that De Gaulle should make a more generous effort to express true French gratitude.

Speculation arose that his attitude may be his way of pointing out that neither Britain nor the United States considered him a chief of state until more than a month after the landing. Nor did they tell him the invasion was imminent until two days before it took place.

It is well-known that his treatment by Sir Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt has stuck in his craw ever since.

In effect, De Gaulle has never attended a D-Day anniversary, although three times he saluted the French Tricolor in ceremonies near the spot where he personally came ashore on D-Day plus eight. Those celebrations were in 1945, 1946 and 1952.

Churchill has not attended a D-Day observance, French officials point out, and the highest ranking American to do the honors was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, while commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Blames Press of Business

Pompidou recently blamed the absence of top French participation on a press of other business, and said it had nothing to do with French solidarity, which "is total in the face of any eventual aggressor."

The French delegation this year will be led by Jean Sainteny, minister of veterans affairs; Raymond Triboulet, minister of cooperation and chairman of the arrangements; and Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of staff of the armed forces.

From the United States will come Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of the American D-Day troops and now President Johnson's representative; Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who parachuted behind the beachhead; and many other general officers and diplomats.

Britain, Canada, Belgium, Holland and Norway also will send delegations of high officers and diplomats. They will begin the ceremonies Friday in the Sword and Juno beachhead areas, moving onto Omaha Beach the next day.

Paul Reynaud, premier in 1940, in a radio interview last week, regretted lack of respect for "our Allies to whom, let's not forget, we owe our liberty."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With outdoor cooking coming increasingly into season, beef rules as a top lure at supermarkets as housewives lay in weekend food supplies.

The red meat continued in plentiful supply across the nation. Prices were attractive in most sections, but were reported higher for rib and loin cuts by up to 3 cents a pound in the Los Angeles area.

Roasts were recommended widely.

As "Dairy Month" observance began, milk and milk products promotions were conspicuous.

Regionally, pink salmon on the West Coast, honeydew melons from Texas in the Southwest and truck garden vegetables in many sections were prime attractions.

Onions, carrots, lettuce, asparagus, green beans, celery, squash, cabbage, celery and radishes were among produce counter favorites.

Fruit offerings were abundant and attractive, led by bananas, strawberries, avocados and lemons — plus cantaloup and watermelons in selected parts of the country.

Eggs were reported plentiful with prices little changed.

In the fish line, halibut, mackerel, lobster, red snapper and scallops were featured, in the East and Southeast especially, while whitefish and perch also were readily available in the Midwest.

As alternatives to beef, some stores were pushing broilerfryers and turkeys, hailed as generally best poultry buys, and lamb and ham items.

The term "book" play is given to any play that is commonly used in books and columns. Those plays really come up and even a player in a game I watched on an airplane would do well to learn them.

North bid his hand with all the delicacy of a sledge hammer, but six spades was certainly a mighty fine contract. It required a combination of three misfortunes for the hand to do down.

South finessed the queen of clubs at trick one. East won the trick and returned the suit. South proceeded to play most carefully from then on, but eventually had to try a finesse for the queen of hearts. He could have finessed either way, but he chose the wrong way and down he went.

What was the third misfortune? South had misplayed the hand. The North-South cards furnish a classic example of a sure fire elimination play. Had South been a student of the game, he would have won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Then he would have drawn trumps, cashed three diamond tricks and led back a club.

He wouldn't care which opponent won the trick. He wouldn't care what suit was led back. A heart lead would eliminate all problems about the queen. A club or diamond lead would allow him to ruff in one hand and discard a heart from the other.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Grapefruit and Lobster: Superb

GRAPEFRUIT and rock lobster tails in grapefruit shells.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a cool, attractive luncheon dish — or hot weather dinner treat — which is refreshing and satisfying. It's grapefruit shells filled with cubes of grapefruit and lobster tails.

Edward Zwaaf, director of New York's Brasserie restaurant in the Seagram building, served it to us the other night. With the first taste, we knew you would want the recipe.

Our host used pale pink grapefruit and his special Brasserie Sauce.

Pink Grapefruit With Lobster Tails Brasserie
(serves 6)

Six frozen South African rock lobster tails, 3 grapefruits.

Place solidly frozen lobster tails into large kettle of salted cold water to cover. Slowly bring to boil. Then simmer for 3 minutes. Drain lobster tails; cut away thin underside membrane with scissors. Remove meat from shells. Cut meat into 1-inch cubes. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Sauce

One quarter of a cup cocktail sauce, 2 cups mayonnaise, dash Tabasco, 2 teaspoons chopped, fresh chervil; 3 tablespoons unsweetened whipped cream.

Combine cocktail sauce with mayonnaise, Tabasco and chervil. Mix lobster pieces with sauce gently and refrigerate until ready to use. Just before serving, remove from refrigerator and add the whipped cream. Carefully add the grapefruit pieces to avoid breakage. Toss gently and pile the mixture into the chilled grapefruit shells. Top each with a liberal sprinkling of chopped chervil. Serve immediately on crushed ice.

Names Bronxville Man

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today appointed Samuel Nakasian of Bronxville, executive vice president of International Products Corp., as a member of the Council of Harpur College of the State University of New York.

Nakasian will serve without salary for a term ending July 1, 1970.

Nakasian, 48, a former federal government economist, succeeds Victor Borella of New York City, who resigned Feb. 21, 1963.

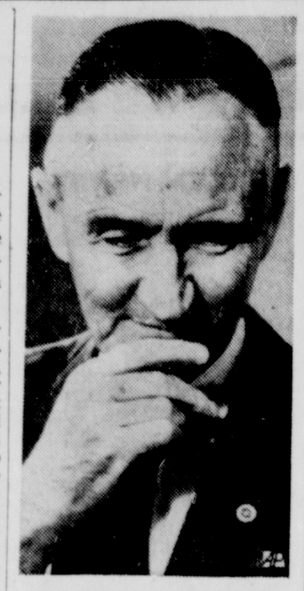
Kurdt Points To Publicity in Staging Pageant

Local pageants selecting contestants to compete for the title of Miss New York State here early in July are getting excellent press, radio and television coverage.

In all of the press clipping received at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, headquarters for the Miss New York State Pageant, prominent mention is made of Kingston and the fact that their queen receives an all-expense, five day trip to Kingston to compete in the state finals. The Elmira Sunday Telegram of May 24, carried two full pages of pictures and write-ups about the Miss Chemung County Pageant, sponsored by the Elmira Optimists Club.

In making this announcement today, Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and president of the Miss New York State Pageant for 1964, said that it would be impossible to purchase this publicity, but it is obtained because of the fine work being done by volunteers in staging this major promotional event. He also said that the pageant program makes a major contribution to the economy of the area, not only by bringing hundreds of visitors here for several days during the pageant, but the favorable publicity attracts many more tourists during the year, and concluded by saying, "The beneficial effects more than justify the minimum financial support being asked locally, by means of the sale of patron and admission tickets. If the pageant is adequately supported again this year and all the bills can be paid, we have assurances that Kingston will be awarded the state franchise year after year."



NO PROPHET — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana looked thus as capitol newsmen asked if there were enough votes to halt filibuster against civil rights bill.

Spokesmen Carry On as Goldwater Goes to Hideaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the winner's circle, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater left the talking to his campaign spokesmen today and slipped out of sight at an undisclosed hideaway.

Jubilant over his victory in Tuesday's California presidential primary, Goldwater's aides talked of a first-ballot victory at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

Goldwater stamped his approval Wednesday on a victory statement prepared by his campaign staff, inviting his beaten rival, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, to help unite the GOP for the November election fight.

"There are still roads to cross but with California's 86 delegates, we have taken a giant step toward winning the presidential nomination," the victory statement declared.

Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager, said it was the final word from the senator for a while.

"He will be out of circulation for several days," Kitchel said.

Kitchel said Goldwater will keep a date to address the commencement of Pennsylvania Military College in Chester next Sunday, and rturn to his Senate desk Monday.

More than 400 pounds of steel nails may be used in the construction of a house.

Chairman Thinks Party May Pick Barry on Second

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller says Sen. Barry Goldwater, winner of the California presidential primary, "could be nominated on the second ballot" at the GOP's national convention.

But he agreed at a news conference Wednesday that many of the Goldwater delegates might not rmain firm if the Arizona senator failed to win nomination by the end of the second ballot.

In that eventuality, he said, a convention deadlock could develop.

Miller also said he did not count out Gov. Rockefeller, who lost to Goldwater in California, as a presidential nominee.

But, he said, delegates from states committed to favorite son candidates on the first ballot, could switch to Goldwater on the second.

He predicted the Republican nomination would go to one of four men—Goldwater, Rockefeller, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

And he said Scranton would be a likely vice presidential candidate if Goldwater were nominated.

Proposes Minimum Milk Price to Avert Wars

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — An executive of Sealtest Foods, a major milk distributer, proposes minimum prices for milk as a safeguard against price wars in the New York metropolitan market.

John R. Edwards, a Sealtest vice president and general manager of the company's metropolitan division, said Wednesday night that such price-fixing authority would help stabilize the milk industry.

Edwards told about 700 dairy farmers that "such a form of control would be sufficient to eliminate price wars and would be relatively simple to police."

He spoke at the final session of the annual two-day conference of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association.

Legislation to authorize the state agriculture commissioner to set minimum retail prices for milk has been approved by the Legislature in past years and vetoed by the governor. Measures to enact such a procedure in the 1964 Legislature died in committee.

Fire Loss Heavy At Paper Plant In Mechanicville

MECHANICVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Damage was expected to total several hundred thousand dollars in a fire that struck a paper plant Wednesday night in this Saratoga County village.

Fire Chief Robert Palmieri said four men were injured slightly while fighting the flames that broke out in a ground-floor baling room of the four-story, brick structure.

Firemen were hampered in their efforts by lack of water. The plant, which produces toweling and sanitary papers, is served by a single fire hydrant and water had to be pumped nearly a mile.

The fire apparently began when a fork-lift truck cut a power cable in the baling room and sparks ignited about 1,500 large rolls of paper, Palmieri said.

He said flames were contained to the ground floor and were brought under control before dawn today. A detachment was kept on duty to douse the smouldering paper.

Palmieri estimated the loss at several hundred thousand dollars.

The plant is owned by the Thomas A. Galante and Sons Paper Co.

A recent Treasury Department request to mint more silver dollars was turn down by Congress because existing mint facilities are hard pressed to meet the demand for smaller coins.

Capitol News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

NO EXIT?: A Republican "space task force" accused the National Aeronautics and Space Administration today of failing to provide rescue means for Gemini spacecraft.

The task force said: "The haphazard planning of the Gemini program and the apparent lack of interest in assuring a reasonable level of safety for our astronauts is highly irresponsible and merits further investigation by Congress."

Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif., task force chairman, noted that Dr. Edward C. Welsh, acting chairman of the National Space Council, has said the United States must be prepared to accept casualties on space flights.

Gubser said this could be accepted only if every possible step has been taken to prevent such tragedies by developing adequate safety gear and space rescue equipment, and by improved manufacturing methods.

There was no immediate comment from the space agency.

ANOTHER LOOK: A second Senate inquiry into the impact on the nation's business of defense spending shifts and cutbacks was announced today by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

He said the Small Business Committee, which he heads, will open hearings June 24, concentrating initially on military relocations in New Jersey. Problems affecting other areas involved in military economies will be aired at hearings later this year, Sparkman said.

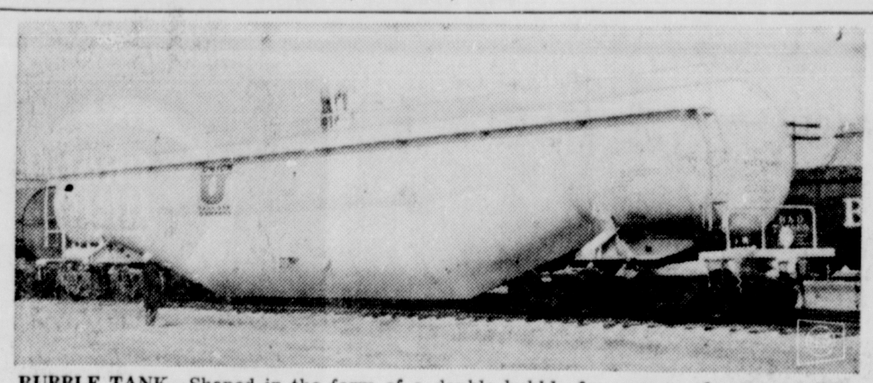
AIR CRASH: A tape recording of the last radio transmission from the airliner that crashed near San Francisco May 7, killing all 44 aboard, seems to confirm that a passenger shot the pilot.

"Skipper's shot. We've been shot. Tryin' to help," was the desperate cry on the tape released Wednesday by the Civil Aeronautics Board and the FBI.

The voice was identified as that of copilot Ray E. Andress. A revolver found in the plane wreckage was traced to one of the passengers who had taken out a large amount of flight insurance.

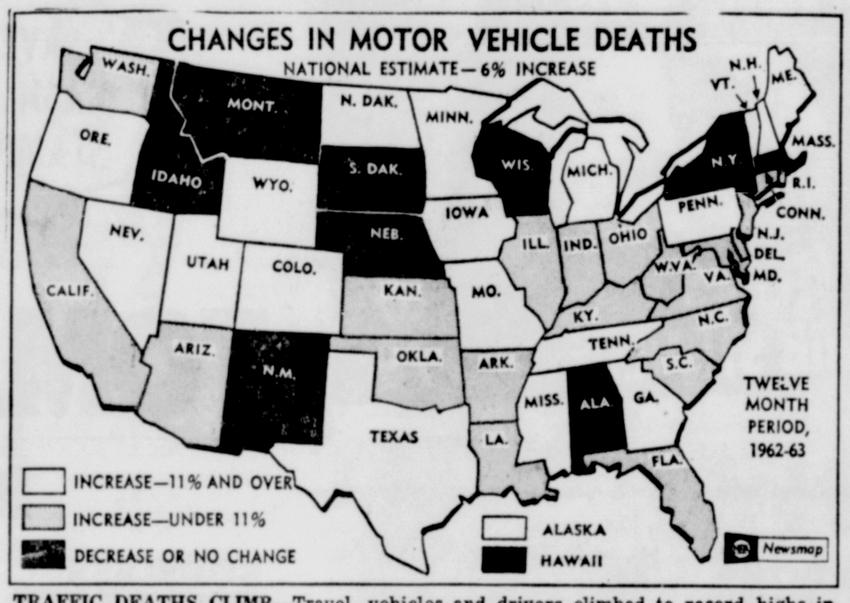
Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, N.J., assisted the CAB in analyzing the blurred conversation, the final communication between the Pacific Air Lines F27 and the Federal Aviation Agency control tower at San Francisco. The plane was approaching the city on a flight from Reno, Nev.

A parsec is a unit of astronomical measurement equal to approximately 19 trillion miles.



BUBBLE TANK—Shaped in the form of a double bubble for reasons of pressure, this unique new railway tank car can carry 50,000 liquid petroleum (LP) gas. The tank car was built by a Chicago firm to encourage railroads to reduce shipping rates by the economy of handling fewer cars for shipments.

WEARY PILGRIM—A Druse elder in Tiberias, Israel, found the soft carpets and pillows in the Tomb of Jethro too pleasant to ignore, so he stretched out for a nap. To 250,000 Druse scattered throughout Syria, Lebanon and Israel, the Tomb of Jethro, the Biblical father-in-law of Moses, is the holiest shrine.



TRAFFIC DEATHS CLIMB—Travel, vehicles and drivers climbed to record highs in 1963 and so did traffic deaths. Traffic accidents took an all-time toll of 43,400 lives last year. This was a 6 per cent increase over 1962's 40,804 lives. For December alone, in 1963, deaths totalled 4,110, an increase of 9 per cent over the 1962 figure for the month. Newsmap above shows percentage of increase or decrease per individual state for entire year of 1963. Data: Traffic Safety Magazine.

Local Firemen Report Progress On Centennial

NEW PALTZ—Centennial celebration committees reported progress to general co-chairmen George Ackert and William Weston who are directing the New Paltz Fire Department's gala celebration scheduled for July 6 through July 11.

Bruce Ashton, Len Coy and Weston of the parade float committee named additional participating units. Local chapters of the Fleet Cadets, the Lions Club, along with the Jaycees and Jayncees, have indicated their intention to enter appropriate floats commemorating the occasion.

Ray Morris and George Ackert of the fire unit parade committee had no additional entries from neighboring communities. John Weaver, John Taylor and Augie Martin, members of the parade participant refreshment committee, reported plans which promise a reward for those who make the trip with the parade.

The carnival committee, under the chairmanship of Chief Peter Savago and assisted by Smitty Rugar and Warren Belmore Sr., reported everything ready to go. Rides and amusements will be provided by the famous Reithoffer Shows. The local fire department will also provide several fine awards to be given at the conclusion of Carnival Week.

The general committee made special note that the New Paltz Fire Department is not sponsoring any commercial decorating organization which might canvass for business in the area. Any use of the department's name in the promotion of store front decorating sales campaigns is entirely without the knowledge or consent of the department. Such use of the department's name should be promptly referred to Chief Savago.

Would Delay Strike 2 Weeks

Wagner Wins Partial Agreement for Actors

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's musicals and plays were under an actors' strike threat today, but Mayor Robert F. Wagner won a partial agreement to submit the contract dispute to fact-finders.

Four years ago, when the current contract was negotiated, Broadway was blacked out for two weeks before a settlement was reached.

Talk Through Night

Representatives of the League of New York Theaters and the AFL-CIO Actors Equity Association met with Wagner and in separate caucuses from midnight to 5 a.m. today.

The league accepted his fact-finding proposal, which would put off today's 5 p.m. strike deadline for two weeks. But the union representatives said they wanted to consult with their governing body before making a decision.

An actors' strike would close 23 Broadway shows, including "Funny Girl," with Barbra Streisand, "Hello, Dolly" with Carol Channing, "Oliver!" and other hits, plus the Lincoln Center repertory theater and the New York State Theater, where Britain's royal Shakespeare company is appearing.

It would not affect the city center's revival of "My Fair Lady," the "Folies Bergere" on Broadway, or any off Broadway productions.

The union seeks a wage increase of $15 spread over a four-year agreement. Present weekly minimums are $117.50. The producers' offer was reported to be a $5 increase over the four years.

Seek 6-Day Week

The four-year contract expired last Sunday midnight, but Wagner won an extension to 5 p.m. today. Negotiations began April 23 and broke off at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Wagner then called the early morning meeting.

A union spokesman said another issue to be settled is Equity's demand for a "national six-day work week." He said that in many cities, such as Detroit and Chicago, road shows work seven days a week.

An actors' strike would idle 764 performers and would affect 4,000 others in related fields.

In 1960, 22 Broadway theaters were closed in a contract dispute. Equity forced cancellation of one show by calling a union meeting that lasted past curtain time. The producers responded by closing the other shows.

Talks May Bring About Study of Border Troubles

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Private talks between the Soviet Union and Morocco today may produce a unanimous Security Council decision for an on-the-spot U.N. study of border troubles between Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

Ambassadors Nikolai T. Fedorenko of the Soviet Union and Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco began discussions Wednesday night on the study proposed by Morocco and the Ivory Coast.

Diplomatic sources said they were hopeful that the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia could be persuaded to join the other nine council members in voting for the resolution.

The discussions were understood to concern suggestions the two Communist council members made Wednesday for changes in the resolution.

28 Are Treated After Subway Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Fire broke out in a subway station during the commuter rush period this morning and police said 28 persons needed medical treatment, mostly for smoke inhalation.

The blaze in the Washington Avenue station of the Independent Line at Fulton Street in Brooklyn quickly was brought under control. Police said it apparently started from an electrical short circuit in a train.

There was no apparent serious injury, police said, and fire damage was light.

Gave Drugs to Sons

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A father was arrested Wednesday night and accused of addicting his two teen-age sons to an opium compound he extracted from a drug purchased at drug stores.

James B. Yeargin was charged with manufacturing narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of his sons age 14 and 15.

Yeargin was held in lieu of $2,500 bond. The boys were detained at Juvenile Court.

Occupants Unhurt

Occupants of two motor vehicles escaped injury this morning when they collided on Route 28 near the Skytop Motel. One of the vehicles overturned. Edward Dmytry, 38, of Forrest Road, Wallkill, was traveling west on Route 28 in his panel truck. A car operated by Lana Luedtke, 60, of Boiceville, going east on Route 28 attempted to make a left turn, troopers reported. The right front of the Luedtke car struck the left of the truck causing the truck to roll over. Both vehicles were damaged. Trooper Searle of the Lake Katrine sub-station investigated.

Violence Flares Anew in Subway, Negro Stabs Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Violence struck in the New York subways again early today.

Ismael Valez, 42, was stabbed in the chest by an unidentified Negro on an IRT station at 72nd St. and Broadway, police reported. The assailant fled.

Valez was admitted to a hospital, which reported he was in satisfactory condition.

He told police he had just gotten off a train when the man plunged a knife into him without saying a word.

Drivers Fined Today In Kingston Court

Theodore J. Humphrey, 22, of 9 East Pierpont Street, booked on two charges after a two-car mishap April 15 at Spring and Hone Streets, pleaded guilty to one today in city court and was fined $10.

Police listed Humphrey as a driver for the Economy Cab Co., 12 Wilbur Avenue. He was charged with a stop-sign violation and with driving a vehicle with an unsafe tire. The latter was dismissed, and he paid the fine on the other.

Attorney Matthew A. Weishaupt appeared with Humphrey.

Two drivers, charged with speeding, Burtt Bliss, 42, of RD 5, Box 4, Kingston, and Fern Noll, 45, of RD 5, Box 332, Kingston, were fined $10 each.

List Dwindles To 15 Students In Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen contestants—eight boys and seven girls—remained in contention today in the 37th national Spelling Bee after 13 rounds of competition.

It was the first time in the contest that the boys outnumbered the girls. Competition began Wednesday with 44 girls and 26 boys.

Forty - three youngsters were eliminated when they misspelled words during the first nine rounds. Twelve others faltered during the first four rounds today as the words got tougher.

Ear for Sound

The boys and girls are competing for the $5,700 in prizes including a first prize of $1,000, and weekend trip to the New York World's Fair and a nationwide television appearance.

The 70 who started were sponsored by Scripps-Howard papers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers.

One official at the bee said in spelling, as in music, many youngsters have an ear for sound.

That's the opinion of Dr. Richard R. Baker, professor of philosophy at the University of Dayton, Ohio, who as pronouncer for the 37th national Spelling Bee is the sound for the boys and girls who must spell the tonguetwisters he tosses at them.

At day's end Wednesday, Baker had pronounced, definied and frequently used in sentences, 494 words.

Of the 70 youngsters from 33 states and the District of Columbia who started the competition only 27 remained for today's final rounds. The 27 survivors were 17 girls and 10 boys.

This is the fourth time Baker has acted as pronouncer for the bee which this year is sponsored by Scripps-Howard papers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers.

Many of the youngsters guessed at some of the words and heaved a sigh of relief after finding out their guess was correct. A misspelled word meant the sounding of a small bell by three judges and elimination of the contestant.

New Paltz Assault Trial Tonight in Town Hall at 8

Scheduled for trial at 8 o'clock tonight in the town hall before Justice of the Peace S. Parks Glenn of New Paltz is the third degree assault charges against 25-year-old James Conrad Warner who on April 7 allegedly struck a New Paltz State College professor with a baseball

Originally Warner was charged with second degree assault and the matter referred to the grand jury. After interviewing numerous witnesses in the case, the grand jury sent the case back to the justice's court recommending that Warner be charged by information with third degree assault. Dr. Gerson Robinson, 55, professor of mathematics at the college, stands charged with disorderly conduct.

The charges arose out of the alleged tearing down of what had been referred to as anti-Semetic literature from The Place bookstore window by the professor. Warner is alleged to have replaced material and told the professor that if he removed that he would hit him. He allegedly did strike Prof. Robinson over the head with a bat. The assault charge followed.

The matter has been adjourned several times. Assistant District Attorney Albert I. Lonstein will represent the prosecution.

Word Picture of Setting For Republican Convention

EDITOR'S NOTE—Next month the Republican party will decide on "The man who—" will carry its banner in the November presidential election. The choice will be made at the national convention in San Francisco. The following , first of two articles dealing with the Republican and Democratic convention sites, pictures the surroundings in which the Republican candidate will be selected.

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party, eager to take charge of the nation's future, shapes up its destiny soon in San Francisco, a city that is a proud prisoner of its past.

This seaport city, which a gold rush spawned and an earthquake couldn't kill, will be the mid-July mecca of 30,000 for the Republican National Convention—delegates, alternates, candidates, boosters, and newscamera, radio and television media.

The question whether the choice is to be Rockefeller or Goldwater or Nixon or Lodge or Scranton or someone else gets answered July 13-16 at the Cow Palace. The site for settling that 1964 issue is on the city's southeast side, seven miles across town from the .waterfront, where $2 million is being spent to restore the gas-light, sailing ship era of the 1870s, '80s and '90s at Aquatic Park.

The cavernous 16,000-seat Cow Palace, built in the depression years under the impetus of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and named by a critic of the New Deal, is the last place the Republicans picked a winner—Eisenhower for his second term in 1956.

Has Varied Program

Finally opened in 1941 as a livestock pavilion, the $11-million, 315,200-square-foot, cream-colored structure since has crammed in crowds at the rate of more than 1¾ million a year for:

The swelling hymns of a Billy Graham crusade; the thud of boxing gloves; the groan of wrestlers; the swish of ice hockey skates; and the appearance of the late John F. Kennedy.

Its name dates from the depression years. Families were being evicted from homes, and a critic scoffed that was no time to be building "a palace for cows." The name stuck, was formally adopted.

In July, the Cow Palace becomes a window for the world. On a desk in the fifth floor Suite K at the St. Francis Hotel, offices of the GOP arrangements committee, is a bulging stack of white cards listing who is coming, to view and to report.

Moscow Writers Coming

The Soviet Union is sending writers for Pravda, Izvestia and Tass. Moscow radio will be represented. Also Poland's news agency, and Hungary's radio and television. Most of London's newspapers. Likewise Tokyo's. Writers from India, Australia, Spain, Sweden, West Germany —to name a few of the more than 65 foreign media.

More than 150 United States newspapers will send staffs to fill most of the 952 working press seats on the convention floor. They, along with news association corps, will keep busy 325 teletypewriter lines and many of the 3,000 telephones.

At the moment, inside the pillarless, postless arena, hammers are banging and drills whirring at work on 100-foot-long anchor booths being built over northside seats.

These 20-foot - deep stages—part of $4-million in Cow Palace work related to the convention —will allow television cameras of the major U.S. networks to sweep over the crowd.

Plans call for more than 100 video channels, 264 radio circuits, 45 channels of telegraph equipment, a hookup of more than 36,000 miles of communication wires.

This center of activity is a 67-acre area in Visitacion Valley almost within earshot of Willie Mays' bat meeting the ball at Candlestick Park, eastward beside the bay. Baseball's National League Giants are among additions to the San Francisco pattern since the 1956 GOP convention.

Happy Prisoner

Some San Franciscans look upon that as a symbol—that the city has gone "big league." Actually it hasn't, can't, and wouldn't. San Francisco, as newcomers at the convention will quickly see, is a happy prisoner of geography and tradition.

Its 750,000 people of all races —three of every 10 either were born outside the United States or have one parent of foreign stock—are squeezed into the tip of a 32-mile-long peninsula. The population density is nearly 16,000 to a square mile.

That doesn't count more than 125,000 who commute back and forth over the bridges, freeways and rail lines to work.

Convention visitors who have been to San Francisco before will note a few changes. The Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill now has a rooftop drinking spot a little higher than its neighboring rival Top of the Mark.

Conrad Hilton has added a hotel of 1,200 rooms to the more than 25,000 in the city's 500 hotels and 65 motels.

But the crabs are still boiled alive in water vats down at Fisherman's Wharf as they have been for half a century. In narrow Grant Avenue, heart of 116-year-old Chinatown, merchants peddle oriental wares that in many instances are embarrassingly stamped "Made in Japan."

One Change Jolts

One change in the life pattern has jolted San Franciscans. In a melting pot of 55,000 of Italian extraction, 50,000 Chinese, 10,000 Japanese and a host of other nationalities, Negro groups have staged demonstrations in support of demands for more jobs.

These have resulted in mass arrests; cost the city an estimated million dollars; clogged the municipal courts; and caused more discussion of the civil rights issue—an inevitable big plank in the GOP platform —than many a San Franciscan ever dreamed necessary.

Down at the Cow Palace, its management is taking the convention in stride. While telephone technicians fidget over delays in getting to their work, a wrestling match—which often draws bigger crowds than political conventions—will be staged June 27.

And in August, soon after the convention paraphernalia is carted away, there'll be a different type of crowd - catcher: from London—the Beatles.

Terrorist Admits Saigon Grenade, Four Are Nabbed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Saigon police nabbed four Communist terrorists today and said one admitted planting a grenade at a Saigon bar Feb. 1 that killed one American serviceman and seriously injured another.

That terrorist was Pham Van Tu, 36, police said. He and two others arrested today posed as taxi drivers.

Their arrest followed the apprehension of a senior Viet Cong agent, Nguyen Van Cu, 38, who was waiting for other agents at Gia Dinh village for a secret meeting.

Police said Van Cu's assignment was to enlist boys and girls into the underground movement.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Communist Viet Cong platoon overran and seized a small government outpost, 17 miles northwest of Saigon, Wednesday morning, military authorities here announced today.

Grave of Original 'Mademoiselle' Found in France

LILLE, France (AP) — A group of British Tommies of 1914 found the grave of the woman they believe was the original "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." They plan to raise a monument in her honor.

On a pilgrimage in the 50th anniversary year of the bloody World War I battles along the French-Belgian border, the delegation located the grave in the Armentieres cemetery.

The veterans told newsmen the woman, Marie Lecoq, was an independent and proper barmaid in a small cafe when the British expeditionary force arrived. An officer who became too familiar got a resounding slap.

The officer was Harry Carlton, who later wrote the famous song that began "Mademoiselle from Armentieres, parlez-vous?" The veterans said the story was found in Carlton's personal papers.

Miss Lecoq died in 1945. She was said to have received a British pension for life for having worked as a contact agent.

Quads Born Tuesday Die in New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—The Peloro quadrulpets, born prematurely on Tuesday, are dead.

The boy died shortly before noon, Wednesday, the three girls late Wednesday night with in 40 minutes.

Authorities at Long Island Jewish Hospital, Queens, said the boy and one of the girls had respiratory troubles and the other two "died quite suddenly." No cause was given.

The quads were born to Mrs. Salvatore Peloro, 30, of Brooklyn, who fas reported doing fine. Peloro, 35, a plumber who has been out of work since November, had an offer of a job at a housing project.

Continues River Excursion After 'Trouble' Report

NEW YORK — An excursion vessel with 2,100 high school pupils aboard radioed today it was turning back from a Bear Mountain cruise because of "trouble" aboard—but later said all was well and that the Hudson River trip would proceed.

The messages came from the Hudson River Day Line excursion boat Alexander Hamilton which had left Pier 81, Hudson River, at 10:15 a. m.

The trouble call came shortly before 11 a. m.

First reports did not indicate the nature of the "trouble."

Police cars gathered at Pier 81 in response to the first message.

The 2,100 boys and girls were on an outing from 10 high schools.

The line's offices reported shortly before noon that "everything's under control and they are on their way to Bear Mountain."

Bear Mountain is about 70 miles north of New York City, near West Point. It is a popular recreation area.

A representative of the line said indications were the trouble was among the passengers and not through any malfunction of the ship.

Planes to Step Up War Against Viet Cong: Moore

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of the 2nd Air Division, said today new Skyraider fighter-bombers are being brought into South Viet Nam to step up the war against Communist Viet Cong forces and not because the planes they replace are obsolete or unsafe.

Moore said the single-seater A1H and the two-seater A1E Skyraiders are bigger, faster and heavier than the T28 fighter-bombers and B26 light bombers that have been carrying on the air operations.

"They can carry a wider variety of ordnance. They have more endurance and great flying time."

Moore denied reports the T28 and B26 were obsolete or unsafe and that they had been sent here because they were leftovers from previous wars.

The new planes will double the strength and quadruple the firepower of the force here under a program announced by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara last month.

The Skyraiders carry 12,000 pounds of ordnance compared to the 3,500 pounds carried by T28s and 6,000 by the B26s. Moore said he saw no need for jet planes in Viet Nam under present circumstances.

Moore, from Spartanburg, S.C., took command of the 2nd Air Division four months ago.

Dixiecrats Reject Rights Vote With Limited Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats turned down today a Senate leadership proposal to start voting Monday on the civil rights bill under a strict limitation on debate.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montanta, the Democratic leader, asked unanimous consent for such voting after charges of Dixie forces that the bill's proponents were now conducting a counterfilibuster to avoid a vote on pending jury trial amendments.

In objecting to the request, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the Southern leader, called it an attempt to put the blame for the failure to vote on opponents of the House-passed bill.

Mansfield's request was to limit debate on all of more than 300 amendments to one half hour each and on a leadership substitute for the House bill to two hours, beginning Monday.

If agreed to, this would have wiped out any need to try to carry out the plans to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule.

Russell said that the Southerners could not agree to the request because, he maintained, it would not allow adequate time to consider all the proposed amendments to the bill.

Senate leaders discounted suggestions that their chances of getting the Senate to vote a debate limitation had been hurt by the California primary or by the tactical ..maneuvers of opponents.

If Barry Opposes Johnson

Choice of Voters Would Be On 2 Distinct Philosophies

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Sen. Barry Goldwater gets the Republican presidential nomination and runs against President Johnson, voters will get a chance to make a choice that hasn't been given them in years.

It will be a choice between two distinct philosophies of government as represented by the candidates if not exactly by the parties:

The liberalism of Johnson and the conservatism preached by Goldwater, although some consider the conservative label far too liberal for Goldwater.

Even so, the difference between the two men would be so apparent that no one could miss it.

Every four years Democrats and Republicans put on a song-and-dance — a so - called discussion of the issues — which is supposed to point out the difference between the two parties. In reality any difference is hardly visible.

Both Have Liberals

The Democrats and Republicans these days are practically one and the same party and for the same reason. Both have their own batch of liberals and reactionaries but the majority in both are conservatives.

So for years in election after election voters have not really been choosing between parties so much as between individual candidates and then not on issues but on personality.

Three examples tell the story: Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, when he opposed Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952, was a national military hero, widely known and highly popular. Stevenson was a likeable man, too, but he had neither Eisenhower's prestige nor fame.

Would Have Won as Demo

It so happened that Eisenhower was elected on the Republican ticket. But can anyone doubt he would have won just as overwhelmingly if he had run as a Democrat? The same two men went through the same routine again in 1956.

In 1960, there was little difference between the expressed philosophies of John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Kennedy's record in the Senate had been only moderately liberal. Nixon talked the same.

Unfortunately for Nixon, he had a knack of antagonizing people who had never been closer to him than a television screen. And Kennedy, a much more relaxed and friendly figure, won but only by a squeak.

Stuck by Conservatives

Yet, when Kennedy sent some of his liberal programs to a Congress run by big Democratic majorities in both houses, they got stuck by the conservatives of his own party. Medical care is an example.

This year, at least, even though the two parties retained that same twin - like look, two candidates like Johnson and Goldwater would be definitely different in what they stood for.

If there was that same difference between the parties — one liberal, one highly conservative — the voters could make a far more intelligent choice of the party they wanted to run the government.

If the Goldwater supporters got control of the party—it's unlikely this year—long enough for it to be saturated by their views, the voters in time would have a clear-cut choice. But there's also danger in this for Republicans.

Could Hurt Badly

If the mood of the country turned out to be far more liberal than Goldwater seems to think — and republicanism becomes synonymous with conservatism in the public mind — it could wreck the party totally or for years.

But at least the nation would get in a Johnson-Goldwater fight a chance long missing to show how it feels.

Goldwater as a presidential candidate would have to organize his thinking far better than he has so far while campaigning as a would-be candidate if he is going to present any clear-cut, comprehensible philosophy of government.

Up till now he's been mostly critical of the Democrats without offering any detailed and constructive program of his own.

The campaigns he and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller put on have been almost incredible from a sober, political standpoint. They went in more for pep talks than programs. They didn't talk issues. They talked generalities.

Their whole show was, for those reasons, primitive politics.

Children in the family are two girls ages five and seven and three boys, ages three, eight and 10. Adult sizes are women's dresses 24½ and 14; men's pants size 34 waist, 31 length.

The Rev. Mr. Banks who is conducting the appeal said that the family would be most appreciative of anything that is done. He may be contacted at 27 Jansen Avenue. Members of the congregation are assisting with the appeal.

Shock Fence Keeps Beavers in Check

Beaver dams in front of the intake pipe at Hudson's New Forge reservoir lowered the intake of water to such an extent that the city's water supply was threatened. City officials contacted the Conservation Department seeking a solution. When trapping of the beavers was ruled out the city installed an electric fence in front of the intake pipe.

To date the beavers have been so shocked by the procedure that they have not been heard from. The situation now appears to be well in hand and water supply to Hudson has been improved.

Bufalino Returns As Witness on Deportation Move

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Russell Bufalino, fighting a 1958 deportation order, was called back to the witness stand today at a hearing before an examiner of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The 60-year-old Kingston, Pa., resident was on the stand for a brief time Wednesday but stormed out of the hearing while being cross-examined by Vincent Chiano, counsel for the immigration service.

John Wasserman, counsel for Bufalino, apologized to William Tuffet, immigration examiner, and asked for a recess since his client was "too upset to continue." Chiano agreed to the request and Tuffet granted it, delaying his return to the witness stand until today.

Bufalino became angry during questioning by Chiano about a meeting with two of the 65 men who attended the alleged crime convention at Apalachin, N. Y., in 1957. Bufalino said he met with the two men two days before the gathering began on Nov. 16.

Chiano asked him if he had not seen them two months prior to the Apalachin meeting.

"What are you doing, calling me a liar?" Bufalino shouted. "What are you trying to prove? I have answered these questions 1,900 times to you people and I am becoming angry with this questioning.

"Believe me, I am as truthful as you are. You are being capricious, arbitrary and un-American. It is certainly unconstitutional."

When Chiano pursued his cross-examination, Bufalino got up from the witness chair and, still shouting, marched toward the exit. He remained out of the hearing room for 10 minutes before returning quietly.

At Bradley Property Site

Controversy Is Developing Over Proposed Supermarket

A king-sized public controversy may be developing over the proposed building of an A&P supermarket and shopping center on the Woodstock site commonly known as the Bradley property.

The area is on the north side of Route 212 and between the Woodstock Playhouse property and the Gulf gas station and across from the present Grand Union. It is regarded as one of the most picturesque and desirable open spaces left in Woodstock.

The rumored supermarket and shopping center development was enveloped in political controversy last November and now appears to be headed for spirited public debate and opposition by local residents.

The long dormant Woodstock Association for the Conservation and Improvement of the Township has issued a statement on the matter. So have the Woodstock Tree Trust and Woodstock Planning Board.

The WAA and Planning Board have made objective statements both of which underscore the futility of public opposition to the proposed project because there is no zoning ordinance in the town of Woodstock. The Tree Trust moved into the picture after receiving inquiries about the felling of a large maple tree on Mill Hill Road at the site of the former Bradley property.

A Sign Appears

Shortly after workmen began cutting down the tree, a sign appeared at the entrance to the property and bore the legend, "Buckstown or Woodstock?"

During the 1963 political campaign stout denials were issued that the area, earmarked for recreational purposes on the Planning Board map, would be converted into a shopping center. Woodstock editor Sylvia Kondolf broke the original story that interests represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John of Kingston had purchased the highly desirable tract.

It has been established in recent days that plans for an A&P Market have been submitted to Philip Spinelli of New York, who is associated with St. John in the development.

A Planning Board statement this week notes that "the Master Plan for Woodstock, adopted by the Planning Board some time ago, shows this area as recreational open space, with a playground. The land is inclined to be of a swampy nature and has been flooded with many feet of water in several spring thaws. The planning consultants who assisted the Planning Board in preparing the Master Plan felt it was not suitable for residential or commercial use. Further, the land is not considered suitable for usual sewage disposal due to the high water table."

"So far as aesthetics of the proposed buildings are concerned, it is impossible to give an opinion," the PB statement continues. "The promoters of the project have promised to discuss these with the Planning Board after negotiations for use of the land have been completed. These have not yet been finalized, according to recent information."

"The authority of the Planning Board, except for the control of residential subdivisions, is purely advisory. It has no authority to specify types of land use in any area. This can be done only through a Zoning Ordinance, which is in course of preparation by the Zoning Commission, and this will be effective only when adopted by the Town Board."

WAA Statement

The Woodstock Association said it received many telephone calls and inquiries from property owners protesting the placement of the rumored shopping center.

Its formal statement follows: "The Woodstock Association has investigated the situation but finds apparently no violations of existing ordinances or land use control regulations."

With undisguised despair, the WAA statement concludes: "Without a Zoning Ordinance in effect there is no protection against commercial exploitation. The Zoning Commission is now at work on a proposed Zoning Ordinance. This must be adopted by the Town Board after public hearings before the property owners of the township can avail themselves of the protection of such an ordinance. It is understood that a petition is being circulated requesting quick action by our public officials."

Tree Trust Statement

With respect to the tree felled on the Bradley site, the Tree Trust said:

"The Tree Trust is pleased to announce that the tree in question was in advanced state of decay and the felling does not represent a loss to our tree stand. In fact, the Woodstock Tree Trust had been consulted beforehand on the removal and could only agree that such a removal was in the public interest. The trees along this highway stand in the right of way of the New York State Department of Public Works and removal is therefore the responsibility and charge of the department. Care of the existing trees and replacement and replanting of new trees on this and other public roads is within the program of the Woodstock Tree Trust and the town's shade tree fund, who are actively engaged in this work."

With respect to the former Bradley property, attorney St. John acknowledged purchase of the tract prior to last November's election. At that time he indicated work would start before the end of 1963. But nothing happened until a crew was seen working on the trees several days ago and the controversial issue is now in the open.

New Tank Next Project for Company No. 3

The installation of a thousand-gallon tank on its tank truck is the next scheduled improvement for Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, serving the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady areas.

Captain Alfred Ostrander announced Wednesday that a thousand-gallon tank has been purchased to replace the 700 gallon tank now in use.

The new tank, according to the fire captain, will not only increase the available water supply for fire fighting but will include a larger outlet pipe which will allow a larger volume of water to be utilized at one time, through the pumping apparatus.

Water from the company's tank truck has been utilized many times at fires in the territory, with excellent results, according to Captain Ostrander. The increased capacity of the tank truck will give Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 a total gallonage of 1,700 that will be available immediately at any fire.

Students Going To Theatre at Onteora Central

If someone were to ask you what is the best way to introduce young people to the drama, you would probably say, without a moment's hesitation, "Take them to the theatre!!" And that is just what they're doing at Onteora.

Last week during their regular English class periods, high school students met in the Little Theatre to see two one-act plays presented by the Drama Class. These productions grew from an English teacher's desire to expose students to an experience in living theatre, to change the usual classroom approach from reading and discussing drama, to experiencing it as it actually should be experienced — interpreted by actors before an audience.

Ralph Wesselmann has directed this program for two years, choosing plays that present a variety of dramatic techniques and themes, introducing the students to theatre in an atmosphere as identical to that of the legitimate theatre as can be created, and discussing the performances immediately after they have been viewed. During this time he has presented and discussed tragedy, comedy, melodrama and theatre of the absurd.

Last week the group presented Tennessee Williams' "The Case of the Crushed Petunias" and Susan Glaspell's "Suppressed Desires." A special adult performance of these two one-act plays is being given on Thursday, June 4, at 8:40 p. m., in the Little Theatre at Onteora Central School.

Only Two Fire Calls in Month Despite Drought

Despite the prolonged dry spell in May, there were only two fire alarms for the entire month, Fire Chief George Haythorne reported at the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1. There was one emergency call and one for a brush fire.

The chief complimented the personnel of the department for their fine turnout and showing in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock.

Peter Koehn, chairman, announced that all arrangements have been completed for the annual fund raising drive in August. Robert Smith reported that the tank truck has been delivered and is now in the process of being converted for use by the company.

There was a first reading of a proposed change in by-laws with respective to active membership and dues. There will be a second reading and a vote taken at the July meeting. All members are asked to attend this meeting.

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sign on the movie stage door seemed ominous: "Welcome—proceed at your own risk."

Inside on the set of "The Night Walker," everything looked cozy enough. His and her dressing rooms were side by side, his in shades of royal blue and hers in moss green.

Nearby Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor were seated next to each other, engaged in friendly conversation with director William Castle.

"How old were you when you made 'Camille'—30?" Castle inquired of Taylor.

"No, I was 25," the actor replied.

Co-Starred Before

"I was the one who was 30!" said Stanwyck, and all laughed heartily.

That is the tone of things on the set where Bob and Barbara are making their third film together, the first since their 1951 divorce. She has remained single, he married German actress Ursula Thiss.

Their previous co-starrings were "His Brother's Wife" and "This Is My Affair," both before their 1939 marriage. Their reunion has caused a considerable stir in Hollywood, which is not easily stirred. Both refuse to recognize the fuss.

"A job is a job," reasoned Stanwyck, ever the pro.

Both rose immediately when the buzzer sounded notice that the camera crew was ready. They hurried to the set and took their positions in a chapel scene.

The scene called for Miss Stanwyck, newly widowed, to express concern to Taylor, the family lawyer, over dreams that seemed close to reality. The rehearsal was letterperfect, but she wasn't satisfied.

Strikes the Spark

"It's too pat," she complained to Castle. "I played it very bad. As a matter of fact, it stunk."

She rehearsed it once more, finally striking the spark of spontaniety she was seeking.

The makeup crew moved in for final touches on the famous pair. Miss Stanwyck's silver hair was coaxed into place. Taylor ran a comb through his locks, still widow's-peaked and luxuriant. The players hit their marks and the scene began.

"Cut — print it!" announced Castle when it was over. He sighed to a bystander, "This is how movies should be made."

Coolest Colors

No matter how many bright shades are available in cool summer cottons, steer clear of wearing them unless you want to look as hot as you feel. Lavendar, green and blue are colors that will make you look cool on the hottest day.

K of C Council Names Officers

William B. Fairley Sr. was elected Grand Knight of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus Monday night.

Other officers elected for 1964-65 are Joseph Bruno, Deputy Grand Knight; John Graney, chancellor; Joseph Bohn, warden; PGK Russell Brott, treasurer; Thomas Lyle, recorder; Francis X. Tucker, advocate; Robert McCullough and William Glennon, guards and PGK John Fitzgerald, trustee.

New officers will assume duties July 1.

End for Bills

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Iowa University end Cloyd Webb has been signed by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

The 6-5, 208-pounder will probably see duty as a split end, Coach Lou Saban said Wednesday after the signing.

New Breed of Politician

Bingham Could Be Demo's Best Hope For '66 Governor

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State Democratic leaders will have to make room for Jonathan Brewster Bingham in their long-range political planning.

One of Biggest Surprises

His name is almost sure to come up in speculation on a party candidate for governor in 1966.

Bingham produced one of the biggest political surprises in years when he handed U.S. Rep. Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx his first political defeat since he was elected to Congress 30 years ago.

Bingham won the nomination for Buckley's seat after a rough, hard-fought campaign in which the Buckley forces overlooked few of the old-time, roundhouse political tricks.

Bingham survived and became one of the few Democrats projected into prominence in the party in recent years solely by the support of voters.

The party has tended of late to select its top candidates on the basis of some grand, strategic design worked out in private councils. A candidate is then chosen and the finished product—candidate and strategy—presented to the party.

Bingham could well break that pattern.

He is one of a new breed of politicians who have proved their ability to win while ignoring the hoary rituals that veteran politicians swear by.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller came into office on that new wave. So did the late President Kennedy. Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-Manhattan) fits the description.

They are young—or youthful looking—well-educated, often in Ivy League schools, attractive and more concerned with the pressing issues of the day than with such approaches as Buckley's boasts of his ability to do favors for his constituents.

Same Old List

Bingham has appeared on the scene at a time when the Democratic Party has been having difficulty expanding its tiny ranks of prospects for high office.

Whether it's for U.S. senator this year or governor in 1966, the same old list is mentioned—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, Queens Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor and former Gov. Averell Harriman (whom Bingham once served as secretary).

The average Democrat would have difficulty expanding that list.

The ranks of serious possibilities for U.S. senator this year are so slim that the party is fired up over speculation that Atty. Gen Robert F. Kennedy might move into the state and run.

If Bingham wins election to Congress, as he probably will in the heavily Democratic district, he will have two years to make himself better known.

Then, it will be 1966 and the party will be seeking a candidate for governor, which might provide a golden opportunity for a bright new face in state Democratic politics.

Shades of Keystone Cops

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Three detectives were returning a prisoner to Wichita from Kansas City when their car broke down.

The officers said several motorists were startled to see the policemen pushing the car while the manacled prisoner sat in the driver's seat steering.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Once Upon a Mattress," the bright Broadway musical comedy of five seasons ago that exposed the inside story of the princess and the pea legend and made Carol Burnett a star, managed the difficult journey from stage to television screen.

A lively adaptation occupied 90 minutes on CBS Wednesday night, with Miss Burnett in her original role given every opportunity to clown and sing tuneful songs.

The original tale makes a sweet bedtime story for children but the more sophisticated musical comedy was better — far better — suited to adult ears which explains the rather late hour at which the network scheduled the production.

The book amplified the background of the fairy tale of the princess who proved her royal sensitivity by being made sleepless by a pea placed under 20 mattresses. It was a perfect setup for Miss Burnett's talents. In spite of this, actor Jack Gilford came close to stealing the show away from her. He was a delight as the mute king, silenced by a sorcerer's spell and able to express himself only by playing a game of "Stump The Stars."

The production was excellent, the dancing imaginative, the music charming and the dialogue often sly and amusing. But the frequent lengthy interruptions for commercials had the distresssing effect of destroying, time after time, the audience's mood and the whole spirit of the fantasy. If the poor king needed a spell-breaker, he had a great one in the sponsor's earnest sales pitches.

The Roman tax system was all inclusive at its height, with charges on land, property and income, plus poll, luxury, temple and road fees.

$40,000 Damage Is Reported in Hotel Annex Fire

Fire which caused an estimated $40,000 damage to an annex of Young's Gap Hotel on old Route 17 about a half mile north of Liberty was under investigation today by Fire Chief Leon Killian and member of the Ferndale State Police B.C.I. unit.

The fire was discovered about 5:12 p. m. Tuesday in the unoccupied building which had been used to house employes of Young's Hotel. The premises were being converted for use by guests of the hotel.

Shortly after the fire was discovered it was reported shouting and moaning had been heard from inside the premises but a check of employes and guests indicated no one missing. However, the check was being continued today by troopers and firemen to ascertain whether someone had been caught in the building.

The annex was located a considerable distance from the hotel and was undergoing remodeling in preparation to being used this season as a hotel annex for guests, state police at Ferndale reported.

There will be 538 electoral votes cast for President this year.

Conductors, Program Announced for County Music Festival; Five Schools to Take Part

EDWARD T. GREEN

The Ulster County Music Festival will be presented at the Ellenville High School Auditorium Saturday 2 p. m.

Guest conductors have been announced as Ernest E. Harris, professor of music education at Columbia University and Edward T. Green, superintendent of school, Rondout Valley Central School. Participating schools are Ellenville, Highland, Marlboro, New Paltz, and Rondout Valley.

Mr. Harris, who will conduct the county band, is a well known author, clinician and conductor. He is presently head of the instrumental department at Teachers College, Columbia University. Last fall he conducted the Area State-Sectional in Albany. He has conducted many clinics and festivals throughout the state. His publications include instrumental and orchestral series.

The county chorus conductor, Mr. Green, is a music graduate of Ithaca College. He taught instrumental music for several years at Palmyra. While there he conducted the Community Chorus and the Western Presbyterian Church Choir. During the time which he was the central school administrator in New Berlin, he conducted the Methodist Church Choir, the Baptist Church Choir, and the Community Chorus in performances of cantata and oratoric literature. At present as the superintendent of school, Rondout Valley, he is the director of the Marbletown Dutch Reformed Church Choir and the Lyric Choristers of Kingston. This year he will again be a guest director at the Ocean Grove Choir Festival.

The 80-voice county chorus will sing Gloria in Excelsis by Mozart, Madame Jeanette by Murray, Live A-Humble arrainged by Hairston, selections from Camelot by Lowe, and the Exodus Song by Gold. Special selections are planned by the RVCS Girls' Ensemble and Les Chanteurs of Ellenville. The accompanist will be Stanley Wainapel from Ellenville.

The 75-piece county band will play Beginner's Luck by Wilder, American Folk Rhapsody by Grundman, Bugler's Holiday by Anderson, Poet and Peasant Overture by Suppe, and Totem Pole March by Osterling.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

SHOULD MAN RISE FOR MOTHER-IN-LAW?

Q: On several occasions when I have gone to visit my daughter, her husband was seated in the living room watching television. When I entered the room he never even as much as made an attempt to get up to greet me. When I remarked about this discourtesy he said that it was not necessary to get up to greet a member of the family. I think a man should rise to greet a woman visitor at all times, regardless of whether she is a member of the family or a stranger. I would like your opinion.

A: Your son-in-law most certainly should rise to greet you when you go to visit them just as he would any other visitor. If you were living in the house with them, it would be absurd to expect him to rise every time you came in.

Clothes of the Bridegroom's Father

Q: My son is going to be married at an afternoon wedding. All the men in the wedding party, including the bride's father, are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats. My husband has planned on wearing a navy blue business suit but my son has told me that he has to dress the same as the men in the bridal party. Will you please tell me if this is necessary?

A: The bridegroom's father has no part in the ceremony and he need not, if he doesn't choose to, wear what the men in the bridal party are wearing.

When the American Flag Passes

Q: What is the proper etiquette exacted by both men and women when watching a parade and the American flag passes in review?

A: Both stop talking, face the flag with shoulders back and head up, and the men take off their hats and hold them over their left breasts.

Local Hadassah Installs Officers, Honors Retiring President at End of Season Fete

Mrs. Herbert Gertner was installed as president of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah Monday night as the women's Zionist organization held its closing meeting of the year at the Skytop Restaurant.

On the new slate are the Mmes. Sidney Halpern, executive vice president; Walter Suskind, membership vice president; Alvin Motzkin, vice president in charge of donor activities; Sidney Treinkman, treasurer; Alfred Zamm, recording secretary; Manuel Lipton, financial secretary; William Buchbinder, corresponding secretary; Irving Josephson, secretary to the board; and Stewart Ritchie, president's secretary. Walter Suskind was installing official.

Mrs. Arthur Landesman, retiring president, presided over the meeting, which was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Walter Suskind. Mrs. Suskind introduced Hadassah's guests for the evening, Mrs. Froman Mehl, Reva Stutz and the Misses Arlene Buchbinder, Marilyn Jacobs and Laurie Gertner.

Mrs. Motzkin, donor vice president, reported on the successful projects on behalf of Hadassah Medical Organization; in charge were Mrs. Carl Bernstein and Mrs. Aaron Bahl, New and Nearly New shops; Mrs. Alfred Horowitz, ad page; Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, awards; and Mrs. Motzkin, Eye Bank Day.

The chapter culminates its projects for HMO with its Donor Day set for Sunday, June 14, at the Nevele, Ellenville. Members may use the hotel's facilities during the day for swimming or golf. A cocktail hour and dinner will be followed by Broadway entertainment and dancing. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Motzkin or Mrs. George Starkman.

The chapter honored the memory of the late Mrs. Bertha Smolen with the presentation of a Health Frontiers certificate to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jack Smolen. Mrs. N. P. Gross made the presentation and spoke on Mrs. Smolen's contributions to the chapter. Her name will be entered in the Book of Memory at the Hadassah-Hebrew University Hospital in Jerusalem and at the national Hadassah House in New York. An afgan made by the late Mrs. Smolen and presented to the group was used as an HMO benefit; the winner was Miss Nancy Davis.

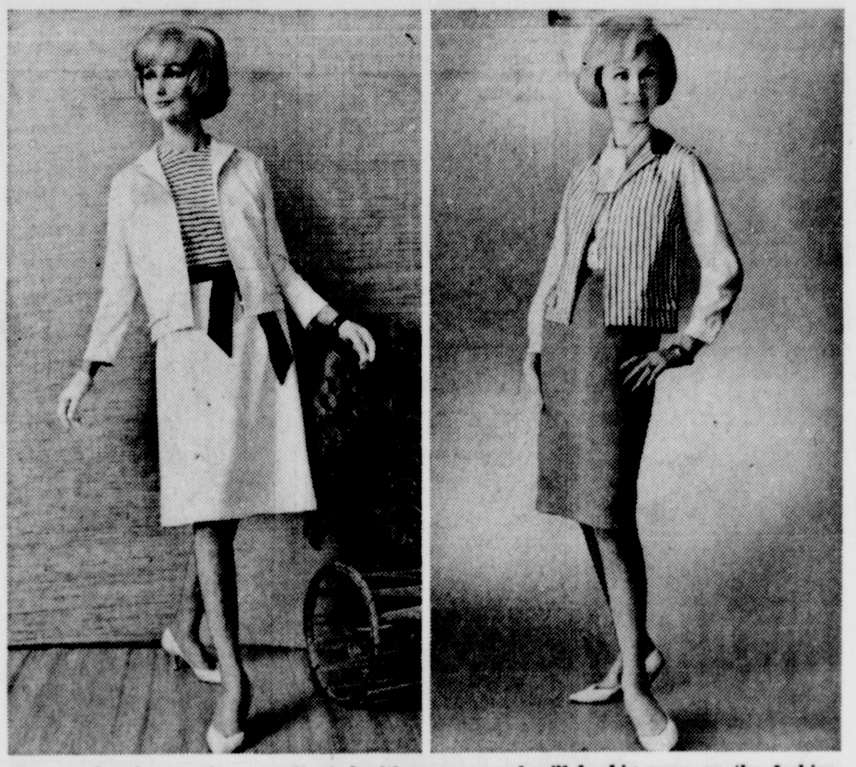
In her report on the year, Mrs. Landesman cited accomplishments of the organization in all its projects, through which Kingston women aid Hadassah's work throughout the world, not only in Israel, but also in the newly-emerging countries in Africa where Hadassah-trained workers direct community health projects. She noted Hadassah's achievements in education, public health, child rescue and land reclamation, pointing out the local group's share in these. She thanked her officers and board members for their help throughout the year and for "showing the essence of Hadassah: a desire to rise above one's self, an urge to create and to grow; a spirit of grace and an educated heart."

Mrs. Gertner presented Mrs. Landsman with her past president's pin; a gift from the membership was presented by Mrs. Robert Yallum, a former president.

In her acceptance speech, Mrs. Gertner noted that Hadassah women have forged a link between the United States and Israel, a link built of faith and dedication and based on the creed: "I am my brother's keeper." She noted her pride in Hadassah's projects—its hospital, Youth Aliyah, Jewish National Fund—and in Hadassah's women. "American women who appreciate all they have and want to share with Israel, you who can so successfully cherish two million people you've never met." She thanked the members for the honor of working for and with them and pledged her utmost abilities in fulfilling the tasks in the year ahead.

The program for the evening was an original musical comedy written by the Mmes. Murray Fletcher and Melvin Navy. Narrated by Mrs. Stanley London, the Dark Horse depicted the attempts of six Presidential candidates to attain Hadassah's highest office. The candidates included the Mmes. Robert Davis, Arnold Pinsly, Samuel Levine, Charles Forst, Melvin Navy and Mike Weiner. The skit ended with a tribute to the dark horse winner, Mrs. Gertner, and to the retiring president, Mrs. Landesman. Piano accompanist was Melvin Navy.

Mrs. Fletcher was in charge of the evening's program, aided by the Mmes. Melvin Navy, co-chairman, David Kline, Sidney Pauker and Harold Newman.



Cream-colored separates, co-ordinated with navy or red will be big news on the fashion scene for spring and summer. Wamsutta's cotton double knit was used by Knitmaster for these two versions of the new trend. Lined Chanel-type jacket (left) has turn-back collar, half belt at back and brass buttons on sleeves and tab pockets. A-line gored skirt stars a navy tie belt. Shell top is in navy and cream stripes. Sporty striped waistcoat in red and cream (right) is worn over a cream ascot-tie blouse and fashion-matched with a red slim skirt.

Staying in Fight to End

Rockefeller Will Plug For Liberal Platform

By MALCOLM STEPHENSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says present indications are that Sen. Barry Goldwater will win the Republican presidential nomination on the first or second ballot at the national convention—but "I'm staying right in this to the end."

Long Time to Go

"There's a long time between now and the convention in San Francisco and it's hard to tell what is going to happen," he said.

At a news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller discussed his loss of 86 delegates to Goldwater in Tuesday's California primary and looked ahead to the Republican National Convention opening July 13.

In addition to declaring he will continue his campaign for the Republican nomination, Rockefeller reiterated that the GOP convention must adopt a "forward-looking" platform. He said he intends to fight for such a platform.

Rockefeller, in campaigning against the conservative senator from Arizona, has said this year's Republican platform should be similar to the liberal platforms of 1956 and 1960.

He said at the news conference that he thinks every Republican would support Goldwater if he ran on a "forward-looking" platform.

Rockefeller said he hopes public opinion will bring Goldwater into "the mainstream of American thinking," and added: "The senator said Wednesday night he was in the mainstream of American thought, and all I can say is that we've got a meandering stream. There are hazards in that river."

Rockefeller said he believes the Republican platform should be drafted first, and a candidate then selected to run on it.

Favor Compromise Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts were under way today to write a compromise amendment permitting prayers in the public schools less sweeping than the major one now being proposed.

The effort is being undertaken by proponents of the original measure, who now feel there is little chance for winning approval of it in the House Judiciary Committee.

The committee completed six weeks of hearings on all proposed amendments Wednesday and will get down to deciding what action to take in two or three weeks.

"The divorce was so quick, I still don't know what I'm doing," said Miss Lane a few hours later in an interview at an airport in San Antonio, Tex. Cugat didn't contest the divorce.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Peter Sellers etched a heart, his hands and his feet in fresh cement in the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theater Wednesday, taking his place alongside 145 other theater personalities.

"You might say the heart has a double meaning," said the British performer, who suffered a near-fatal heart attack April 6.

Then, as if it was an afterthought, he added: "without pay."

Carmel Is Ready For More Water

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City has been notified by the Town of Carmel in Putnam County that the town is ready to install the facilities needed to take additional city water, as allowed by a law signed this year by Gov. Rockefeller.

Armand D'Angelo, city commissioner of water supply, gas and electricity, said April 25 that he would not comply with the law.

The law passed the Republican-controlled Legislature and won the governor's signature despite bitter opposition from the Democratic city administration, spearheaded by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and D'Angelo.

The new law authorized Carmel to take up to 2 million gallons of water a day from the city's conduits passing through Putnam County. Until now, the town has been taking a maximum of 275,000 gallons a day.

D'Angelo has said the only reason for approving an additional water supply for Carmel was that Ruppert's Brewery might move from Manhattan to Carmel. He also has said that if the brewery moved to Carmel he would not connect the city's water system to the brewery's water lines.

Jupiter is puzzling astronomers again. The mysterious giant planet apparently has started to spin more slowly, and no one knows why.

Bride Left at Church, Nobody Wants to Talk

MANCHESTER, England (AP) —David Swindells, 27, said "No" he wouldn't take Diane Garden to be his wedded wife and walked out of the Congregational Church Wednesday.

Blonde Diane burst into tears.

The minister shepherded the weeping bride and her father into the vestry and then ran after the bridegroom.

After a while the minister came back and told the guests: "There will be no wedding today."

"I don't want to talk about it," said David at his home later.

Diane's parents took her home.

"We don't want to talk about it," said a relative.

Survey Is Made About Possible Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Weather Bureau ordered its research plane to investigate a tropical depression 600 miles southwest of Miami today for possible intensification into a tropical storm or hurricane.

The Weather Bureau said Wednesday the tropical depression was not likely to develop into a storm until noon today, if at all.

The disturbance, with winds up to 25 miles an hour, was moving toward the northeast at three miles an hour. It was last located off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The 1964 hurricane season officially started Monday.

Soft-Pedal Strong War Talk

No Statement Yet About Southeast Asia Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept tight secrecy wraps today on what—if any—new moves he is planning to make to step up the fight against Communist forces in Southeast Asia.

A White House statement issued Wednesday night gave some indication, however, that Johnson and his advisers have decided to soft-pedal talk of drastic action such as enlarging the war in Viet Nam, at least for the time being.

Johnson received a report from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the results of two days of intensive policy review which they conducted at a conference in Hawaii earlier this week.

Several days ago officials had indicated that the conference would very likely result in presidential decisions to deal with what then appeared to be a serious crisis in Southeast Asia due to Communist advances primarily in Laos.

Review Situation

"The secretaries met with the President about an hour. They reviewed the situation in Southeast Asia in light of the consultations in Hawaii which were held to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of our program."

There was no hint of enlarging the war to include military action against Communist North Viet Nam or of putting U.S. military forces into Thailand or assigning reinforcements to the Southeast Asian area generally.

Reedy declined to answer any questions, explaining to reporters, "This is all I have to say about it."

The emphasis in the statement on improving "the efficiency and effectiveness" of going programs contrasted sharply with a speech made here two weeks ago by Rusk in which he warned that if the Communists persisted in aggression in South Viet Nam the war against them might be expanded.

This strengthened speculation in official quarters that carrying the fight to North Viet Nam, perhaps by aerial bombings, was under consideration. But informants said the administration was reluctant to expand the war unless it proved absolutely necessary.

Rules Unit Is Likely to Stay in Power Of Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The powerful House Rules Committee likely will remain under the tenuous control of administration Democrats in 1965 although it will have two or three new members.

One of the present 10 Democratic seats and probably two of the five Republican seats will be vacant when the new Congress convenes in January, assuming continued Democratic control of the House.

The Democratic vacancy will be the seat of Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama, who was defeated for renomination in Tuesday's primary. One Republican, Elmer J. Hoffman of Illinois, is running for a state office and another, William H. Avery of Kansas, is running for governor but still could change his mind and seek re-election to the House.

Avery and Hoffman, along with the other three Republicans, generally have teamed up in the past with two Democrats, Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, to form a conservative minority.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., reportedly has the inside track to replace Hoffman. No one has been prominently mentioned to take Avery's place.

Replacing Elliott may pose quite a problem since the Alabaman's seat normally would belong to the South. Not many liberal Southerners acceptable to the Democratic leadership are available or willling to take the political risk involved in House Rules Committee membership.

Most prominently mentioned is Rep. Claude Pepper of Florida, an avowed liberal who voted for the civil rights bill and who comes from a liberal district. Although a House freshman, Pepper has served in the Senate.

Elliott's colleagues expect him to be offered a good federal position when he leaves Congress. His controlling vote in the House Rules Committee will be needed during the remaining months of the present session.

Gas Eruptions Drive Farmer From 80 Acres

NASH, Okla. (AP)—Gas eruptions have turned an 80-acre tract of land in north-central Oklahoma into a quagmire, a farm couple said Wednesday.

"It just blew up and we had to move our cattle out," said Neil Wilkins.

One cow died and a veterinarian said it was gased, Wilkins said.

The land is about one mile from a half dozen gas wells, Mrs. Wilkins said since the eruptions, the ground had become like quicksand and dangerous to walk on.

Craters ranging from inches to 50 yards in length and 30 yards in width quickly filled with water, Wilkins said.

Will Ask Court To Bar Grading Of Chiros' Exams

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Education Department says it is starting to grade licensing examinations for chiropractors in a move to put a new program of regulation in operation by the Oct. 1 deadline.

A group of chiropractors promised further action in their court efforts to obtain a judgment that major provisions of the program are unconstitutional, after the department action was announced Wednesday.

The chiropractors will ask the Court of Appeals on Friday to bar the grading of the examinations, pending the outcome of legal action in that court.

The state's highest court will not hear the case until next fall.

Under state law, only licensed chiropractors may practice after Oct. 1.

The chiropractors involved in the suit suffered a setback yesterday in the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, Second Department, which upheld the constitutionality of the licensing law.

An Education Department spokesman said Wednesday the grading of examinations would begin as soon as the formal notice of the court decision, expected imminently, was received.

The chiropractors who filed the suit are acting as individuals. The Chiropractic Association of New York State, whose membership includes a majority of the state's chiropractors, endorsed the licensing program.

Opponents of the program argued the examinations covered subject matter not included in their practice.

Swamped by Phone Calls

SHELDON, Iowa (AP) — Within a half hour Wednesday night, Mrs. L. D. Fogarty got 37 telephone calls, including long distance calls from people she did not know.

Mrs. Fogarty complained. The telephone company said trouble in the dial system was being traced. But, said Mrs. Fogarty, she got 160 more local calls before she took the receiver off the hook and went to bed.

'Cleo' Suit Holds

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A federal judge on Wednesday denied a motion by 20th Century-Fox studios for dismissal of a suit brought by actress Elizabeth Taylor and ex-husband Eddie Fisher over proceeds from the movie "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor and Fisher own 85 per cent of MCL, a Swiss corporation, which in turn owns 35 per cent of the $40 million movie. The firm's attorneys have asked that all prints and negatives of the film be placed in receivership, contending distribution has been mishandled.

Sammartino Pins Mortier In Feature Wrestling Bout

Bruno Sammartino broke the second of two mighty half nelsons clamped on him by Hans Mortier, the big, bad meanie from Germany.

Sammartino, the current champion, sent Mortier crashing across the canvas. Mortier bounced to his feet and the two behemoths collided in a bone crashing flying dropkick.

The impact stunned both men who landed flat on their backs, apparently knocked out. It was 21 minutes after last night's wrestling feature had started at the municipal auditorium.

Referee Anthony Melfi tolled the fatal 10. Sammartino made it before 10. Mortier lay prostrate long after the count ended. That's how Sammartino, the former Olympic weightlifting champion, scored his sensational victory over Mortier.

Topflight Feature

It was one of the best feature events ever seen in Kingston and for Sammartino to go 21 minutes was something of a bonus for 900 fans who looked on. For the first 10 minutes, Bruno and Mortier, one of two magnificently - built German champions, treated the crowd to a brilliant exhibition of old-style Greco-Romano wrestling based on leverage and pressure grips. In due time, Mortier resorted to his half nelsons and Sammartino, after suffering indignities and agonies in a corner, literally kicked Mortier to pieces. This one was something extra.

Four Second Fall

A Kingston record was set when the tag-team combination of Bobo Brazil, 270, Michigan and Ernie (Cat) Ladd, 235, San Diego scored a 4-second fall over the team of Bulidog Gannon, 325, Georgia, and Mike Zerbes, 240, Texas.

It happened like this. Ladd and Gannon advanced toward each other at the bell. Ladd unleashed a flying block. Gannon landed flat on his back. Ladd pounced on him for the pin.

The second fall took a little longer, 7 minutes, 2 seconds, but the formatt was the same and Zerbes again the victim. Ladd, an American Football League lineman with San Diego, unleashed a drop kick. Gannon landed stunned on the canvas and Ladd jumped on for the pin.

The other results:

Irish Jack McClarity, Oklahoma, and Max Mortier, Germany, 30-minute draw.

Manuel Perez, 220 Puerto Rico, won on disqualification over Klondike Bill, 336, Alaska, in 16:30.

Pedro Morales, 226, Puerto Rico, pinned Boris Malenko, 230, Tampa, Fla., in 26 minutes, 30 seconds.

Clay Says He'll Convert Floyd To Islam Religion

CAIRO (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay says he'll convert Floyd Patterson to the Islam religion if he ever fights the former champion.

Clay made the comment Wednesday as he arrived in Cairo for an 18-day visit.

Criticizing Patterson, a catholic, Clay said:

"With the help of Allah I shall definitely beat him if he ever faces me in the ring. Patterson once criticized me for taking the Moslem religion, and I say if I ever see him in the ring I shall beat him and convert him to Islam."

Clay was greeted by about 2,000, including Moslem sheikhs wearing turbans, upon his arrival from Lagos, Nigeria. The champion is in Egypt at the invitation of the Supreme Council for Islamic Affairs.

Northern Dancer Set for Belmont Stakes Saturday

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Northern Dancer heads into Saturday's 96th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes with his peak form still to come.

That's the opinion of Horatio Luro, trainer of the Canadian-owned winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and at least one trainer of the four 3-year-olds expected to oppose the son of Nearactic-Natalma in the 1½-mile final leg of the Triple Crown.

"I actually don't know his capabilities," said Luro today. "He's done everything we have asked of him so well that I would hesitate to guess just how far he'll go."

"He probably hasn't reached his peak," said Jimmy Conway, trainer of Orientalist, who was made a supplementary entry at the cost of $5,000. "He has held his bloom so well. In fact he seems to look better every time I see him."

All of which could be bad news for the Dancer's rivals in what stacks up as the smallest Belmont field since Count Fleet beat two others by 25 lengths in 1943.

Northern Dancer, from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm, has won his last seven starts, never been out of the money in 17 races, set a Kentucky Derby mark of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles and came close to the Preakness standard with a 1:56 4-5 clocking for 1 3-16 miles.

After being the second choice to Hill Rise in both the Derby and Preakness, the Dancer is expected to go to the post at the short odds of around 3-5.

Hill Rise, from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, loser by a neck in the Derby and by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness, figures to get the bulk of the remainder of the play in the betting machines.

Post time is 3:45 p.m. EST, with nationwide television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Louis Wolfson's Roman Brother, who like Northern Dancer was foaled on May 27; Paul Mellon's Quadrangle and John Galbreath's Orientalist are the other definite starters.

Roman Brother and Quadrangle had a crack at Northern Dancer in the Derby and Preakness but finished up the track. Since then Roman Brother has won the Jersey Derby and Quadrangle ran second to Olden Times in the Metropolitan Handicap.

There is an outside possibility that Herbert Allen might decide today to enter Shook, winner of three of his six starts this year. R. N. Webster's National, out of the money only twice in eight 1964 starts, also is a possibility.

Nicklaus, Palmer Favored to Win Thunderbird Golf

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus says he can't drive, and Arnold Palmer says he is so rusty his backswing creates little brown clouds.

That's enough to make them favorites in the Thunderbird Golf Tournament which opened today at the Westchester Country Club course.

The two big men of golf share that designation in any tournament they enter, and they have something extra going for them in the rich $100,000 test on the par 72, 6,573-yard course.

To start with, this is the tournament where both plan to begin getting ready for the U.S. Open, which comes up in two weeks on the Congressional course in Washington, D.C.

Add to that the fact that Palmer is the defending champion. Add that Palmer and Nicklaus are two of only five golfers who have won two tournaments this year.

And add the $20,000 first prize. The two money machines are noted for refusing to leave that kind of cash around for the others.

Gary Player, the third member of the Mark McCormack stable, also is rated a good chance. He won the 500 Festival last week, and is another who has won two tournaments this year.

The other two with a pair of victories are Billy Casper and Mike Souchak, both in the field here. Open champion Julius Boros also is entered.

Among the others are British Open champion Bob Charles, old Sam Snead, even older Vic Ghezzi who won the PGA back in 1941, Champagne Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald and Tony Manero, who won the U.S. Open in 1936.

Nicklaus, the longest driver in the game, says his approach shots and putting are pretty good, "But I can't drive at all." He then proceeded to bang out several beautiful drives in the pro-am before rain washed out play Wednesday.

Palmer hadn't played since the Memphis Open two weeks ago.

"When I lay off two days I feel like I've been off two weeks, and I've only played a couple of times since Memphis," Palmer said. "I'm real rusty."

Cornell First In IRA Seedings

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornell's defending champions, California, the pride of the West, and Wisconsin were seeded in that order Wednesday for the two-day Intercollegiate Rowing Association championships on Onondaga Lake, Syracuse, June 19-20.

Because this is an Olympic year, the format for the 62nd IRA has been changed. Instead of rowing once over a three-mile course, the sweepswingers will compete over the Olympic distance of 2,000 meters—about 1¼ miles—with heats on Friday and finals on Saturday.

The change in distance was made to gear the rowers for the Olympic Trials at the Orchard Beach Lagoon in New York, July 8-11, and the Olympics in Tokyo, Oct. 10-24.

Fourteen crews are in the varsity race. They have been split into three heats. The first two in each heat qualify for the six-boat final.

The draw for the varsity heats has Pennsylvania, Syracuse Cornell, Navy and Columbia in the first heat; Rutgers, MIT, California, Dartmouth, and Georgetown in the second heat, and Brown, Washington, Wisconsin and Princeton in the third heat.

The first varsity heat is scheduled to start Friday at 2:20 p.m., EST. The varsity final on Saturday is scheduled for 3 p.m., EST.

Small Signs With Tigers

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mike Small, 18, left-handed pitching star from St. Anthony High School, signed Wednesday with the Detroit Tigers for what a club official called a "very substantial" bonus.

The Tigers had scouted Small for three years, and 14 other major league baseball clubs had made offers for the 6-foot-4, 200-pound pitcher.

Small reports Thursday to Detroit's Lakeland Farm Club in the Class A Florida State League.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET —
Valid Hanover (4th)
UPSET CHANCE —
Devon Goose (9th)

1. ROAN FLYER gets the call in a close race. SONNY ADREN and RISQUE figures to be the chief contenders.

2. SUGAR HEIR is consistent but driver is unknown. BONANZA HANOVER always tough from the inside post. SOLICITOR'S KEY doesn't have much.

3. FRANKIE DARES may have needed a race. Closed well. JUNE FIRST and AMBROSE LAD will battle it out for the second spot.

4. VALID HANOVER is an outstanding trotter. Best bet of the night. FRENCH ALGIERS was consistent at the Metropolitan tracks. PETE'S PRIDE is dangerous when on gait. Must fear.

5. RHYTHM MAN has some class. Seems too superior for the others. PANIC faded in the drive to the wire but will get out front once again. YANKEE SIS might be tough if it gets a good driver.

6. ARGO CAN had the last won but broke on the paddock turn. Look out here. SPECTER has speed but is inconsistent. SHADYDALE RHYME in the hands of a good driver.

7. SUCCESS JEAN seems to lay over this classy field. YANKEE MICK went well in debut and must be feared. MR. JOHNYBUTCH is always close.

8. TACTFUL KING has impressive credentials. VICTOR DARES will be tough if Carmen gets the call to ride. DAVE LINER has good post and leaves well.

9. MISTY CHRISTIE always rugged at this oval. DEVON GOOSE was hung for half a mile the last time out. Upset possibility in this one. KNIGHT PLAY is hurt by outside post.

This Ford Is Running Real Nice

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford, said teammate Ralph Terry, wins because "he's got it in three places—here, here and here."

And Terry pointed to his head, his arm and his heart.

The trio allowed Minnesota only four hits Wednesday night, Ford keeping tight rein on the controls as he pitched the New York Yankees to a 3-0 victory and took over the American League lead in shutouts and earned-run average.

Making his 12th start, the 35-year-old left-hander brought his record to 6-1 with his fourth shutout and lowered his ERA to a sparkling 1.53. Ford also is tied for the No. 1 spot in strikeouts with Boston's Dick Radatz. Both have 68.

How does Ford, who had a 24-7 record last year, do it time after time?

Terry says it's the head-arm-heart triple play. He elaborates: "He's got a reason for every pitch. That's something you can say for very few pitchers, but you can say it about Whitey because he thinks out there on the mound. He can set up a hitter beautifully because he's got everything to do the job."

With all that, Ford still was touched for four hits.

Robin Roberts allowed six but rode a four-homer salvo to his fourth victory as the first-place Baltimore Orioles defeated Kansas City 5-1 for their sixth consecutive victory.

White Sox Win

Elsewhere in the AL, Joel Horlen permitted only three hits but needed ninth inning relief help before the Chicago White Sox subdued Cleveland 3-0, Washington belted Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels swept a doubleheader from Boston 2-0 and 9-8.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 11 innings, San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0, St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 7-5 and Milwaukee nipped Cincinnati 3-2. The Houston at New York game was rained out.

Ford, who hasn't lost since opening day, got the only run he needed when Elston Howard slammed a Jim Roland pitch for a homer in the fourth inning. The Yankees then wrapped up their first victory over the Twins in five games with a two-run eighth. Bobby Richardson singled, Tom Tresh doubled, Howard was hit by a pitch and Hector Lopez drove in the runs with a single.

Roberts got more than enough support as Boog Powell hit his 10th and 11th homers and Luis Aparicio and Willie Kirkland each hit one. Powell and Kirkland connected back-to-back in the ninth inning after the A's had scored their only run in the eighth on singles by Wayne Causey and Dick Green and an error by Roberts.

Saved by Reliefer

Horlen, now 3-2, left after John Romano opened the Indians half of the ninth with a double as both Don Mossi and Hoyt Wilhelm came on to preserve the victory. Horlen drove in the White Sox' first run when he grounded out in the second. Al Weis homered in the seventh and Dave Nicholson, who had three hits, wrapped up the scoring with a run-producing single in the eighth.

Little LEAGUERS

Sjursen Pitches Yankees to Win

Karl Sjursen scattered six hits effectively to pitch the Yankees to a 7-3 victory over the Dodgers in the Woodstock Little League. He fanned six and walked two to get the decision over Tom Hafele and Danny Wells, who allowed 9 hits and struck out 13 between them.

George Quinn slammed three singles and Chris Snyder hit a single -double for the Yankees. Tom Hafele was the batting star for the Dodgers with a single, double and triple.

Hartman led the Braves' 8-hit attack on John Mills and Mike Botsakos with a single and double. Tom Napoli hit two singles. Dave Heinitz, Dennis White and John Tegeler had doubles.

Doughtery's 1-Hitter Blanks Lourdes, 5-0

George Doughtery of the Kingston High School Jayvees came within one out of pitching a no-hit, no-run game against our Lady of Lourdes (Poughkeepsie), Wednesday.

The Lourdes nine, 5-0 victims of Doughtery's 13-strikeout pitching, got their lone hit after a Kingston error on a play that would have closed out the game. The next batter, Jack Railing, then slammed a single to ruin Doughtery's bid for the no-hitter.

The Jayvees collected 10 hits off two Lourdes pitchers to wind up a highly successful season with nine victories and one defeat.

Hey, Hey Willie Drops One

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays has dropped another fly ball for an error. Why 10 years ago he did the same thing.

San Francisco's great center fielder made the error Wednesday night, but it was harmless as the Giants blanked Pittsburgh 3-0.

Donn Clendenon was the recipient of Mays' rare generosity with two out in the seventh inning. Mays ran back for Clendenon's fly ball, turned around and waited, ready to eat up the ball with his famous basket catch. His teammates already had started leaving the field when the ball fell into his glove. They came back when the ball fell out.

The last time that happened was on Sept. 9, 1954, in the Polo Grounds against the Chicago Cubs. Ernie Banks was the batter.

Just one inning before the ball got away from Mays for his first error of the season, Mays had trouble getting away from the ball. As a result, he is in the middle of a protest lodged by Pirates' Manager Danny Murtaugh.

A ground ball hit by Willie McCovey in the sixth and called foul by the umpires struck Mays, who was at third base after hitting a triple. Murtaugh contended Mays should have been called out under the rules governing a runner hit by a batted ball.

"It hit him before the ball had a chance to go fair or foul," Murtaugh argued. Umpire Jocko Conlan ruled, however, that Mays was in foul territory and could not be called out for being hit by a foul ball.

While Mays was being hit, Philadelphia was having trouble getting hits but still nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 11 innings. In the other NL games, Milwaukee edged Cincinnati 3-2 and St. Louis defeated Chicago 7-5. Houston at New York was postponed by rain.

In the American League, Chicago blanked Cleveland 3-0, New York did the same to Minnesota, Baltimore whipped Kansas City 5-1, Washington downed Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels beat Boston twice, 2-0 and 9-8.

Allowed to remain at third in the disputed sixth inning, Mays scored minutes later as Orlando Cepeda slammed his fifth home run. Cepeda later drove in Mays with a sacrifice fly.

Ron Herbel limited the Pirates to four hits in winning his third game in four decisions. Pittsburgh starter Vernon Law was struck by a Herbel pitch on the right elbow in the sixth and had to leave the game. Law, however, isn't expected to miss his next pitching turn.

Don Drysdale held the Phillies to three hits until Cookie Rojas opened the 11th with a double. Ron Perranoski relieved Drysdale with one out, walked Johnny Callison purposely, then got a force at second as Rojas moved to third. Rojas scored when Jim Gilliam fumbled Tony Gonzalez' grounder and threw wild to first.

Jim Bunning struck out 11 Dodgers before leaving in the 10th for a pinch hitter. The loss put the Dodgers eight games behind the league-leading Phillies.

Denny Lemaster won his seventh game against two defeats, the sixth. But homers by Lee stopping the Reds on six hits. He struck out 10. One of the hits was Vada Pinson's home run in Maye in the sixth and Denis Menke in the seventh halted the streak.

Th new directors slate will be made up by establishments as follows:

Boiceville, Arlene Wilson, Jean Henderson, unopposed; Mid-City Lanes, Anna Manfro, Doreen Lamoreaux, unopposed; College Bowl, New Paltz, Nell Alverson, Betty Phillips, Fran Kilpatrick, unopposed; Sangi's Bowlero, Josephine Primo, Jo Smith, Helen Broskie, Ethel Howard, Mary Mills; other candidate, Ann Mitchell; Woodstock Lanes, Mildred Williams, Adeline Teague, Marge Harder, upopposed; Chalet, Rosendale, Anita Kelder, unopposed; Ferraro Bowlerama, Mickey Scott, Eileen Spader, Dot Dousharm, Hilda Davis, Alice Gottschalk, Martha Petersen; other candidate, Rose Schatzel.

Vote on Amendments

The membership meeting approved changes in eligibility rules for directors but rejected a proposal on officer eligibility. The proposed change stipulated that a member must have served not less than two out of the past three years as a member of the Board of Directors.

The association defeated a proposal which would have ruled ineligible for officer or director a proprietor or employe of a bowling establishment in the jurisdiction of the KWBA.

DD Payoff Low $10.50 at the M

MONTICELLO, New York, June 3—Heavy favorites, Square Deal and Perfect Knight copped the first two dashes tonight at Monticello Raceway to set up a slim $10.50 daily double pay-off. Lowest DD return at the Sullivan County track since June 3 of last year when numbers 4 and 6 combined for a $10.30 return.

The winning number combination tonight was 2-3.

Howard Beissinger, making his first local start of the season, reined three-year-old Rodney colt, Square Deal, to his first career victory in the time of 2:12.1. Square Deal, owned by Byron D. Kuth of Chesterland, Ohio, caught the pace-setting bowl of flowers in the final 10 yards.

The brown pacing colt was worth mutuels of $4.40, Demep and $2.60 as the 6-5 favorite.

Bobby Camper, sidelined for the past two weeks with a broken ankle, returned to action and piloted Bowl of Flowers home second for $3.50 and $2.60. Gunkahar was the show horse for $2.60.

Perfect Knight, another sophomore pacing colt, cut out a 2:09.4 mile for driver Paige West to win his second of four starts on the season. The 3-5 choice was worth prices of $3.30, $3.20 and $2.50.

Fabulous Flame was second, paying $3.80 and $3.20, while Bob Canada got home for a $3.80 show return.

Santa Claus Wins English Derby

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Bookies counted the money they lost on Santa Claus' storming victory in the Epsom Derby and looked forward with dread to Friday's Oaks.

Many paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars after Santa Claus won Wednesday's Derby —the 1½-mile classic for 3-year-old colts.

It's the fillies' turns in the Oaks—and the bookies face another gigantic payoff to bettors who succeed in coupling the winners of the two races in doubles.

William Hill, one of Britain's leading bookmakers said "We have a client in Mauritius who stands to win $539,792 if La Baba wins the Oaks.

"He had a 3 pounds—$8.40—accumulator on four horses. Santa Claus was the third of the four."

Scobie Breasley, 50-year-old Australian jockey who rode Santa Claus to victory, explained that he knew he was going to win even before Tattenham Corner, when his horse was near the back of the field of 17.

"He came so well down the hill to the corner that I knew he would win," Breasley said.

Few of the 200,000 crowd guessed that would happen, however. As the horses came into the last 100 yards two American-owned horses, Indiana and Dilettante II, were fighting it out for the lead.

Breasely brought his horse up from nowhere and flashed past the leaders to win by a length.

Indiana' owned by Charles W. Engelhard of New York, was second. Dilettante II, entered by New Yorker Larry Gelb, was third another two lengths behind.

Larry Petersen Raps 656 Series

Larry Petersen linked games of 205, 215 and 236 for 656 high series in the Ferraro Summer Mixer. Runnerup Keith Kempton added 197, 205, 201 for 603.

Million Dollar Golfers

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How does a tournament golfer stay hungry after he's banked a million dollars?

Nothing to it, insists the Big Three of the pro circuit—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player. You just have to want to be the best.

"I haven't begun to win what I want to accomplish in this game," said Palmer, the leading money winner of all time and a millionaire a couple of times over.

"When I get satisfied with what I've got and can't get charged up for a tournament any more, I'll quit," said Nicklaus who at 24 already has won all of America's major championships and appears to be just beginning.

"I never think about money, or the size of the purse," added Player, the golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg. "I have one thing only in mind—I want to be the best."

It is this fierce competition and burning ambition to outdo each other that has seared any possible complacency in the three fairway capitalists.

More Than Money

They're no longer just satisfied with collecting money. They're going to start printing it.

They announced that they were joining a New York bank note company (Security Columbian), which specializes in printing bonds and making foreign currency.

Bill Talbert, former Davis Cup tennis captain and firm vice president who conceived the idea of adding these barnstorming golfers to his staff, explained their role this way:

"They will be largely contact men. They play all over the world. They play with the most prominent people. In the course of their activities, they might mention the merits of the company. It could be very lucrative."

Mark McCormack, a young Cleveland attorney who handles the business affairs of all three, said he didn't expect the added responsibilities to dull the players' games or drive.

Some Dream was second, 2½ lengths back.

Other results:

Vernon Downs—Senator Smith ($5.70) was the trophy winner in the $1,500 race for 2-year-olds with a time of 2:16 in the first leg. Royal Jean Wick ($31.50), a 14-1 shot, took half the prize money with a time of 2:17 1-5 in leg two.

School Budget Up $540,804; No Rate

budget notes an increase of $23,361.

The maintenance of plant item in the proposed budget for the next school year shows an increase of $7,079, and an increase of $67,306 is listed for the auxiliary agencies item. Fixed charges for 1964-65 show an increase of $115,166 from $895,845 to $1,011,011, and debt service is increased $110,948 from $777,866 to $888,814. Capital outlay for next year shows a decrease of $139,548.

After last night's meeting was opened by Arthur Withall, vice president of the Board of Education, slides were shown with commentary remarks by Warren A. Russell, director of audio visual education in the Kingston school system.

Supervisor James J. Carroll (10th Ward) representing the children of that ward who attend the J. Watson Bailey School, asked the Board members if they had considered transportation for pupils in that section of the district. He reminded the Board that a year ago a request was made and residents were told the matter would be considered when the 1964-65 budget was prepared.

No Change for Busses

Chairman Withall stated that the transportation request had been studied, and the board decided not to change its decision on mileage. Withall stated after further discussion, during which a woman resident contended that some children, residing beyond the two-mile limit, are not provided transportation, that the transportation policy will again be studied after the new board organizes on July 1.

The meeting chairman stated, however, that if any person present last night knows of any child who resides outside the mileage limit, is not receiving transportation to and from school, the individual cases should be brought to the attention of the Board of Education.

During the discussion, a woman remarked, "You shoved consolidation down our throats." Chairman Withall explained that members of the present board were not in office at that time, and he considered the remark unfair to incumbent board members.

Desire Nurses' Program

Discussion then turned to the discontinuance of the practical nurse program in Adult Education. Mrs. Joseph Edwards, representing groups of nursing homes, submitted a petition, urging the Board of Education to reinstate the practical nurse program.

The petition, Mrs. Edwards said, contained signatures of representatives of all nursing homes in the Kingston area.

Chairman Withall stated that he and the other board members are sympathetic to the practical nurse program, and he emphasized that the course had not been "thrown out" or "dropped" permanently. He told the group present that because of the increase in budget items this year, over which the board had little control, it was decided to place a moratorium on the course for one year.

Withall said that board members are not antagonistic toward the nurse program, but because of the matter of dollars and cents, it was felt the program should be discontinued this year.

Withall said that of a class of 18, only three were from Kingston who enrolled in the last practical nurse program. A woman resident questioned that, and said some of those enrolled were taxpayers in the school district, and some others moved into the district while taking the course.

Asks About Using Schools

A woman asked if she and others raised $8,000, which it would have cost the school district for the course, if school facilities could be used for the program. She was told that the facilities could be used, but not operated by the district.

It was noted by a school district spokesman, that the actual cost for the program, without outside aid, would be in the neighborhood of $18,000.

A representative of the Kingston Lions Club stated the club has supported the practical nurse program with scholarships and grants, and it would continue its support if the program is continued.

Points to Next Year

At the conclusion of the discussion, Chairman Withall stated that the Board members would reconsider resuming the nurse program next year, but would make no promises at this time.

Other members of the Board of Education in attendance at last night's meeting were, Mrs. Edith Case Murphy, Sam S. Pepper, David Kline, board president; Francis Stern-Montagny, and Superintendent of Schools Hoover, and Business Manager Roth.

Aberdeen Facing Destiny Day in TyphoidEpidemic

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The number of cases in Aberdeen's typhoid epidemic rose to 318 today, and the city health officer warned the disease may sweep through the British Isles.

During the night, 17 more persons were admitted to hospitals, making a total of 275 confirmed cases and 43 suspected.

Today, said City Health Officer Ian MacQueen, "is the probable dividing line, the day of Aberdeen's destiny."

The incubation period of typhoid is about 15 days and the outbreak was discovered two weeks ago.

MacQueen has blamed the outbreak on a contamined tin of imported corned beef. The government has ordered an inquiry.

FALMOUTH, Ky. (AP) — A railroad work crew really hadn't planned on a fish dinner. But, there was a 30-pound fish, floundering between the rails.

That November Campaign

It Won't Be Dull if Barry Is Matched With Johnson

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the presidential race matches Sen. Barry Goldwater against President Johnson the November election campaign will have few dull moments.

There is some difference of opinion over whether Goldwater's defeat of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in Tuesday's California primary carried the senator over his last big hurdle toward the Republican presidential nomination.

But if Goldwater is nominated at the mid-July convention here, the fireworks probably will start exploding even before the August Democratic convention goes through the formality of nominating the President.

Goldwater, the conservative, would strive to offer "a choice, not an echo," to Johnson's professed liberalism.

The senator described himself to California audiences as "the only Republican who has the ghost of a chance of beating Lyndon Johnson."

Big Victory, He Says

He called the California primary outcome "a victory for the great majority of Republicans across the country who share my belief that Lyndon Baines Johnson can be beaten in 1964 if we Republicans concentrate our fire on him and not on each other."

All signs indicate that Johnson would welcome Goldwater as his opponent. The President, an experienced performer on the stump might even be tempted into a tlevision debate with Goldwater, who has been accused by critics in his own party of firing carelessly from the hip in some statements on major issues.

Because of the limitations on what a president can say publicly, Johnson has not indicated if he will debate his opponent on TV. But Johnson has shown a yen for the kind of crowd hopping and individual handshaking that Goldwater gives every sign of detesting. However, if Goldwater is the Republican nominee, he probably would have to campaign on the supermarket circuit.

Lays Out Pattern

In his California campaign, the senator laid out the pattern of the attack he could be expected to make on Johnson in a general election contest.

Among other things, Goldwater said the administration's foreign policies offered a "path to suicide," that the country faced "another Korea" in South Viet Nam and might lose all of Southeast Asia to the Communists.

"We are following the same path of appeasement that we followed in the 1930s," he said.

The Democrats have been making a book on Goldwater's utterances for several years. Any quotations they might have missed probably were dug up by Rockefeller's researchers and injected into the governor's attack on the senator.

Democratic speakers have only to quote Rockefeller's assertion that Goldwater's call for an end to foreign aid, his opposition to arms control measures and his proposal to quit the United Nations if Red China were admitted add up to a "blueprint for defeat and disaster."

Then there was the matter of civil rights, where Johnson is committed to all-out support of the bill before the Senate and Goldwater is opposed to some of its provisions.

Depending on what the GOP platform has to say on the issue, a Goldwater-Johnson contest could have wide repercussions in the South. There the Democratic President probably would get a run for his money from a senator long the favorite of Southern Republicans.

Illia Rations Meat

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Striving to ease a beef shortage in beef-producing Argentina, President Arturo Illia has ordered meat rationing and strict control of exports.

Illia signed decrees Wednesday banning beef sales two days a week throughout the nation where it is the staple diet. He also set price ceilings on beef and imposed a sliding tariff on beef exports.

Two years of drought have drastically reduced Argentina's herds. A beef shortage in Europe has boomed exports, sending prices soaring on the home market.

Counsel Sees No Need to Revise Law on Loyalty

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The top law official of the Education Department sees no need for revising New York State's Feinberg Law, a plan for keeping subversives out of public schools and colleges.

Charles A. Brind, counsel to the Board of Regents, commented Wednesday in the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court decision that struck down loyalty oaths the State of Washington had required of its employes and teachers.

The Feinberg Law prohibits anyone who is a member of the Communist Party from gaining employment in public school districts or in the State University.

Local school districts may establish their own procedures for determining whether a prospective teacher is a Communist, under the law.

In the State University, prospective employes are required to sign a statement that they are not presently Communists, or, if they have been, that they have notified the State University.

Brind said the nation's highest court had found the Washington State loyalty oath to be too vague.

In that oath, a state employe had to swear he was not a subversive. A subversive was defined as one who had advocated or taught another "by any means" to commit any act to overthrow "or alter the constitutional form of the national or state governments.

There is nothing vague about New York's law—that a person who is a member of the Communist party is barred from educational employment, Brind said.

It follows that the employing unit of government has a right to inquire as to whether a prospective employe is a Communist, Brind said.

SHAKY WORLD—Superimposed over a map of the world are the earthquake belts, those areas where earthquakes are most likely to occur. This map was evolved through the years largely through the efforts of men such as F. de Montesseu de Ballore who plotted some 160,000 earthquakes on a map and arrived at a configuration similar to that of the newsmap above. Earthquakes happen in these areas because of a sharp fracture or break in the earth's crust along these broad lines.

3 Persons Hurt In Uptown Crash

Three persons were injured in a two car mishap at Pearl and Green Streets this morning.

One car was driven by Mrs. Mary E. O'Neill, 74, of 85 Abeel Street, who was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for a laceration of the left leg.

The other car was operated by Sidney W. Tabakman, 44, of 47 Catskill Avenhue. He and Gertrude Tabakman were admitted at the Benedictine Hospital for treatment of back injuries and were reported in fair condition this afternoon.

Police said a car owned by Pat Hasset, of Route 4, Box 288-J, Kingston, and parked at the scene was damaged. The other cars were towed from the scene. The injured were taken to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance.

Officers Charles Diers and Lewis Keator investigated.

To Survey . . .

tee of approximately 30 public spirited county leaders has been enlisted. These people are dedicated to the goal and are committed to providing the voluntary time and effort required to insure the project's success. The committee, presently in the process of incorporation, wants to be autonomous, objective, and free of vested interest.

$12,000 Needed for Survey

The committees next task is to raise $12,000, the estimated amount required for financing the survey. Contributions will be sought from many community leaders and representative groups. It is intended that financial support of the project will give evidence of support for the survey and concern for community improvement.

After adequate funds have been pledged, the Citizens Survey Committee will negotiate with the Institute of Community Studies in New York City, the professional group being considered for the technical aspects of the survey. The institute can provide experts in the fields of health, welfare, and recreation. These consultants may be from universities, research organizations, or outstanding agencies.

Following the completion of the survey, which may require more than a year, constructive recommendations should have been adopted and be in the process of implementation since voluntary and governmental agencies will have participated. Survey recommendations will be published and be made available to the public.

The survey, Hense insists, is a cooperative venture. The Citizens Survey Committee is responsible for the conduct of the effort. The Institute of Community Studies can coordinate the effort and provide consultants. The consultants or survey team submit data and recommendations to the Citizens Committee. The agencies, in cooperation with the survey team, conduct a self-study and analysis of their programs and services.

The survey team will submit its findings to the Citizens Committee who shall have final responsibility for the recommendations . . . after adequate consultation with agencies, citizen leaders, and the professional consultants.

$660,000 Water

should have been in the budget.

Unknown at Time

Mayor Schwenk said the legal problem involves clearance of title on some land needed for the project, and noted that the money was not in the budget because the problem of transference of title was unknown when the budget was prepared.

Donald P. Tucker (R) Fourth Ward, filed a request asking the Board of Public Works "to investigate the lighting system in the North Rondout section of the Fourth Ward. Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward, reported an "antiquated" street light problem in his ward, Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, complained of lack of action on requests for lights in his ward, and Anthony J. Alecca (R) Fifth Ward, said drivers, including truckmen, were disregarding the "blinker" traffic signal at lower Delaware Avenue.

Council Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, felt there was "quite a bit of money for lights, and it should be used." Howard asked Machione, finance committee chairman, in effect, if that was not so. Machione indicated he could not say at the time, but said there were light problems in his ward on Quarry Street, near the J. Watson Bailey School, including one dealing with traffic, and added that the finance committee was due to "look at quite a few things" in the near future.

Tucker reported that many of the street lights in the North Rondout sector "are inadequate due to their early installation." He asked for new lights, especially along wooded sections.

Sends One to Hospital

In his ward also, Tucker said, especially along Fourth Avenue, the growth of poison ivy has been noted. He hoped that "the BPW can find means to remedy the menace." Right now, he reported, "there is a resident of the section in the Benedictine Hospital suffering from a severe case of poison ivy."

Tucker also asked for some type of repair of Hooker and Rock Streets, Second and Third Avenues, which are used by city trucks to and from the city refuse disposal area.

Upon Tucker's motion the meeting adjourned in the memory of the late William Houghtaling Sr., former Fourth Ward alderman, who died recently. He had served in the Common Council more than 20 years ago.

Proposes Association

Alderman Raymond Armater (R) 11th Ward proposed organizing a Kingston City Aldermen Association. He suggested naming a committee to discuss the proposal, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., named Armater as chairman, plus aldermen Gallo, Tucker, Alecca and Leonard VanLyke of the Sixth Ward.

"All members of the Common Council, past, present, and future," Armater proposed, "would be automatic members of the association. The general purpose of this group would be to act as an advisory board to the mayor, alderman-at-large, the Common Council, and other areas of city government. The group might, from its combined experience, suggest legislation for Common Council consideration.

Points to Scholarships

"Perhaps it might, through the sponsoring of athletic events between the aldermen and the police and/or firemen, raise funds with which to provide scholarships for young students majoring in civics or political science."

The group, if formed, he said, "would act only in the improvement and welfare of our progressive city, and to stimulate the interest of our city's youth in the needs of good government."

Carroll, noting an attempt to form such an association in recent years, said: "I hope this doesn't die by the wayside."

A request by Police Chief Robert F. Murphy for transfer of $1,225 from the personal services to the department equipment account, was left with the finance committee. The money would be used for purchase of a Cushman truckster, a vehicle the department uses in enforcing laws.

Left with the finance and laws and rules committees was a request by Corporation Counsel Harry Gold asking the hiring of special counsel to handle a legal proceeding recently instituted. It involves review of assessment on property at 661 Broadway acquired by Joseph D. Scholar. Gold noted that other counsel should represent the city, because he was counsel for Scholar when the latter bought the property.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices early this afternoon slid lazily below the "floor" of a trading range which has supported them for nearly three months.

Trading was only a bit more lively than Wednesday's slow pace, the most sluggish of 1964.

Most losses of key stocks were fractional and a good many were unchanged. Here and there, however, a pivotal issue fell a point or more, dragging down the averages.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 2.88 to 808.91. This violated the April 30 intermedite low of 810.77 from which the list rallied.

Motors, steels, airlines, electrical equipments, retails, oils and rails were among the losing groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 303.6 with industrials down .5, rails down .6 and utilities up .2.

The popular averages were dampened by such losses as Du Pont, off about 2; International Harvester and Chesapeake & Ohio, off more than a point, and General Motors, U.S. Steel, Jersey Standard, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, General Electric, Eastman Kodak and American Smelting, all down fractions.

Among more volatile stocks, IBM lost 5, Control Data 2 and U.S. Smelting 1.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED—Government troops, in foreground behind a shield of trucks and barricades, guard the Presidential Palace in Seoul, Korea, against a crowd of demonstrating students. to cross the road to go to the school."

On May 11, he said, "a meeting was called at the mayor's office by the mayor and Mrs. John Lucci," with residents from the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards attending. It was then noted by the mayor, Alecca said, that property involved was not owned by the city and that notice would be sent to owners concerning installation of sidewalks.

Alecca said he was supposed to receive a copy of the letter sent to the New York corporation, and also a copy of any answer received.

"Up to this date," he said, "I have not received any word of what is to take place by this corporation." The alderman said he had received verification of ownership from the assessor's office, and asked: "What I and many others in the Fifth Ward want to know is why the city took care of the maintenance of this sidewalk (there is some sidewalk in the area) both winter and summer, and now all of a sudden we are told it is not city property."

It was learned today that city officials in the past thought some of the area involved was city owned.

Alecca also said he is interested in learning the extent of Knaust Brothers property involved.

The alderman said he talked of the problem at his first meeting in January and introduced a resolution in February, and after five months "we are told it is not city property and nothing can be done about it until further notice." It appeared to him, he said, that "no one seems to care" about the "safety of children going to and coming from schools. Maybe after someone gets hurt or killed in this area, action might be taken, but as long as I am alderman and supposed to represent the people in the Fifth Ward, and others, I will fight 'till some action is being taken."

The sidewalk situation near the new school is similar to that which existed at the time the Sophie G. Finn School on Mary's Avenue was being built. Installation of curbing and sidewalks in the area of that school began some time after it opened.

Lauds 2 Firemen,

Downs Street, a member of the Wicks Engine Company.

The letter of sympathy went to Mrs. Ida Marie Worthington, of 34 Murray Street, whose three-year-old son, Romain Edward Worthington, died at Kingston Hospital, some 12 hours after he was found under a clump of papers in a second-floor bathroom at 50 Meadow Street, and was rescued by the firemen from the burning building.

The mayor wrote to each volunteer:

"It has come to my attention that you were one of the volunteer firemen, whose efforts brought about the rescue of Romain Worthington at the Meadow Street fire last Saturday.

"We all join in sorrow that the youngster did not survive the ordeal, and express our deep sympathy to the family.

"However, your bravery in responding to this high call of duty, should not go unnoticed. May I, therefore, personally, and as Mayor of Kingston, express sincere appreciation and commendation for your unstinting devotion in upholding the highest tradition of the fire service."

Must Sell Good Stocks To Pay Hospital Bills

Q) "A relative of mine is in a psychiatric hospital. She has the following stocks which must be sold within the next few years to provide for her care: 510 General Telephone & Electronics, 50 Niagara Mohawk Power, 100 Public Service Electric & Gas. In what order would you propose that they be sold?" M.C.

A) That's a rather tall order, but I'll do my best to answer, since I have the deepest sympathy for anyone in your relative's position.

I'll have to assume that the market position of the three stocks will be relatively the same as now. On that assumption, and despite the fact that it is her finest growth issue, I'm going to suggest that you start whittling away at General Telephone, simply because it yields only 2.5 per cent.

The other two are a toss-up, but I would be inclined to sell Niagara Mohawk before disposing of stronger Public Service Electric & Gas.

Q) "I would appreciate your comments on the merits of no-load mutual funds and funds that charge a sales commission. When I inquire about a no-load fund, I am told that they 'do not do as well' as those that carry a sales charge. Is this correct?" M.E.

A) Like some other statements made in investment circles, that about no-load funds is only partially correct.

A goody proportion of no-load funds are balanced—that is, they maintain a position in bonds and preferred stocks which provide stability but slow down growth. Nevertheless, it was recently reported by Kalb-Voorhis & Company that of the older funds, Penn Square Mutual made the best showing for the 12 months ended April 30, with a share value percentage gain of 39.5. It was fifth in performance over the past 5¼ years. Penn Square Mutual Fund, 451 Penn Square, Reading, Pa., is a no-load fund. (Copyright 1964, General Features Corp.)

speech, Johnson also took indirect issue with Nixon. Without mentioning names he scoffed at those who had labeled his anti-poverty program "a cruel hoax."

That phrase had been used by Nixon a week earlier.

Enjoys Poking Fun

On other occasions, the President has found apparent enjoyment in making fun of Nixon—particularly after the former vice president returned from a globe circling tour on behalf of the Pepsi-Cola Co. Johnson was quick to suggest that Nixon doubtless had been so busy fostering the best interests of the company that it was doubtful he had really gained much information during visits to such places as Saigon.

Goldwater has been Johnson's target more often than Nixon, however — even in impromptu remarks.

On one occasion, the President made light of a Republican-inspired campaign to collect pennies to pay the White House light bill. He said Goldwater had outdone most Republicans by contributing a whole nickel, "a wooden nickel."

all Democratic voters of the county who supported her. In a statement to The Freeman Mrs. Kerr said:

"The enrolled Democrats of Ulster County in the only official manner of naming their preference for party officers and candidates, have in the greatest tradition of our Democratic Party expressed their choice for state committeewoman in Tuesdays primary. On the basis of the now complete unofficial returns it appears that I have been reelected as State Committeewoman of the Democratic Party from Ulster County by a plurality of 37 votes.

"I could not be more pleased and grateful at the result of the election. To all those faithful Democrats who worked so hard for me and who voted for me, and to all Democrats in Ulster County I say thank you from the bottom of my heart. I pledge to continue to work for the Democratic party in the future just as I have in the past."

Price for Peace Talks

Red Prince Again Demands Ouster of Laos Coupe Leaders

TOKYO (AP) — Red Prince Souphanouvong insisted again today that he will agree to peace talks only if Premier Souvanna Phouma throws out leaders of the rightist coup of April 19 and restores the Communist Pathet Lao to its former role in the Laotian coalition government.

The New China News Agency said the Pathet Lao leader listed these conditions for talks with the neutralist premier:

Dissolution of the revolutionary committee which staged the rightwing military coup April 19.

Severe punishment of the coup leaders.

Restoration of the situation to the status quo before the coup.

Souvanna agreed Wednesday to Souphanouvong's request that he arrange for the departure of the last two remaining Pathet Lao government officials and their 100-man bodyguard from Vientiane.

Souvanna notified Souphanouvong, who is his half-brother, that he would ask the International Control Commission to arrange to fly the Pathet Lao party to Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, "in the shortest possible time."

Gen. Kong Le, commander of Souvanna's neutralist army, conferred in Vientiane today with the chief of staff of the rightwing army, Gen. Ouane Rattikone.

Family Court Role Outlined By Guest Speaker

Hugh R. Elwyn, judge of the Family Court, was the guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Ulster County School Nurse Teacher's Association held at the Skytop Restaurant Wednesday.

Judge Elwyn outlined some of the more important areas which the Family Court covers. Some of these are the Neglected Child; or a child lacking proper food, clothing, shelter, medical attention or moral guidance; the Juvenile Delinquent, who is a child under 16 years who has committed what would be considered a crime if the act were done by an adult.

Another area discussed is a Person in Need of Supervision which is a boy under 16 years or girl under 18 years, who is an habitual truant, incorrigible, ungovernable, or habitually disobedient, or beyond lawful control or lawful authority.

Judge Elwyn pointed out that one of the newest facets of this court is the Medical Rehabilitation program which is specially designed to help the physically handicapped child. An interview with the family is done by a social worker at the Family Court rather than the Welfare Agency.

Judge Elwyn described the hearing for a youthful offender. The charge is explained to the child. The child is then advised that he may remain silent about the charge. He is then given the right to obtain council and of this is not done the court may appoint a law guardian. The second part of the hearing is the disposition of the case.

One of the most outstanding points made by Judge Elwyn was that most of these offenders have never been affiliated with any religion and that they usually come from broken homes or homes where there is some type of neglect by at least one parent.

In his talk Judge Elwyn compared the New York State Theory of the Family Court Act to the theory quoted in April '64, Reader's Digest by a judge in the state of Montana. He explained that the New York State Theory was not to punish the child but to rehabilitate him versus Montana which feels that punishment is the answer.

In closing Judge Elwyn said that much work is needed in this area. There are no simple answers in solving these problems.

Miners Perish In Utah Cave-in

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP)—Two veteran miners died Wednesday in a rock cave-in deep inside a central Utah coal mine.

A third escaped unhurt, but four rescuers suffered minor injuries in a second rockfall as they tried to remove the two victim's bodies.

"I was smacked by some rock and coal," said Paul Pero, 55, of Price, Utah, who survived the cave-in. "I heard Marzo say: 'Let's get the hell out of here.'"

Morris Marzo, 47, also of Price, and Leland Huntsman, 49, of Castle Dale, Utah, were identified by company officials as victims.

Pero said he and the other two miners had just begun their shift when the cave-in hit. "I started crawling away," he said. "I looked back. I couldn't see anything, but dust and debris. I just kept crawling away."

Rescuers worked six hours—much of the time by hand—removing rocks and debris that fell on the bodies in the 1,500-foot deep mine shaft.

British Seize 6 Cubans, Two U. S. Photographers

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Identity of six Cubans arrested along with two American photographers by British authorities who seized their boat and arms remained a mystery today.

Police Commissioner Nigel Morris said the eight would be arraigned on illegal entry charges.

Rumors flew from Nassau to New York that anti-Castro leader Manuel Ray, whose recent whereabouts have been a mystery, was one of those held. But Andrew St. George of New York, free lance news photographer, one of those held, told newsmen Ray was not among them.

The other American held was identified as Mirta Barras.

Five of the group, authorities said, were arrested aboard a 30-foot boat after a 14 mile chase from Anguilla Cay. The other three, they said, were taken on land on that Bahamas island, 30 miles north of Cuba.
